Pond Drained In Hunt For Murder Weapon

As a gray dawn lit the sky over a Marin County dairy farm today, sheriff's officers began the slow job of draining a water hole for the murder weapon used in the slaying of Everett Zimmerman, 57, and his wife, Margaret, 51, Monday.

The couple were beaten to death in their beds on the farm, close by the Marin-Sonoma county line.

It was about a mile from the murder scene today that deputies arrived to drain the hole at first light. Sheriff's officers were testing the theory that the murderer may have dumped the blunt instrument used in the slaying as he fled the scene.

The water hole lies by the side of a small creek on the Zimmerman property.

Meanwhile the search continued for the former ranchhand, James Luff, 48, who, deputies believe, may be able to help them in their inquiries.

Yesterday, the search concentrated on apartment houses in the low-rent districts of San Francisco and in Sonoma County.

Luff was the only one of the six former Zimmerman employees deputies have been unable to question about the slaying.

TAM'S FIREMEN COOL TO FIGHTING SUNBURN?

It was hot in Tamalpais Valley firehouse yesterday. Mostly it was the burning faces of the fire-fighters as they glanced through the windows and saw 23-year-old Charles Erwin Rodert.

Rodert was striding along in long hair, a beard—and nothing else. Fire Capt. Richard Oswald let out a yell.

The naked man stopped in his tracks and wandered over to the firehouse where he sat down for a chat. It was a slow day, and the firemen were glad of a spot of conversation.

Oswald had heard of sun-worshippers but he thought this was going a little too far. He called the sheriff's office.

When the van arrived, deputies had difficulty persuading Rodert to get inside. He struggled, and cut his shoulder trying to break through a glass window.

The firemen, specialized in fire-fighting, conversation and first aid, treated the cut and Robert, of 343 Laurel Way, Tamalpais Valley, was booked in Marin County jail for indecent exposure.

A friend called later with a pair of pants to cover his embarrassment and Robert was released on $550 bail pending a hearing at Marin Municipal Court Tuesday at 1:30 p.m.

Child Beating Suspect Faces A New Charge

Judge Leonard A. Thomas of Marin Municipal Court yesterday bound Eugene A. Boehm, 21, over to Marin Superior Court on charges of murder and felony child-beating in the Aug. 18 death of 16-month-old Timothy Wayne Buckley.

The magistrate ordered Boehm held in county jail without bail, and scheduled arraignment on both counts in the higher court for 9:30 a.m. on Sept. 13.

The preliminary hearing was held only on the child-beating charge, but Judge Thomas added the murder complaint in announcing his decision.

The child died the day after his mother, Mrs. Roberta Marie Buckley, 21, Boehm, who is her common law husband, and Michael Todd, 21, took him to Marin General Hospital.

Woman Jailed After Deadly Knife Fracas

A 29-year-old woman was stabbed to death last night in a quarrel with another woman on the crowded dance floor of a Marin City inn, sheriff's deputies reported today.

Officers claimed they met with a wall of non-cooperation as soon as they arrived at the Oak Tree Inn. No one would come forward to say they had seen the stabbing.

Early today, Dorothy Nell Miller, 23, of 69 Cole Avenue, Apt. 21, Marin City, was booked for the murder of Bernadine Nettles of 239 Drake Avenue, Marin City.

The victim was dead on arrival at Marin General Hospital at 10:40 p.m. from knife wounds in the neck and chest.

Sheriff's deputies were called to the inn at 10:28 p.m. by owner Artice Lee who reported the stabbing.

One of the officers, deputy Gary Bartolotti, reported employees were sweeping up the floor and everyone was sitting around drinking or dancing as normal.

Lee told deputies there had been a fight between Mrs. Nettles and Miller and the victim had been taken to the hospital. The suspect had left the scene and he did not know where she was.

Said Bartolotti: "The most any of the witnesses admit to seeing was the victim being carried out of the premises."

First reports were that Mrs. Nettles had been taken to the hospital in the car of Elizabeth Washington of 233 Drake Avenue, Marin City, but Mrs. Washington later denied she had taken anyone to the hospital.

Later, deputy Norman Johnson reported he was at the hospital when he was approached by two men who said they were at the scene, James Willie Johnson of Marin City and John Robert Germany of Vallejo.

Guardsmen Line Rights March Route

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A peace-keeping force of 2,000 National Guardsmen has been promised to officials at Cicero, Ill., the one-time gangland capital where civil rights protesters and American Nazis plan to gather tomorrow.

Acting yesterday on requests from local officials, Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner activated the guardsmen, to be joined by local, county and state officers in protecting an anticipated 400 to 600 open housing marchers.

Cicero was the scene 15 years ago of a three-day series of riots after a Negro family tried to move into an apartment.

Town Atty. Christy Berkos said he issued a march permit to avoid violence, on the theory the demonstrators would proceed with or without a permit.

In Dayton, Ohio, armed guardsmen and police patrolled the predominantly Negro district where a Negro man was killed by shotgun fire from a

Hamilton Woman Dies In Bay Span Smashup

Airman 1/c Jacqueline Blackburn, 23, stationed at Hamilton Air Force Base, was killed early this morning when the car in which she was riding struck a highway divider and overturned on the San Francisco side of the Bay Bridge.

Miss Blackburn who had served two years at Hamilton Field after enlisting from her home in Houston, Tex., was thrown from the auto, in which two other military personnel were injured.

Albert White, 25, Moffett Field sailor who was driving the vehicle, is in good condition at Mission Emergency Hospital in San Francisco, while Airman William Blakely, 27, of Hamilton Field is in satisfactory condition at Letterman General Hospital at the Presidio in San Francisco. Both men were trapped inside the overturned auto, and California Highway Patrolmen had to pull them free.

The car struck the concrete dividing wall separating the Fifth Street offramp from the main freeway from the bridge.

The highway patrol is investigating. No charges have been placed.

Metropolitan Migration Held Threat To Farms

DALLASTOWN, Pa. (UPI)—President Johnson, commemorating the 100th birthday of this rural community, today called for a vast American counter-migration out of the cities and back to the land.

"We will make our mark on history," Johnson said, if America "can begin to stem" the migration of millions of people streaming from rural to urban areas.

"This migration away from farms and countryside is universal —bringing heavy burdens to men and women in a hundred different lands . . .

"Does it really make sense . . . to have 70 per cent of our people crammed onto one per cent of the land?"

Johnson said rural people move to the cities so they can earn higher pay and have a brighter future.

Because of this, "we must rebuild our cities into better places to live," he said. "We must clean out the slums and end the crime. We must clear the polluted air and give our city children their parks and playgrounds.

"But we must do more than that. We must make better use of the 99 per cent of this continent which lie outside of the cities. We must ask more from —and give to — communities like your own."

The President proposed officially that "we must set a higher goal than parity for

Road Toll Is Already Rolling In

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's developing Labor Day weekend toll of traffic deaths reached 100 today.

As millions of motorists took to the roads for summer's last holiday, the National Safety Council estimated that between 530 and 630 persons could lose their lives in the three-day period—actually 78 hours, starting at 6 p.m., Friday when many weekend travelers already were abroad, to midnight Monday.

Two weeks ago, during a non-holiday weekend period of the same length, between 6 p.m. Friday, Aug. 19 and midnight

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Crash Toll Rises

LJUBLJANA, Yugoslavia (AP) — One of the injured in the British Britannia airplane crash Thursday died today, bringing the death toll to 96. Three of the remaining 21 injured were in serious condition, the spokesman said.

Reds Halt Escape

BERLIN (AP) — An escaping refugee was stopped today only a few yards short of the Communist wall by the gunfire of East German border guards, police said. The police said the man, about 25, halted near a tangle of barbed wire when four bursts were fired from a nearby bunker. He was led away with his hands held over his head.

Russ Jumps Ship

ISTANBUL, Turkey (UPI) — A Soviet sailor jumped from a Russian tanker in the Bosphorous yesterday and asked Turkish authorities for asylum. Vladimir Karcin, 25, swam to a Turkish guide boat and asked for help as his ship, the Chernovci, stopped to pick him up.

New Police Chief

CONCORD (AP) — James Chambers, a veteran law enforcement officer, has been selected as chief of police. Chambers, who organized the Newark Police Department in 1956, will take over his new job on Sept. 19 at a salary of $14,880. He succeeds Ron Orin, who resigned in April.

Stargazers Fail

PALESTINE, Tex. (AP) — Scientists ordered a balloon flight terminated yesterday after a telescope intended for a close look at an exploded star scraped the ground at lift-off. The mishap broke an antenna and scientists at the National Center for Atmospheric Research received no data from the gamma ray telescope as it swung from its 55-story-tall balloon.

The flight, fourth in a series to study the Crab nebula, was brought down near Waco. It had been delayed two weeks by bad weather.

Thousands Watch Jet Tragedy

TORONTO (AP)—A member of the U.S. Navy's crack aerial acrobatic team, the Blue Angels, was killed yesterday when his plane crashed on the shore of Lake Ontario within view of thousands of air show fans.

The swept-wing Grumman F-11 Tiger was making a high-speed solo flyby when it crashed about 3,000 yards from the packed grandstand during the Canadian International Air Show at the Canadian National Exhibition.

Wreckage of the plane hurtled through the air, cutting the leg of a helicopter pilot on the shore. No other injuries were reported.

A shocked silence fell over the waterfront after the crash. The other five pilots called off the rest of their 23-minute show and returned to Toronto Airport, making one low-level pass as a salute to their fallen comrade before landing.

The pilot, Lt. Dick Oliver, 31, of Fort Mills, S.C., was to complete his three-year hitch with the Blue Angeles in November.

De Gaulle Flies to Tropic Isle

NOUMEA, New Caledonia (AP)—French President Charles de Gaulle flew into this flowered Pacific isle today after a tumultuous three-day state visit to Cambodia where he demanded that all foreign troops get out of Viet Nam.

South Vietnamese Foreign Minister Tran Van Do, in Saigon asked: "Why has the general not launched a solemn appeal to North Viet Nam and to China to stop the aggression? This would put an end to the war."

The French president was about half way through his 19-day, 27,000-mile journey around the world. New Caledonia is 750 miles east of Australia.

He will go on to Tahiti and, if weather conditions are right, witness a French atomic test in that area.

De Gaulle then flies on to Guadaloupe, a French island in the Caribbean, where Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., says he hopes President Johnson will meet him to discuss the Vietnamese war.

Farm Union Broadens Program

DELANO (UPI)—Victory in this week's Di Giorgio Corp. union election was only a beginning in the all-out effort to unionize farm laborers, according to the AFL-CIO United Farm Workers Organizing Committee (UFWOC).

"This is our first step toward organizing farm workers everywhere," said Dolores Huerta, vice president of the union. She announced that union leader Cesar Chavez was leaving to take part in organizational activities in Texas.

The union said contract negotiations with Di Giorgio would begin "as soon as possible," and certainly within two weeks.

Corporation president Robert Di Giorgio said the company would honor the results of the election.

"The company is hopeful that harrassment of workers and growers will cease," he said.

O. W. Fillerup, executive vice president of the Council of California Growers, said he believed a renewal of the "indiscriminate picketing, irresponsible boycotting and three ring circus-type efforts that have marked the union's" organizational efforts would result.

Kuchel Asked To Resign Over Redwoods Argument

Combined AP & UPI

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R — Calif., said yesterday he had received a telegram from two Eureka residents who asked that he resign because he supported President Johnson's proposal that cutting of redwood trees on private land be halted to preserve them for a proposed redwoods national park.

The telegram from Don Cave and Meyer Bistrin, Eureka businessmen criticized Kuchel's position and called for his resignation.

The senator declined comment about the telegram but did say he has no intention of resigning.

The Eureka men also sent a telegram to Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., suggesting he personally inspect the timber operations.

Kennedy was unavailable for comment.

Hundreds of telegrams were being sent by residents of Del Norte County to the White House and to members of Congress, protesting the proposed legislation. The county Board of Supervisors estimated about 7,000 telegrams would be sent.

The supervisors reported many residents, entirely dependent on the lumber industry, would be jobless if the law is passed, and there is no provision for relief for men thrown out of work.

The telegrams said the proposed law "will create unemployment, poverty, destitute families, unnecessary relief programs and economic chaos in Del Norte County."

Kuchel predicted Congress will approve quickly the resolution designed to stop timber cutting by the Rellim Miller Redwood Co. within an area of a proposed redwoods national park. Kuchel introduced the resolution Thursday in the Senate, with the co-sponsorship of Sens. Kennedy and Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash. who is chairman of the Senate Interior Committee.

An identical resolution, requested by President Johnson and Stewart L. Udall, secretary of the interior, was introduced in the House.

The resolution, if adopted by House and Senate and signed by the President, would subject any person cutting timber in the Mill Creek area of Del Norte County to a fine of $50,000 for each day of cutting, and imprisonment up to one year.

The resolution is intended to halt redwood timber cutting by the Miller company on land it owns adjacent to the boundary of the Jedediah Smith State Park. It would prohibit all timber cutting there until Oct. 15, 1967. This period would allow Congress a year to consider and act upon pending and conflicting proposals for establishment of the redwood national park.

Assemblyman Edwin Z'Berg, D-Sacramento, wants President Johnson's proposed redwood cutting ban to include a potential park site in Humboldt county.

In a letter yesterday to Interior Secretary Udall, Z'Berg noted that Congress was considering two sites for a national redwood park. However, he said, the president's tree cutting ban would protect only one: the administration proposed site in Del Norte county.

Z'Berg, chairman of the Assembly Committee on Natural Resources, Planning and Public Works, said that ban should cover the larger park site in Humboldt county proposed by several congressmen and conservation groups.

Red Chinese Capital Daily Faces Purge

TOKYO (UPI) —Communist China's feverish "cultural revolution" claimed new victims today with an announcement that Peking's official newspaper was being shut down and its staff purged.

It was the second time the Peking Daily, not to be confused with the Communist party's main organ, the People's Daily, had fallen victim to China's current political turmoil. Three months ago, the paper was reorganized and its president, Fang Chi, dismissed for failing to toe the line of Chinese leader Mao Tse-tung.

Today's announcement by the Peking City committee of the Chinese Communist party said the newspaper was under "temporary suspension" to "allow a complete cultural revolution" — meaning a purge of its staff.

The Japanese Kyodo news service said the newspaper was to stop publishing today. Kyodo's correspondent in the Chinese capital said the suspension could signify another struggle within the Peking committee.

The names of the current president and editorial staff members were not known.

The action came in the midst of the campaign by militant Red Guard teen-agers to wipe out all Western influences in Chinese culture and way of life.

According to reports reaching here yesterday, a mob of young zealots seized the deputy mayor of Canton while he was making a speech in a park and plastered him with posters praising Communist party Chairman Mao.

The reports, corroborated by many travelers from the south China city, said the Red Guards attacked the official, Joie Lingyee, after he had admonished them to treat foreign visitors with respect.

The Canton mayor had in mind incidents where youthful demonstrators had molested and humiliated non-Chinese visitors to Canton, forcing them to crop their Western hair style and divest themselves of foreign clothes.

School Taboos New Miniskirts

HOBBS, N.M. (AP) — The short, short miniskirts are taboo in Hobbs High School.

More than 80 girls were ordered Monday to wear longer skirts.

And a pretty female teacher voluntarily changed her skirt for one with a longer hemline after she discovered it was shorter than school regulations require.

School officials said skirts are too short if girls kneel and their hemlines don't touch the floor.

Broadcast Drinking Bout Delivers Safety Message

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — It was a good cause that two local radio personalities got reeling drunk on the air Friday night.

News director Roger Galloway was drinking rum. Disc jockey Mike Hammer stayed with vodka. The program opened with the sound of liquid pouring, the clink of glasses and an "ah."

After downing 12 ounces of vodka, Hammer was described as close to passing out. That is the fifth stage of drunkenness. The sixth is death.

But the program went on. Hammer chattered and played records. Galloway read the news. As the program over WCAW continued both began slurring words. One switched a commercial into the middle of the other's speech. Neither could say "around the rugged rock the rascal ran."

In the studio audience were two state troopers, city policemen, the director of the alcohol division of the State Mental Health Department and an assistant state attorney general. After only two drinks Galloway and Hammer showed a depth perception loss sufficient to cause a traffic accident. Hammer misjudged a distance by two feet; Galloway was off by three.

A policeman went on the air: "Would you want one of these two to take the road after their tour of duty as they normally do? Many drivers in worse shape will."

Having made their point about drinking and driving, Hammer and Galloway headed home for the Labor Day weekend — driven by someone else.

Donald Duck Becomes Star Of Steelworkers

NEW YORK (UPI) —Donald Duck's latest movie, "Steel and America" which premiered last October, has become a hit with classroom and other audiences from coast to coast.

The film, in which Donald plays an heroic steelmaker, depicts the history and development of steelmaking in the United States. It already has been shown in more than 4,000 schools and about 280 times on television. The combined video, community and classroom audience is estimated as between 12 and 13 million, says Steelways, publication of the American Iron and Steel Institute.

Draft-Thant Efforts Appear To Be Fading

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Despite the efforts of the United States and Britain, the move to draft U Thant for another term as U.N. Secretary General appeared today to be losing steam.

The Burmese diplomat announced Thursday he would not be available to serve in the executive post beyond Nov. 3 when his five-year term expires.

In announcing his decision, Thant expressed his disappointment at not being able to play a greater role in promoting world peace—especially in Viet Nam.

A drive headed by the United States was launched immediately to try and persuade Thant to stay on for at least an abbreviated second term. But serious cracks have appeared in the movement in the past two days.

Informed sources said the Soviet Union and France two of the major powers that previously had endorsed Thant for a second term, now were not so sure it would be a good idea, especially in light of Thant's reluctance to serve again.

The United States, Britain and the majority of the smaller, nonpermanent members of the 15-nation Security Council have been meeting behind the scenes ever since Thant announced his decision. They were reported in favor of having Thant "drafted" despite his apparently final "no."

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg put the U.S. on record within hours of Thant's announcement, saying he would assist a ny move to persuade the U.N. official to serve again "for as long as he wants." Goldberg later sent a personal note to Thant to reinforce the official American view.

A U.S. delegation spokesman said yesterday as far as he knew there were no dissenting views from other U.N. member nations regarding the proposed draft.

HAPPINESS IS LOST MONEY FOUND

Two San Rafael boys, Timothy Baker, 12, of 1111 E Street, and a friend, Stanley Scott, 8, of 2 River Oaks Road, gave Timothy's brother, Ernie, 15, a helping hand collecting subscriptions to the Independent-Journal. But their red money bag tied to Stanley's bicycle was lost. Ramona Stallings, owner of Ramona's Mexican Food on C Street, found the bag later in front of her restaurant. Yesterday, the two happy boys retrieved the lost bag from her—and the $12.53 in it.

Marin Volunteers Home From Mexico

In the tiny village of La Viellta in Mexico, a school stands as a living tribute to the enthusiasm and hard work of Marin County members of Amigos Anonymous, an organization that encourages friendship and understanding between Mexico and this country.

The school is called St. Raphael del Sur after San Rafael's parish school, St. Raphael.

It has not all the facilities and "luxuries" of its Marin counterpart, but to the children of La Viellta it is a gigantic step forward along the road to knowledge and a better life.

Twelve young Marin college students and teachers are now returning home after contributing time and effort to this school and countless other projects in the southern plateau states of Michoacan and Guanajuato.

One of them is the county director of Amigos, Lydia Haran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Haran Jr., of San Rafael.

She has gone to Mexico with the organization in each of its four years existence and was a project leader in Celaya, northwest of Mexico City. She soon starts her fourth year at Dominican College.

Other Dominican students in Mexico were Madelone Walsh of Greenbrae, who worked at Rincon de Tamayo; Patricia Vale of San Anselmo, working at San Pedro; Cavan Holliday of San Rafael, who was in Marelia; Victoria Presson of San Rafael, who worked at Tarimoro; and Setsuko Nakayasu, a native of Kobe, Japan.

Two Marin students of St. Patrick's Seminary, Menlo Park are also back home. Blake Rogers of San Rafael was at Tarimoro and Dan Onorato of San Anselmo, who plans to continue his religious studies in Rome this fall, was an overall co-ordinator, traveling from one project to another.

Susanna Reid of Belvedere, a sophomore at the University of California, worked at Apaseo el Grande as did Mike Jacobs of San Rafael, a junior at St. Mary's College. Gene Mailini of San Rafael, a sophomore at the University of San Francisco, was at Cerritos Corelos and Miss Flora Mancibo, a teacher at Terra Linda High School, was at Torimore.

The girls conducted classes in sewing, cooking and writing and taught housewives how to prepare well balanced meals on a few pesos. They lived in homes or in missions and other public buildings.

The boys also lived with families as they worked side by side with the men in the fields, on roads and in digging ditches.

Members of Amigos Anonymous have to pay their own transportation to Mexico but may go back year after year.

Amigos Anonymous is a self-supporting unit of the Conference on Inter-America Student Projects—a body second in size only to the Peace Corps.

Injured Woman Helpless 3 Days

A woman, aged about 60, believed to have been lying on the floor of her Sausalito home with a broken hip unable to get help, was rushed to Kaiser Memorial Hospital, San Francisco, yesterday after she had been found by sheriff's deputies.

Mrs. Jessie Kroencke was reported to have been found suffering from malnutrition and exposure at her home, 321 Tomales Street.

Sausalito firemen, called to give first aid, estimated Mrs. Kroencke had been lying alone in the house about three days after her fall.

State Bar Board Votes Announced

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Guy F. Ward of Beverly Hills and John B. Surr of San Bernardino are winners of two contested seats on the State Bar of California board of governors.

The State Bar announced Thursday that Ward defeated James L. Garcia of Los Angeles 2,906 to 1,286 and Surr beat William H. Wilson of San Bernardino 331 to 262 in recent elections.

Three other candidates were uncontested. Louis C. Phelps of San Francisco will succeed John A. Sutro of San Francisco. Luther M. Carr of Burlingame takes the seat of Albert D. Barnes, Ventura. Samuel O. Pruitt Jr., Los Angeles, will take the place of Harold A. Black, also of Los Angeles.

Miss Gaskin To Leave Paris Hospital Soon

Nancy A. Gaskin, 20, of San Francisco, a former Larkspur resident and sister of Mrs. Donald Gail Davis of San Rafael, was reported "much improved" today in the American Hospital in Paris, where she is recovering from injuries received in a traffic accident Aug. 24.

Her father, William Gaskin, said doctors expected to release her from the hospital in about a week.

Teen-Agers Hurt In Accident, One In Custody

Two Fairfax teen-agers were in Marin General Hospital this morning and a third was in Marin County Juvenile Hall after an auto accident last night on Center Boulevard in Fairfax.

Thomas Ayers, 14, of 8 Westbrae Drive suffered a fractured right ankle and injuries of the pelvis, arms and face when the late-model Chevrolet in which he was riding crashed off the side of the road near the San Anselmo border. Susan Cohols, 18, of 42 Plaza Drive, reportedly the driver of the car, was admitted to the hospital in good condition after suffering multiple cuts and bruises.

A 15-year-old companion was treated for facial scrapes and was about to be released from the hospital when he reportedly attacked Sgt. Charles Grasso of the Fairfax Police Department, the investigating officer. The boy was taken to the juvenile hall and booked there at 1:30 a.m. for assaulting an officer.

Ayers was thrown through the windshield of the car, which was severely damaged in the accident. Both front wheels and a door were torn off. How the accident occurred has not yet been determined.

Collision Victim In Poor Condition

Lorraine Geyer, 28, of 36 Bulkley Avenue, Sausalito, was reported in very poor condition today at San Francisco General Hospital with head and internal injuries suffered in an auto accident yesterday morning.

Miss Geyer was southbound on the San Francisco exit from the Golden Gate Bridge when she swerved to avoid one car and hit another headon. Four cars were involved in the accident, but Miss Geyer's were the only serious injuries.

Cruiser's Stolen While Owner Away

James Johnson said he was the escort for Mrs. Nettles during the evening.

Both men agreed to make statements was not disclosed by fice but the substance of the statementts was no disclosed by officers.

Neither would they say where or why Mrs. Miller was subsequently arrested. Marin County Coroner Frank J. Keaton, however, stated she was arrested in Marin City at 3 a.m. today.

Keaton said the victim apparently became unconscious after the stabbing and died en route to the hospital. There was evidence of excessive bleeding.

Sheriff's deputies indicated the murder weapon was a five-inch kitchen knife but did not say whether it was found at the scene or elsewhere.

An autopsy was scheduled today at the Russell and Gooch Mortuary, Mill Valley.

Officers dispatched to find a carload of white youths who reportedly fired at a Negro Friday night, were unable to find either the Negro or the boys.

A few fires, quickly extinguished, were termed arson by police. Some bystanders taunted passing police and guardsmen. Otherwise comparative quiet reigned and the city went ahead with plans for a Labor Day visit by President Johnson.

BEATING

ture finisher, allegedly administered beatings to the child over a three-week period at the home the group shared on Lucky Drive in Greenbrae.

Michael Dufficy, deputy district attorney, had subpoenaed both Mrs. Buckley and Todd as witnesses. Both had declined to answer questions during the hearing, and were ordered to do so by Judge Thomas F. Keating of Marin Superior Court. The order gives immunity from prosecution to the two.

Mrs. Buckley herself had been charged with felony failure to report the beatings to the police.

Todd testified yesterday that he had seen Boehm severely strike the child, Timothy Wayne Buckley, 16-months-old, several times with his hands.

He added, however, that Boehm had never used an instrument. He said on at least one occasion, he told Boehm that the disciplining was too severe, that Boehm perhaps didn't realize his own strength.

Todd added that he saw no new bruises on the child on the morning the infant was taken to Marin General Hospital, Aug. 17.

He said he took Mrs. Buckley to work, attended to several personal matters, and returned to the Lucky Drive residence. He said an earlier version that he gave the district attorney's office—that Boehm told him the child fell off a table—was not true.

Instead, he testified, he and Boehm decided to go to Fairfax. They loaded Timothy in the car, Todd drove, and Boehm rode as passenger in the front seat, according to Todd.

He said in San Anselmo he suddenly had to brake the car to avoid a woman pedestrian, and Timothy fell to the rear floor. According to Todd, the infant appeared to be unconscious, but showed no additional bruises or cuts.

Boehm and Todd took the child to San Rafael, where they picked up Mrs. Buckley, then drove the child to the hospital.

A three-day jail sentence for contempt against Mrs. Buckley for being late to the morning's preliminary hearing was revoked yesterday afternoon by Judge Thomas.

Her attorney, Charles L. Convis, informed the court that Mrs. Buckley had taken a prescription including codeine for a toothache and this caused her to oversleep.

She was released from county jail after spending only a few minutes there.

Red Mortars Interrupt G.I. Rites

SAIGON (UPI) — The Viet Cong launched a mortar attack tonight on a U.S. Army 1st Air Cavalry Division post at An Khe while the unit was celebrating its first year in Viet Nam. Some Americans were reported killed.

U.S. military spokesmen said a guerrilla band of unknown size lobbed about 27 rounds of mortar shells into the post 260 miles northeast of Saigon.

"Some of the guys in the ceremony are dead right now," a first sergeant at the scene reported.

Earlier, a military spokesman reported the loss of two more planes over Viet Nam—one Friday and one today. Both pilots were saved, one in a daring rescue maneuver carried out under the muzzle of Communist guns.

They were the second and third such rescues performed during a week in which five planes were shot down by North Vietnamese antiaircraft guns. A spokesman said the North Vietnamese had greatly increased their firepower in the Dong Hoi region, a frequent target, and that American plane losses over the north now stood at 357.

Hit-Run Crash Injures Two

Two San Franciscans suffered neck injuries when a hit-and-run car crashed into the rear of their car on East Blithedale Avenue near Highway 101, Alto, at 1:10 a.m. today.

Reported in fair condition in Marin General Hospital were the driver, Hadjibaba Ahmadi, 32, and his passenger Esmail Shahbedia, 35.

Officer Robert Van Zeff of the California Highway Patrol reported that Ahmadi was driving eastbound near Kipling Avenue when struck. Ahmadi gave no clear description of the car, Van Zeff said.

Sausalito Traffic Trap Makes Debut

Sausalito police held their first traffic check ever last night but the results were relatively (and pleasantly) negative.

They checked 85 cars of the estimated 450 that passed the checkpoint at the south end of Bridgeway between 9:10 and 11:45 p.m., and found 14 equipment violations. "We didn't have any drunks, though," reported Officer Ben Barrett with some astonishment. "I guess it was too early."

Monday, Aug. 22, there were 505 highway deaths counted in an Associated Press tabulation.

The record Labor Day weekend traffic toll is 563, set last year.

With the highway mortality trend pressing upward steadily in recent years, President Johnson noted Friday that 1.5-million Americans have been killed in traffic accidents since the automobile was invented, and declared that "this slaughter must stop."

This year's earlier holidays have all set deadly records. The New Year's traffic death toll was 564, that for Memorial Day weekend 542, and for Independence Day 576. All were three-day periods.

Last Christmas, a three-day holiday, was the grimmest of all, with 720 highway deaths.

He Got Sound Before Wheels

A 15-year-old San Rafael boy, who reportedly stole an auto stereo player and tape from a downtown store and was waiting for a car to put them in, was cited Thursday for petty theft.

Police reported the boy stole the equipment from Record King in Fourth Street about three months ago.

Officers searched the boy's room and found the tapes and player.

Gold Coins, Other Property Taken

Burglars looted the home of Maria Magadelena Cregg, 52 Buckelew Street, Marin City, of about $1,000 worth of items and gold coins, sheriff's officers said yesterday.

Entry was by prying a front door. Taken were a $400 sewing machine, a $200 tape recorder, and gold coins worth $294, officers said.

Deputies reported the intruders entered a Service Distributors Inc. self-service laundry at 419 Drake Avenue, prying a coin-changing machine off a wall.

Victim Still Critical After Rifle Mishap

Paul F. Merz, 16, of 179 Reservoir Road, San Rafael, was still in critical condition at Marin General Hospital today following an accidental shooting near Point Reyes Station.

Merz was with a group of five other teen-agers who went on an expedition shooting jack rabbits Tuesday when a rifle accidentally discharged wounding him in the head.

What's This? Finds Truck In Front Yard

David D. Powers returned home from his vacation yesterday to find a City of San Rafael dump truck imbedded in the front of his home at 171 Southern Heights Boulevard.

City crews were resurfacing the street when the unattended truck, loaded with asphalt, slipped its brake and rolled into the Powers home. It crashed through a hedge and ripped up three trees on its errant way.

The one-ton truck knocked a four-foot hole in the wall near the front door of the wood-frame house and damaged the roof, Powers said. He didn't know yet if the one story home was altered from its foundation on stilts above the hillside. The house rests 15 feet below the boulevard.

Patrolman Arthur Myers reported that a mechanic was on his way out from the city corporation yard to fix the brakes when the accident happened about 3 p.m.

Powers said that the crews cleaned up the dumped asphalt and boarded up the hole last night. He gave no estimate of the cost to repair the damage.

Motorist Says Cars Forced Him Off Road

Wayne Tolliver, 29, of 171 Railroad Avenue, Woodacre, was to see his own doctor Thursday night for cuts over both eyes suffered when his car was forced off Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Tolliver said he was westbound just north of Fairfax at 10:55 p.m. when two eastbound cars, side-by-side in the two-lane road, forced him off. Tolliver, alone at the time, ended up in a field.

Motorist Injured

Timothy O'Keefe, 22, of 25 Ancha Vista Avenue, San Anselmo, was treated at 4 a.m. today at Marin General Hospital for a cut lip he suffered in an auto accident in Cotati at 1 a.m. He was released after his lip had been treated.

Expensive Crepes Have Chain Hems

By EUNICE FARMER

I have just seen some very expensive crepe dresses that had absolutely no pressing done on the hems. They had a small chain in the hem. Can we home-sewers do this too? How is the novice to know when to press and when not to press a hem?

MRS. V. B.

DEAR MRS. V.B.:

Different frabrics make basic rules changeable, as I've said before, rules are made to be broken! Top designers for some time have eliminated the sharp pressing on hems of any kind, that is why the underlining principle became so popular. I have seen the dresses to which you are referring. The underlining must come down to the hem and be included in the width of the hem (a separate lining will not have the same effect).

Lightly tack the metal chain to the fold line of the hem on the lining itself. Then turn up the hem of the fabric and the underlining together, and lightly tack it to the underlining. This will give the hem a soft, folded appearance. Actually, it is a beautiful finish for any type of crepe fabric since crepe is so difficult to hem. Because of the give in it, the hem usually doesn't hang straight. Try it, it's fun to use these couture touches on your clothes.

My friends are afraid to buy new clothes. I'm afraid to make any because of the uncertainty of the skirt length. What would you suggest?

MRS. J. T.

DEAR MRS. J. T.:

Your apprehension is probably caused by the fact that Dior's collection showed a few mid-calf length skirts. Designers crave the publicity they get from the press, and because of this, they often go to way-out extremes just for the shock value. The last few seasons every designer has showed at least one longer length skirt, but the public just isn't ready to accept them as yet.

It's for sure that there's only one way they could possibly go, they couldn't get any shorter. But after seeing so many of the collections, I can assure you that the skirts won't change this year. We who sew are really the lucky ones. If you think the skirts will change radically, buy an extra yard of fabric to match a suit. You can always make another skirt, and that would be cheap insurance!

European designers influence the fashion world, but remember, any style changes are always very extreme which is important in order to show a trend on the runway. American designers modify these style changes to suit the average woman.

Regardless of what the models are wearing or what the designers are pushing, good fashion is always an individual thing. Always consider your age, your figure, and your business and social life when planning your clothing needs. I couldn't help but notice that the really well-dressed women throughout Europe were all dressed simply, and elegantly, with basic type clothes made from beautiful fabrics.

MRS. L. NOEL, Fort Worth, Texas, is this week's Tailor Trix winner for her following suggestion:

"First I must tell you how much I love my new foam plastic dress form. It makes sewing a real joy instead of a real chore! I find I get an even more perfect fitting every time if I put one of my own bras on the new form. It molds the foam plastic into my exact shape and contour.

"I also find that if I put a girdle on my dress form, it also shapes the form to my exact contour, with the bulges in the right places. Try it, there is a difference! (If you have a full slip to spare, slip it over the muslin cover of your dress form. garments will slip on and off much easier.)"

With your encouragement I have enjoyed my sewing more than ever because I am getting my ideas from good ready-to-wear as you suggested. So many summer suits have very short sleeves, is there any rule for the correct length one should use?

MRS. F. W.

DEAR MRS. F. W.:

Yes, the new short sleeves are definitely '66. You will find them in many two-piece suit dresses, as well as cotton and silk suits. The high fashion look would be the extremely short sleeve, only about 1 inch deep at the underarm. However, the greatest advantage of making your own clothes is that they are truly custom-made for you. With this in mind, you must modify any style to look well on you.

If your arms are heavy, certainly don't make the sleeves so short. It's always best to allow extra length so that you can decide after the sleeves have been set in just what length looks the best on you.

I have found this short sleeve look very attractive and practical. There is just enough length for comfort in air-conditioning, and yet who needs full-length sleeves in a summer garment?

We're approaching the season when we'll be putting sleeves into every garment. Since this seems to be the area of most difficulty, you'll want to send for a leaflet "All About Sleeves." Send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents to Eunice Farmer, in care of the Independent-Journal.

Ronald Edward Grady Claims Bride In San Francisco Rite

Patricia Irene Delahanty of San Francisco became the bride of Ronald Edward Grady of San Anselmo in a ceremony on Saturday at St. Finn Barr's Church in San Francisco.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Delahanty of San Francisco.

Officiating for the ceremony was the Rev. Stephen Perata.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white peau taffeta accented with seed pearls and Alencon lace.

Patricia Killeen as maid of honor and Mrs. Donald Bruzzone, matron of honor, preceded the bride down the aisle in sky blue gowns of silk linen and crepe.

Eugene Paine of Sacramento served the bridegroom as best man and ushers were James Bowles, Guy Joy and Bruce Pyle.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Redwood Lodge.

The bride was graduated from Mercy High School and San Francisco College for Women.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Grady of San Anselmo, was graduated from Marin Catholic High School and Idaho University. Mrs. James Bowles of Sacramento is his sister.

Following a wedding trip along the Northern California coastline, the couple will reside in Placerville.

French Classes Registration Slated By Outdoor Art Club

Registration for adult French classes will be held at the outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley on Sept. 12 from 10 a.m. to noon.

An opportunity is offered to anyone desiring to learn the French language or brush up on it since classes are offered at the beginning, intermediate and advanced conversational levels to both club and non-club members.

Weekly two-hour classes are conducted by Mme. Pierre Dupart, a native of Bordeaux, France, who has traveled widely and has been teaching French in the Bay Area for several years.

Beside weekly classes, special extra-curricular activities are planned during the year. In the past French luncheons, wine-tasting parties, art previews, French plays and travel slides have added cultural and conversational opportunities to supplement classroom instruction.

Further information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Frank Hamilton of Mill Valley, chairman for the classes.

New Teachers Reception Set

The annual new teachers reception sponsored by the Novato Chamber of Commerce will be held from 4 to 6 p.m., Wednesday at the San Marin Club.

All new teachers in the Novato Unified School District are invited, according to Mrs. Jeanne Anderson, education chairman for the chamber.

The informal reception will give the new teachers a chance to meet local business leaders and city and county officials. More than 70 teachers are expected to attend.

The North Marin Council of Parent Teacher Assn. and chamber members will serve the refreshments.

Active Marinite Bids Goodbye Before Leaving For Lafayette

By MOLLY MARIN

Saying goodbye to her many friends in Marin County is Mrs. Robert Weil, who will be leaving Monday for Lafayette in time to enter Emily in ninth grade and Kathy in seventh grade. The Weils found the move from Homestead Valley necessary when Mr. Weil took over a new position as comptroller of a business firm in Oakland near the Oakland Airport. Eleanor will be greatly missed in many activities. She has been one of the leaders in the administrative work in connection with Homestead Valley Improvement Club's candle-concerts and was organist-choir director at Peace Lutheran Church near Mill Valley.

SHE WAS a member of Dr. S. Drummond Wolff's College of Marin community chorus and sang with Mrs. Otto Weissich's lyric singers, helping at times with their direction. In the Mill Valley School system she has worked at the Marin Terrace School Library and was chairman of the music scholarship committee for grades five through eight. Wednesday afternoon Eleanor was honored at a luncheon at Sabella's given by friends at Peace Lutheran Church. On Sept. 10 she will be coming back for a party in her honor to be given at 4 p.m. by Mrs. Martin Goldschmidt at her home in Mill Valley.

A MERRY band from Belvedere will be heading for Europe in mid-September. Procuring passports for a month-long stay on the continent are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bagnall, Mr. and Mrs. Ned Stephens, Mr. and Mrs. Josua Eppinger, Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Rice III, and Bede Rice's mother, Mrs. W. C. De Jung; Dr. and Mrs. Benton Mathews and their two younger sons, Jody, 11, and Bill, 14; and Mr. and Mrs. Willard Anderson and their daughter, Debbie, 11. All will leave on the same chartered flight, and meet again in Paris before the trip home. Meanwhile they have different itineraries. The Andersons will stay in London several days, then fly to Holland. At The Hague they will rent a car and travel through Belgium, Switzerland, Austria, Italy and France. A high spot for the Rices, the Stephenses and the Mathews family will be cruise on the Rhine.

MARKING THEIR silver wedding anniversary are the Daniel A. Fogartys of Corte Madera. They will be honored tonight by their children, the Dayton Miesfeldts, Richard Bringels and Theresa and Daniel Fogarty Jr. at a dinner at the Spinnaker Restaurant in Sausalito. Their family will present them with a trip to Hawaii.

GUESTS WHO travel by boat to the Belvedere Lagoon days Indian summer party Sept. 10 will stop off at the E. Allen Steinau home for cocktails en route to the dinner-dance at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Benton Mathews. Since the Paul Laws recent move to San Francisco, Jim Moran has taken over as chairman of the swimming meet which will start at 9:15 a.m. Sept. 10 at the dock of Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Cowen.

VACATIONING at the Santa Barbara Biltmore are the John Korns of San Rafael.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM W. Moore of Belvedere will honor their new neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Dake, at a cocktail-buffet Wednesday. The party for 40 guests will serve to introduce the newcomers to other Belvedere Lagoon residents. The Dakes, who have been living in San Francisco, have just completed their Belvedere home and are using it for a summer and weekend retreat.

MARY LYN Nelson of San Anselmo will become the bride of John McManus Daughters of Seattle, Wash., on Nov. 26 at the Central Lutheran Church in Tacoma, Wash.

Mary Lyn Nelson To Be Bride Of John McManus Daughters

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon F. Nelson of San Anselmo are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Mary Lyn, to John McManus Daughter, of Seattle.

The bride-elect, who is the sister of Gordon and Andrea Nelson of San Anselmo, was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and Whitman College where she was affiliated with Delta Delta Delta sorority. She is a teacher in Seattle, Wash. Mrs. Andrew O. Oliver of Kentfield is her grandmother.

The future bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis R. Daughters of Seattle, was graduated from Bainbridge High School in Washington and Whitman College. He is a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity. Patricia Ann Daughters is his sister. He is employed with the National Bank of Commerce in Seattle.

The wedding will take place on Nov. 26 at Central Lutheran Church in Tacoma, Wash.

Dominican Alumnae To Hold Benefit At Candlestick Park

The Bay Area Chapters of the Dominican College Alumnae are presenting "Brunch, Boutique Fashions and Baseball" at Candlestick Park on Sept. 17, which is the last weekend that the Giants will play at their home field.

For the benefit of the college scholarship fund, alumnae and friends will gather at the Stadium Club for the 9:30 a.m. brunch, during which the Giants' wives will model fashions. After the morning festivities, the game between the Giants and the Mets will be viewed from the Stadium Club.

The wives of the San Francisco Giants who will model are Mesdames Bob Burda, Jim Davenport, Len Gabrielson, Joe Gibbon, Tom Haller, Ron Herbel, Lindy McDaniel, Cap Peterson, and Ray Sadecki. Manager Herman Franks' wife will also model, as will the wife of trainer Leo Hughes. In addition will be Mesdames Eddie Logan and Art Santo Domingo, wives of the Giants' staff.

Reservations are being accepted at the Dominican College Alumnae office, San Rafael.

Mu Phi Epsilon Meet

The first chapter meeting for the year of the San Francisco Mu Phi Epsilon, international music sorority, will be held Sept. 11 at 2:30 p.m. at the home of Marian Norberg in Tiburon.

The program will include Marian Norberg, organ; Emelia Ade, piano; Ellin Heider, voice; Rosemary McFadden, voice; and a book review by Trudi Sorensen.

A GOAL ACHIEVED—Being in the cast of the Ice Follies has long been the goal of Michele O'Bid, young San Anselmo skater. She made it this year—to open with the new season's show only three months after her graduation from Sir Francis Drake High School.

San Anselmo Skater Wins Follies Slot

Figure skating on ice has been Michele O'Bid's major preoccupation for more than half of her 18 years, and now, having landed a job with the Ice Follies, she is ready to start on a career of doing what she most enjoys doing.

Michele lives with her mother, Mrs. Louise O'Bid, at 151 Los Angeles Boulevard, San Anselmo. She has lived in San Anselmo since she was four years old, and has been skating at the Raydine ice skating rink there since she was eight.

She has passed four of the eight figure skating tests of the United States Figure Skating Assn., and started skating, and winning, in competition when she was 11. She won a second place in juvenile figure skating at 11, first place as a novice at 12, and fourth place in the junior class at 13.

High school has kept her too busy for competition since then. She graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School this June. She said she had considered college, but that it was always a second choice to being with the Ice Follies, a goal she has had for years.

She leaves tomorrow with the show for Los Angeles, where her sister, Mrs. Patricia Wheeler of Santa Monica, will have a chance to see her in the show before it leaves California to tour the United States and Canada.

Her work as a line skater involves daily rehearsals and performance in all of the Follies' seven shows each week.

She said she likes the performers she works with, many of whom are also new to the show, and is looking forward to the travel, but thinks she will miss Marin.

Sausalito Group To Meet Oct. 20

Sausalito Citizens Council directors Thursday night set the council's annual meeting for Oct. 20 at 8 p.m. in the IDESST Hall.

The council plans to present its second award for distinguished community service. The first was presented in 1964.

Thomas E. Oliver of 67 Marie Street was welcomed as a new director, replacing William U. Remensperger, who resigned for health reasons, reported Carl W. Spring, corresponding secretary.

CAT SHOW SLATED

Mice Better Leave Ross Over Weekend

More than 120 kittens and cats — including one owned by Sausalito's Sally Stanford—have been entered in the Marin County Cat Fanciers' third annual Kitten show tomorrow at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross.

Seventy-three of them are purebred kittens representing six different breeds, who will compete in a miniature version of a regular all-breed show.

The more than 50 house pets are "just plain cats" who will compete for the royal titles of king and queen, and the cat-size crowns that will accompany the titles. The entry of Miss Stanford (Marsha Owen) is among these non-pedigreed competitors.

Every house pet entered will receive an award for its most unusual feature, according to Henry Siefer of San Anselmo, president of the Marin Fanciers. The runners-up to the king and queen will be crowned as duke and duchess, and the best male and female pet kittens will receive crowns as prince and princess.

The purebred kittens — including Persians, Abyssinians, Burmese, American Shorthairs, Manx and Siamese — will be judged in three division: All-breed, longhair specialty and shorthair specialty. Judges will be, respectively, Mrs. Louise Travasso of San Jose, Mrs. Robert Weston of Pleasant Hill and Mrs. William Quiner of Hayward. Ronald Lewis of Cupertino will judge the house pets.

The show will be open to the public from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., with coronation of the feline royalty at 3 p.m.

Evening Music Classes To Be Given At College

The College of Marin will begin its evening classes in music for the fall semester Sept. 12, John H. Myers, head of the college's music department announced yesterday.

Major performing groups will be the Community Chorus, directed by Dr. S. Drummond Wolff, and the Community Band and Orchestra, both directed by Myers.

One of the latest faculty members to join the music department is Charles H. Meacham who was for many years principal second violinist of the San Francisco Symphony.

The opera workshop will begin its third year under the direction of Larry Snyder.

Other evening courses will include intermediate and advanced sections of Wynn Westover's sight singing class; the survey of American jazz, taught by Fred Gennert; and Leo Christiansen will again teach recorder playing.

Sculptures Displayed At Civic Center

A comprehensive exhibit of the works of Tomales sculptor Robert W. Cremean will begin at Civic Center Wednesday with a 7 to 10 p.m. preview.

The one-man show will continue daily from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. through September 25. It is co-sponsored by the Marin Museum Assn. and the California State Arts Commission.

Some 21 sculptures in wood, mortise, laminated wood and bronze, reflecting the 33-year-old artist's work of the past five years will be on display. The works will range in size from eight to 77 inches.

Included is "Anatomy Lesson No. 5" from the Container Corporation of America collection, a Cremean work featured in the "Great Ideas of Western Man" series and reproduced in Time Magazine.

Cremean has been a professional sculptor for the past 16 years. His work has been exhibited in every major West Coast museum and in museums and galleries through the United States and abroad.

Mrs. T. J. McWatters, vice president of the Marin Museum Assn., is exhibition coordinator and director of installation.

Mrs. Jules Becker is preview chairman and members of her preview committee include association president-elect Richard Godino.

Fort Baker Unit Gets Top Award

Second Battalion of the 51st Artillery, headquartered at Fort Baker, has been awarded the "Best Active Army Battalion" trophy for 1966 in the western states.

Col. Mel R. Russell, commanding officer of the Sixth Region, United States Army Air Defense Command, made the award yesterday at Battery C near Lucas Valley Road, San Rafael, to Maj. Frank R. Husted, commanding officer of the battalion.

Great Books Class Slated

A Junior Great Books Leader Training Class to prepare adults to conduct classes for youths from the 5th through the 12th grades will start Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at Nova Albion School, San Rafael.

The eight, two-hour weekly sessions will be taught by Howard C. Will Jr., Western Program Administrator of the Great Books Foundation.

A national, non-profit educational organization, the foundation provides tuition-free classes to train adults to lead junior and adult discussion groups.

Tri-Dimensional Art

An art show titled, "Three Dimensional Light and Sound," by Corte Madera artist Patrick Gleeson is on display at Horizons Gallery, 759 Bridgeway through Sept. 30. The exhibit includes free standing canvases with paintings and tapes inside featuring electronic music.

One Defendant Freed In Motel Holdup Case

Complaint of armed robbery against Paul Allen Poindexter, 27, in the Aug. 17 heist of $1,000 at Edgewater Inn motel in Corte Madera was dismissed yesterday in Marin Municipal Court after two victims failed to identify him.

The dismissal on grounds of insufficient evidence by Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. came on recommendation of Deputy Dist. Atty. Joshua Thomas during Poindexter's preliminary hearing.

The victims, who both testified as state's witnesses, were Milo Johnson, clerk at the motel, and Richard V. Spenser of Redwood Valley, who had entered the motel to confirm reservations.

Although police said both Poindexter and a co-defendant, Ronald H. Berg, 21, were identified by victims as the robbers, both Spenser and Johnson were unable to do so during the hearing, according to court officials.

The dismissal does not affect the complaint charging Berg with the robbery. He currently is in San Francisco jail on robbery charges there.

Poindexter also had at least four witnesses waiting to testify that he was with them at a party in Sacramento the night of the holdup, according to his attorney, Jerome Durham, public defender.

Poindexter, a San Quentin parolee, was not immediately released from county jail because of a hold by his parole officer.

Humane Society Sets Horse Care Training

A free six-week course on horse care will be held beginning Sept. 24 by the Humane Society of Marin County at the Southern Marin Horsemen's Arena, Blithedale and Camino Alto avenues, Mill Valley.

Subjects will range from horse anatomy to trail riding and proper shoeing. Registration may be made at the society's office at 402 Third Street, San Rafael.

About eight pounds of maple sugar are obtained from a gallon of syrup taken from trees and boiled down.

Tomales Board To Choose Firm

The Tomales High School District Board Thursday night interviewed the last two of four prospective architects for the district.

The first two were interviewed Tuesday night.

The board set Sept. 8 to choose the architect to design new buildings for the district. Firms under consideration are: Crawford and Banning of San Rafael, McGuire and Eatough of Sacramento, Marshall and Bowles of San Francisco, and Akol and Associates of San Francisco.

Supt. Anothony Matulich announced registration for high school will be on Sept. 12, with school being dismissed at 2 p.m. Regular classes will start Sept. 13.

JAZZ MASS IN IGNACIO CHURCH

The Vince Guaraldi Trio, backed by choristers, performs the Guaraldi Mass at Ignacio Episcopal Church, to be televised on KPIX at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday. The program will examine the role of the church in society today, focusing on the Ignacio church. Bishop James Pike will narrate and comment.

LARGE CROWDS

Marin Crusade Moves To Hamilton Chapel

The Christ For Marin Crusade moves tomorrow to Hamilton Air Force Base where greater accomodation exists to handle the overflow crowds that have flocked to Marin churches this past week.

Chief magnet to the crusade—sponsored by some 16 churches—has been Dr. John E. Hunter, British author, Biblical scholar and educator now touring the United States.

The vibrant and distinguished Englishman is the principal speaker at this year's crusade as the guest of Baptist, Nazerene, Assembly of God, First Christian and Evangelical Free churches in Marin.

The second week of the crusade, open to all faiths and denominations, opens with services at 9:45 and 11 a.m. at Chapel No. 1 at Hamilton field.

There will be a 3 to 7:30 p.m. service tomorrow at Marin Evangelical Free Church, San Rafael.

Other services will be held at 7:45 p.m. Monday through Friday at the Air Force base.

Bishop Pike To Deliver Farewell Sermon Sunday

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Rt. Rev. James A. Pike will deliver his farewell sermon as Episcopal bishop of California tomorrow at 11 a.m. at Grace Cathedral.

Bishop Pike, whose resignation as diocesan is effective Sept. 15, has joined the staff of the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions at Santa Barbara.

His topic will be "What a Man Can Believe."

Bishop Pike has been in charge of the diocese of California eight years.

He and Mrs. Pike have moved to Santa Barbara but are maintaining a small apartment in San Francisco for use on his weekly visits to lecture in law at Boalt Hall, University of California, Berkeley. The churchman also is an attorney.

His successor as bishop of California will be elected at a special convention in San Francisco, Sept. 13.

CARDINAL TO RETIRE

Giacomo Cardinal Lercardo has announced that he will offer his resignation as Archbishop of Bologna because of old age. He is the first Cardinal to make such an announcement since Pope Paul VI suggested earlier this month that heads of dioceses retire by age 75. The Cardinal is 74.

Adult Religious Education Urged By Church Leaders

By LOUIS CASSELS

NEW YORK (UPI)—For many years, churches and synagogues have focused their religious education efforts on children.

The wisdom of this approach, so long taken for granted, is now being widely challenged.

From Protestants, Catholics and Jews comes the revolutionary suggestion that adults should be the primary targets of religious education programs.

"The key to Christian education in the church is really the informed adult," says Dr. W. Kent Gilbert III of Philadelphia, executive secretary of the Board of Parish Education, Lutheran Church in America.

It does little good to send a child to Sunday school for an hour a week, he says, if the rest of his time is spent among adults woh are ignorant of or indifferent to Christian teachings.

"Unless we can have an informed laity, efforts to bring up children in the faith will be largely vitiated by what they learn from the adult community," Gilbert said.

Dr. Frank E. Gaebelein, co-editor of the magazine Christianity Today, agrees that "adult Christian education is a field that cries out for initiative on the part of pastors and boards, sessions and vestries."

"If for no other reason than that there can never be good Sunday school teaching without teachers who know the Bible, we must begin now to overcome the biblical and doctrinal illiteracy which is so prevalent among adult church members," he says.

"The family, not the school or the church, is the single most effective educational agency. But most parents desperately need some basic religious education of their own before they can fulfill their responsibility for the Christian training of their children at home."

Catholic educators from all parts of the United States reached a similar conclusion at a recent Washington conference of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine.

They urged parishes to curtail expansion of youth work for a while, and concentrate on fostering deeper understanding and commitment among adults.

The Union of American Hebrew Congregations has also decided that grownups are the crux of the religious education problem. It has asked all reform temples to give high priority to well-conducted adult classes in Judaism.

Dr. Grant S. Shockley, professor of religious education at Garrett Theological Seminary, Evanston, Ill., emphasizes that adults need religious training for their own sakes, and not merely to equip them to teach children.

"The massive problems of our rapidly changing society are bringing traumatic experiences upon adults," he says. "They not only must help youth to face these changes constructively, but they also must master the transition themselves."

His statement is corroborated by a private survey conducted by the Lutheran Church in America. It shows that many church-going adults ,who have a strong faith in God, are bewildered by fast-moving events of our time, and are very uncertain about the application of Christian principles to specific social and personal problems.

To help them, the Lutheran Church in America has launched an experimental project called "the thinking man's religion." It consists of filmed interviews with people of outstanding competence in fields such as theology, diplomacy, sociology and psychology. The films will be available to local churches as a teaching resource and discussion-starter in adult classes.

The United Presbyterian Church is preparing to bring up a new church school curriculum which will have adults meeting in the same classes with high school juniors and seniors to study the relation of biblical insights to present-day living.

Several denominations are looking into the possibility of applying "programmed learning" techniques to adult religious education.

Some religious educators question whether new techniques are really needed. Adults who have been knocked around by life for a while are apt to be much more receptive to religious teaching—through books, lectures or other conventional means—than are young people.

Perhaps all that's necessary is for each church and synagogue to recognize that it's not only the lambs but also the adult sheep who need feeding.

Jewish High Holidays Highlighted On Radio

To mark the Jewish High Holidays, which begin at sundown Sept. 14, radio station KGO will begin a series of four special Sunday broadcasts tomorrow.

Rabbi Sanford E. Selzer, director of the New England Council of the Union of American Hebrew Congregation, will preside over each of the four broadcasts, whose times will be carried in the radio log each Saturday.

"How Great Thou Art"

"How Great Thou Art" will be the topic of Rev. Byron Ross at tomorrow's service at 2:30 p.m. at Marin Central Church, Mill Valley. Refreshments will be offered after the service.

Baptist Donations Gain 10 Per Cent

Contributions for missionary work by Baptist churches topped $31 in the first seven months of 1966 and are running almost 10 per cent ahead of last year, the Southern Baptist Convention's executive committee has reported.

The $31,563,466 reported by the committee included more than $13.5 million through the convention's cooperative program and almost $18 million contributed to designated mission causes. The total contributions were an increase of $2.7 millions aboue the 1965 level for the same period.

Rev. Gene W. Burris Guest In Santa Cruz

Rev. Gene Wu Burris, pastor of Sleepy Hollow Presbyterian Church will speak on "The Role Of a Christian Today" at tomorrow's Family Conference on the Redwood Christian Conference Grounds in the Santa Cruz mountains.

Rev. Burris will speak at the invitation of the Couples Club of the First Presbyterian Church of Sunnyvale.

His place in the Sleepy Hollow pulpit will be taken tomorrow by John Langfitt, who is studying for his Bachelor of Divinity degree at the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo.

Religious Programs Televised Tomorrow

The Baha'i faith, an independent religion founded in Persia in 1844 and now having adherents in 270 countries and territories, will be the subject of tomorrow's "Lamp Unto My Feet" television program on CBS' channel 5 at 8 a.m.

That program will be followed at 8:30 a.m. by a half-hour discussion of a newly completed study of Catholic elementary and secondary education conducted by Notre Dame University on a $350,000 Carnegie Corp. grant.

Rev. Arthur Nitz To Be Installed

Rev. Arthur C. Nitz will be installed as pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, San Rafael, at the regular 10:30 a.m. service tomorrow.

The brief installation service will be conducted by Rev. Harold Johnson of Peace Lutheran Church, Mill Valley.

Rev. Nitz will take as his first text: "Together We Shall Build This Church." He and his family have moved to San Rafael from San Francisco and will live at 117 Convent Court.

Dr. Schurman Returns To Aldersgate Pulpit

Dr. Paul Schurman returns tomorrow tto the pulpit at Aldersgate Methodis Church, Terra Linda, after a vacation with his family in the East.

The fall schedule begins with his return, the Worship and Education Commissinon has announced.

Worship services and church school will be held at 9 ad 10:30 a.m. Sundays with a fellowship period in between. Classes for nursery through sixth grade students will be held at both times, while high school students meet at 9 a.m. and those in junior high at 10:30 a.m.

Baptists To Crusade In Three Americas

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (UPI)—Initial plans for a vast cooperative Baptist evangelistic campaign in North, Central and South America, were mapped out by Baptists from 25 countries at a meeting in Cali, Colombia, reports the American Baptist News Service.

The campaign will be known as the Crusade of Americas. More than 100 Baptists from the 25 countries attended the three-day session, most of which was devoted to setting up an organizational structure through which the Baptist organizations will coordinate their evangelistic efforts.

Vestry To Meet

There will be a special meeting of the vestry at St. Francis Church, Novato, at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

Archbishop Is Knighted

Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken became a knight of an ancient Swedish order in a ceremony of investiture Monday in Old St. Mary's Church, San Francisco.

His nomination to the 600-year-old Military Order of His Holy Savior and St. Brigita of Sweden was announced by Karl Christian Weber, consul general of Austria and governor of the order for California.

Knighthood in the order is conferred on those who have excelled in literature, the arts and sciences, or concern for philanthropic or civic causes.

The purpose of the order, founded in 1366, is the propagation of the faith and the dissemination of information about the founder and patron of the order of St. Francis of Assisi, according to Weber.

Lutheran Women To Meet In Terra Linda

Women's groups of Resurrection Lutheran Church, San Rafael, and Faith Lutheran Church, Terra Linda, will gather for a special program at the latter church at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

Rev. Norman Bangert, Resurrection pastor, will speak on the history of the Missouri Synod. Faith Lutheran pastor Bliss Bellinger will speak on the history of the Lutheran Church in America.

The meeting, open to the public, will include a worship service.

Adventist Leaders Shift Top Posts

GLENDALE—A shifting of top western Seventh-day Adventist leaders by executive boards of the faith has been announced by western headquarters of the denomination here.

Reinhold R. Bietz, Glendale, president of the Adventists' Pacific Union Conference, said the following changes have been made:

William J. Blacker, 52, Glendale, secretary-treasurer (second ranking executive officer) of the Pacific Union Conference of Adventists for the past nine years, has been elected president of the Washinbton Conference of Seventh-day Adventists.

William D. Walton, 57, St. Helena, Calif., administrator of the 195-bed St. Helena Sanitarium and Hospital for the past ten years, has been named secretary of the Pacific Union Conference.

Alvin G. Munson, 55, Glendale, formerly assistant to the president of the Pacific Union Conference, has been named treasurer of the western church headquarters.

Daniel E. Dirksen, 57, Glendale, lay activities director of the Pacific Union Conference for the past eight years, has been named president of the Nevada-Utah Conference of Seventh-day Adventists.

Protests By Students May Be Healthy Sign

NEW YORK (UPI)—The recent wave of student protest movements was seen by several speakers at an interfaith meeting of educators as a healthy sign of personal growth in the impersonal atmosphere of big universities, says The Religious Newsweekly. The meeting, attended by presidents, deans and faculty of 350 Protestans and Roman Catholic colleges, was held in Richmond, Ind.

One speaker, Dr. Joseph Gusfield of the University of Illinois, said agitation against the war in Viet Nam was the result of the students' "sharp sense of powerlessness" in determining policies which affect their lives.

"Teach Us To Pray"

● LOOK ●

You must see the area in homes that are changing ideas in Tiburon. Almost entirely surrounded by open, rolling hills. A sight to fit everyone, from completely level to dramatic views. Our first home is sold, but we have four more now under construction, each offering excitingly different architectural concepts such as massive stone fireplaces, cathedral ceilings, and soaring spaces. We invite your inspection.

OPEN TODAY

Lawmakers Hope To Plug Cash Torrent

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A move is afoot in the House to rein in the runaway Medicaid program, the "sleeper" Title 19 section of the Medicare Act which threatens to cost the federal government billions of dollars Congress never intended to spend.

Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., influential chairman of the Ways & Means Committee, disclosed Friday that he hoped to clear a bill next week clapping restrictions on spending under Title 19.

This Medicare provision, known in New York as "Medicaid," is a broadened and improved version of the old Kerr-Mills program of matching federal-state grants for a variety of health care programs.

It specifically permits states to set up federally subsidized health care programs for the medically indigent—those patients too poor to pay their doctor bills.

The major slip which Congress overlooked was the specification that the states themselves determine who is medically indigent.

Congress reeled when New York set eligibility requirements that would permit so many persons to benefit under Medicaid that the federal share would be in the neighborhood of a staggering $217 million the first year.

Congress had estimated that only $238 million would be spent under Title 19 for the entire United States the first year.

The main reason for the unexpectedly enormous New York price tag was the state's eligibility regulations. A family of four with an income under $6,000 a year, for example, would be eligible for Medical help, a much more liberal requirement than Congress envisioned.

'TREE' HOUSE IN TROUBLE

Fort Worth, Tex., residents Allen Brown, 12, and brother Charles, 11, are mournfully contemplating a court appearance order over their towering clubhouse. After a neighbor objected to loss of privacy, and the city building inspector found the two-story structure illegal for the zoning, the boys today vowed they'll fight for their youthful rights.

Congress Dragging Heels Over Johnson's Teacher Corps Cash

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Johnson has failed in his effort to get money from Congress to send the first of his elite national teacher corps volunteers into poverty-area schools on schedule next week.

Johnson has been trying all year to get $31 million from Congress to subsidize the salaries of 3,700 veteran teachers and interns needed to upgrade instruction of deprived school children.

The best he was able to get was $10 million to start training recruits. The House rejected the fund request for starting the program in the schools, and the Senate appropriations committee has not even acted on the matter.

Charges have been made by members of the House Appropriations Committee that the administration is trying to evade its strict orders to do no more than train corpsmen this year. The committee is investigating reports that some schools already have been assigned teacher corps members who are being paid out of training funds as a form of "on the job" training.

Advocates of the controversial program believe the Senate Committee will vote for sufficient funds to pay the first year salaries of at least the 350 "team leaders" and 1,200 beginning teachers who have been undergoing special training this summer.

But time has run out to get the money before the 1966 school year begins. And with a civil rights filibuster in prospect for the Senate when it returns to work after Labor Day, the most optimistic estimate for action on the teacher corps money is "sometime in October."

This, of course, casts the whole program into doubt. Schools have long since made their arrangements for regular teachers, and members of the fledgling corps find themselves caught in the middle of a political battle as the children troop back to school.

The National Education Association spoke its piece on the teacher corps issue earlier this week.

Speaking of the 1,550 trainees, executive secretary Don Davies of the NEA National Commission on Teacher Education and Professional Standards said "these corpsmen who have received intensive special training on 42 college campuses this summer have intelligence, talent and high motivation that should not be wasted."

PROJECT NO. 133
RED ROCK WAY SLIDE
LOS RANCHITOS
MARIN COUNTY DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS, SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA
NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Sealed Proposals will be received by the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin, State of California, until 10:00 A.M., September 12, 1966, for:

Construction of a drainage gallery and necessary appurtenances to be constructed in a slide area on Red Rock Way near San Rafael, California. The gallery will extend about 176 feet along Red Rock Way and into adjacent private property.

The work shall be done in accordance with official plans and specifications prepared in reference thereto which may be seen at the office of the Department of Public Works, County of Marin. Request for forms or information shall be addressed to the Department of Public Works, County of Marin, Civic Center, San Rafael, California.

Plans, Specifications (but not including Standard Specifications or other documents included by reference), and Proposal Forms may be obtained by prospective bidders upon payment of a deposit of Ten Dollars ($10.00) cash or check made payable to the Department of Public Works, County of Marin, to guarantee safe return of the plans and specifications within ten (10) days after bid opening. Failure to so return the plans and specifications will cause forfeiture of the deposit to the County.

All bids must be submitted on the Proposal Form obtained from the Director of Public Works and shall be accompanied by a Proposal Guaranty of at least ten per cent (10%) of the bid. Guaranties shall be in the form of a certified or Cashier's Check or a Bidder's Bond. Failure of the successful bidder to execute and return the contract, or to file acceptable bond, as required, within the time allotted shall be cause for the annulment of the award and the forfeiture of the Proposal Guaranty. All guaranties not so retained by the County shall be returned to the bidders within fifteen (15) days after the award of the contract.

Proposals shall be filed with George H. Gnoss, Clerk of the Board of Supervisors, Civic Center, San Rafael, California.

For securing plans and specifications, please refer to Paragraph 4 above.

Said proposals will be opened and read at 10:00 A.M. in Room No. 326, Marin County Civic Center, on the day specified above for receiving bids. Only the total amount of the bid will be read and not specific items going to make up said total unless written request for reading of each sub-total and individual items of the bid is requested in writing at the time of the submission of proposals. Bidders will be at liberty to inspect and review bids in the Office of the Director of Public Works to which they will be removed for the purpose of checking after the opening and reading of the totals.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors will award the bid at 1:30 P.M., Sept. 13th, 1966, or as soon thereafter as the matter may be heard.

Bids are required for the entire work described herein, and neither partial bids nor contingent bids will be considered.

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

Pigeons Go On Secret Mercy Trip

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — There's a hush-hush exile in progress for San Francisco's pigeons.

The city has too many of them. Officials said recently there was a state of emergency that called for something drastic — like killing them.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals rushed into action. So far, at a cost of around $1,000, it has exiled 2,000 pigeons.

Trapped in baited cages, they are being sent away to the ranches of SPCA friends.

"We have decided not to tell anybody where we are sending the pigeons," said G.C. Willis, the SPCA assistant secretary.

Some friends of the pigeons are sabotaging the traps.

Norman Mally, of a Los Angeles firm supplying some of the trappers, said of the saboteurs: "I'll go along with goofy characters for a time, but there's a limit to everything."

One pigeon lover was seen climbing a roof on Hyde Street to get at a trap.

"If we catch any of these people in the act," Mally warned, "we'll drag 'em off to the police station by the hair."

Deer Gets Blame In Injury Crash

Three Marin county youths were injured when their car swerved off De Burgh Drive and plunged 120 feet down a slope near Raven Road, Sleepy Hollow, around midnight today.

Treated in Marin General Hospital were the driver, Robert W. De Martini, 19, of 10 Olema Road, Fairfax, for a sprained shoulder and Robert L. Hahn, 18, of 250 Crescent Drive, San Anselmo, and Joan Sevenair, 20, of 159 Oakmanor Drive, Fairfax, both for multiple scrapes and bruises.

De Martini told the California Highway Patrol that he tried to avoid a deer and lost control of his westbound vehicle.

A single female cod fish may spawn as many as nine million eggs.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Underactive Thyroid Common Cause Of Fatigue For Elderly

VAN DELLEN

An underactive thyroid is a common cause of fatigue in the olderly. When the deficiency is corrected with thyroid extract vigor often returns. Some authorities believe that the product also has a tendency to retard the aging process.

Hypothryroidism is not always easy to detect. For this reason metabolism and blood tests are suggested whenever there is the slightest clue that the organ is lazy. Fatigue, the most frequent manifestation, begins so insidiously it may go undetected for months or years. The victim has trouble getting started in the morning and in time finds he has to push himself to perform the daily tasks. Others lack ambition or feel drowsy most of the day. They find it difficult to withstand the cold; each succeeding winter appears to be more severe than the previous one. More clothes are needed to keep warm, and the thermostat is given an occasional nudge to overcome the chilliness of the room.

AN INADEQUATE amount of the thyroid hormone also impairs the circulation to the hands and feet, which are cold despite all protective measures such as woolen socks and gloves. There is a tendency to gain weight even though the diet remains the same. Co-existing signs include indigestion, flatulence, vague aches and pains, and stiffness of the muscles of the back and extremities. Menstrual disorders, insomnia, and sterility may occur. Anemia that fails to respond to iron and liver shots may be associated with a shortage of thyroid secretion.

Hyperthyroidism is not always this obscure. A small percentage of individuals develop myxedema, which is easier to detect. Puffiness of face, eyelids, and tongue occurs, the skin is dry and rough, and the hair is brittle and coarse. As metabolism falls lower and lower, mental and physical inertia deepens. The majority of victims are apathetic and have all they can do to get going.

THYROID EXTRACT is the remedy, and the response is miraculous when the substance is used properly. However, accurate dosage is not easy to determine because it varies from person to person. Too much induces nervousness, increased sweating, palpitation of the heart, chest pain, and diarrhea. Small doses usually are successful in oldsters, because, as a rule, the deficiency is slight.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

NAIL BRITTLENESS

A reader writes: My fingernails are very brittle and lack luster. What could be causing this condition?

REPLY

Brittleness of the nails may be caused by polish removers, nail polish, or injury. Poor nails also may be due to emotional tension, a deficiency of protein in the diet, and hypothyroidism.

MULTIPLE SCLEROSIS

M. M. writes: Is multiple sclerosis considered a disease of youth?

REPLY

This disease rarely appears before age 15 or after age 55. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on multiple sclerosis.

Air Force Gets 13 Marin Youths

Thirteen Marinites enlisted in the Air Force during August and are in basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Tex., Marin County Air Force Recruiter Sgt. Erhardt E. (Ski) Bonkowski announced today.

The young men, all enlistees for four years in the regular Air Force, are: Ronald E. Laufer of San Rafael; Donald C. Schlag of San Anselmo, Helmut K. Schmid Jr. of Novato, Michael D. Baker of Novato, William D. Berlew of San Rafael, Glen H. Corona of San Rafael, George W. Gentes of Larkspur, John D. Petersdorf of Fairfax, Philip C. Williams of Belvedere, Scott R. Henderson of San Rafael, Ronald S. Petersen of Novato, Jess K. Foglesgong of San Rafael, and Kurt C. Lehman of Belvedere.

Men enlisting now, Sgt. Bonkowski said, would leave for their six weeks of basic training in October. His office is at 819 A Street, San Rafael.

Police Overpower Checks Suspect

A 30-year-old San Rafael man was arrested on a felony bad check charge after a struggle at his home last night.

Patrolman Arthur Myers reported that John Davis tried to run out the rear door of his apartment at 815 C Street. After stating that he wouldn't be arrested by any means, Davis fought off arrest, Myers said.

Myers, who called for help, booked Davis on $2,750 bail. Davis was wanted on a San Anselmo Police warrant charging him with writing $202.15 worth of bad checks at the United Markets, 100 Red Hill Avenue.

Who Says News Is Not Managed At The Source?

THE ONLY WAY THAT news can be managed, says Arthur Sylvester, is by the editor who edits it.

This statement, considering its source, must be accorded the biggest horse laugh of the week.

Arthur "Managed News" Sylvester, assistant Secretary of Defense for public information, was called before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to discuss the Defense Department's role in dealing with news coverage of the Viet Nam war.

On previous occasions Sylvester has been quoted by reporters as having advocated government management of the release of information to the public. When a public uproar ensued, he claimed he had been misquoted.

TRYING TO TELL senators that the only way news can be managed is by the editor who edits it is the height of foolishness. Nearly every senator nowadays has on his office staff an information specialist of some sort who excels in preparing news and releases designed to make his senator-boss look good to the constituents back home.

In other words, the Senators know from personal experience how news can be managed at the source.

As Sylvester well knows, in deciding what shall be released, how and when it shall be released and by deciding what shall not be released, government officials do manage the news.

"I don't know what managed news is," Sylvester told the Senators.

Pass the bromo and the aspirin, quick.

SOME YEARS AGO, Hamilton Air Force Base had an especially admirable base commander. He had an heroic war record. His devotion to the service of his fellowman was unquestioned.

This honorable gentleman was in command at Hamilton when a visiting general executed a blunder on landing and piled up his valuable Air Force plane on the dike at the Bay end of the runway. This mishap cost the taxpayers mightily.

No word of it ever came out of Hamilton through official channels, although there was a drive on at the time to develop better community relations by releasing more information to the public.

As is inevitably the case, word of the crash reached the I-J in a fairly short time and soon thereafter it was appropriately reported in the columns of this newspaper.

Not long afterward, I found myself elbow-to-elbow with the esteemed Hamilton Commander at a cocktail party and soon was launched into a sermon on the evils of withholding essential news from the public, especially when the news involves costly damage to or destruction of property paid for by taxpayers.

With admirable honesty and candor the colonel looked your editor straight in the eye and said simply and plainly, "If you think I'm going to run to the phone and let your newspaper know every time some visiting brass hat fouls up on my Base, you have another think a-coming."

IF ASSISTANT DEFENSE Secretary Sylvester needs to have "managed news" defined so he can understand it, let him call upon that former Hamilton Base Commander.

Senator Fullbright said the problem "seems intensified by a public suspicion that our government is deliberately refraining from providing adequate and accurate information."

Fullbright is right.

Sylvester's silly protestations don't serve the public good.

The candid colonel from Hamilton was admirable for his honesty. Sylvester is not.

Of Stamens And Pistels

Let's talk about sex. It is a good lively story. Always good for a few laughs. Even the love life of flowers.

Those who think sex is dirty might reflect for a moment or two about the flowers. What are flowers? Flowers are plainly and simply the sex organs of plants. It is a bit amusing to think of prim little old ladies without an impure thought, waxing enthusiastic about the sex organs one another have grown. Or is it?

Maybe it just demonstrates that Nature is a grander, more complex thing than we are aware of most of the time. A scientist could spend a lifetime studying the chemistry of a millet seed before and after it sprouts, and still not know all the answers about millet seeds.

Bouquets And Brickbats

BRICKBATS to individuals who are guilty of the most bestial cruelty against fellow creatures — tying and weighting down live pigeons and then placing them before oncoming traffic.

BOUQUETS to civic-minded San Anselmo residents who are using pick and shovel to work on the recreation department's landscaping project in front of the city library, as part of a plan to revamp the downtown area.

A BOUQUET to Frank Jess Olveira of Petaluma, a passerby who went to the aid of Novato police in subduing a suspect in a Novato field last week. Police had chased the suspect at 120 miles per hour on 101, then caught him in a field when he skidded to a halt and ran.

A BOUQUET to Maj. Gen. Andrew R. Lolli of Hamilton Air Force Base, commander of the Western North American Air Defense Command, who retired this week after 26 years of military service.

A BOUQUET to the City of Fairfax for cutting the tax rate for the coming year, and to all other public agencies which make an effort to ease the burden on taxpayers.

A BOUQUET to Maurice H. Picard of San Rafael, who retired after 44 years of switchboard installation and teletype repair for the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. His cheerful disposition and quiet and efficient manner will be missed by his many clients.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

LITTLE GIRL OUTWITS ABDUCTOR

An eight-year-old girl escaped from her kidnaper and managed to make a telephone call to her anxious parents.

Fifteen minutes later she was safely reunited with them, ending her 24-hour disappearance.

The girl had been forced by an abductor into a car in front of her Bastrop, La., home the night before.

He took her to an old two-story house and confined her in the attic. The next morning he went out and the quick-thinking youngster raced out of the house to a nearby nursery and made the phone call.

She was well and apparently unharmed.

Seldom do young people have such a striking opportunity to show their resourcefulness.

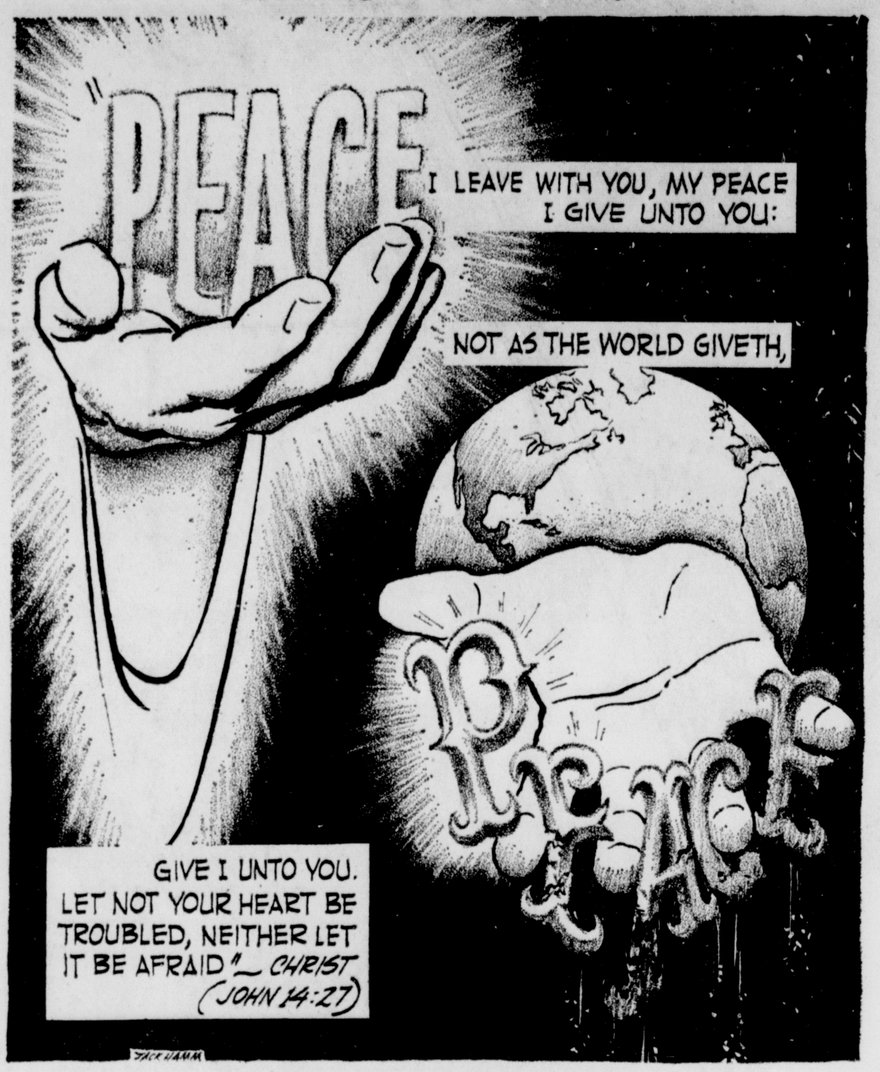
But parents should try to bring up their children so that they will put into practice early the potential for greatness the Lord has given them.

If they do, they may someday have the satisfaction of seeing their sons and daughters self-reliant when they launch out on their own.

"God did not give us a spirit of timidity but a spirit of power and love and self-control." (2 Timothy 1:7)

Grant me the vision, Lord, to put reasonable trust in everyone I meet, especially the young.

THERE'S A DIFFERENCE



WHAT OUR READERS SAY

On Rivalry Between Beatles And Christ

Editor, Independent-Journal:

There is not much need to be concerned about the "rivalry" between the "beetles" and Jesus.

You see Jesus had a choice in picking his disciples. He could so easily have chosen musicians. There were plenty of them around even then. David did alright with his harp; and his "songs" have endured for centuries. . . .

Or Jesus could have chosen soldiers, described by Shakespeare as: "Full of strange oaths, and bearded like the bard, Jealous in honor, sudden and quick in quarrel, Seeking the bubble reputation."

Quite "Mod" isn't it?

But Jesus chose the "thick" more profound intelligence of the stalwart men of the sea rather than the beclouded thinking of the intellectuals of the high courts and temples. . .

And Jesus possessed keen understanding and insight too.

When one of his friends would have defended Him with his sword and actually did cut off an ear of one of the servants of the high priest, Jesus quickly healed the man and said in effect, "Let the blood be on the hands of those who would crucify me. They will never be able to live it down."

So good bye beetle-boys. It's been fun knowing you!

Plea Sounded For Dipsea Tradition

Editor, Independent-Journal:

With the Dipsea race over for another year there is time to give the matter of changing its course to circumvent private property some more thought.

I would like to encourage Mr. Tonelli to allow the continuance of the event across their property. I know if I were in their shoes I would be quite proud to have become, whether witlessly or otherwise, an "official" patron, along with the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce of a County event extending over a span of 56 years.

It would, indeed, change an aspect of the race if there no longer existed an opportunity to break Norman Bright's 1937 record. It is, I believe, such events as the Dipsea race unchanged that help put down the roots of a colorful chronicle in Marin County history!

Personal Hospital Care Is Praised

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Recently, due to an accident, it was necessary for me to be hospitalized.

I chose Terra Linda Valley Hospital, and would like to use this means of expressing my thanks for the tender, personal care I was given—Dr. Dufficy, Dr. Lowe, X-ray technician, nurses, aides, volunteers—I wish I could name all of you personally.

There was even a personal visit from the director of volunteers and the dietician offering to take care of any extra "whim."

All of this gave me the feeling I was an individual—not just another patient.

Marin Is Fortunate In Mental Center

Editor, Independent-Journal:

One of the late President Kennedy's primary domestic interests was the establishment of mental health facilities on the community level. This concept grew from the realization that mental health was an increasing national problem and that the best way to meet it was in the community where the individual genesis of the problem was located.

We are fortunate that Marin County has taken a giant stride in bringing this vision of the President into an operating reality. The Ross Psychiatric Center has been established with its central purpose the treating of mental health problems in the troubled individual's immediate environment.

In a time when many are decrying the lack of local initiative in tackling pressing social problems, here is a project conceived and launched locally deserving our attention and support. I realize we are bombarded with requests for help, especially financial, daily from many worthwhile sources. But here in the Ross Psychiatric Center is both a challenge and an opportunity. If the Center can demonstrate community support, it will be enabled to secure foundation grants and other sources of revenue.

Call the Center and ask what you can do to help. The direct benefit to Marin County in terms of emotional health and, hopefully, reduced necessity for reliance on state facilities requires action on our part now.

Johnson's Regime Brings 'Chaos'

Editor, Independent-Journal:

"One thousand days" of the Johnson Administration and we have chaos.

Congress cringes before the Supreme Court, the unions, the communists, racial minorities and crafty executive politicking.

A monomaniacal fear stalks the White House and the halls of Congress—re-election. Like one senator said, "There are times when we must rise above principle." Huh! So, there isn't one segment of our society where votes are not being sought by some contrived give-away.

Law and order, morality, patriotism and religious doctrine have become "dirty words." Dirty words have become "freedom of speech." Anarchy breeds in the streets, fed by millions of tax dollars.

Management is held in check, while vote-rich unions are placated.

Our whole economy trembles in the hands of a new breed of economist. Inflation is blamed on everything but the real culprit, government deficit spending.

In the meantime, back at the mint, government prints more blackmail money, the dollar goes on shrinking and our gold supply in Fort Knox isn't sufficient to meet our foreign obligations.

Big Brother is killing state and local governments with "kindness"—like Urban Renewal, Aid to Education, Demonstration Cities and now, the proposed Income Tax collection merger.

Poverty is the watchword.

But, while the beggar stands before Uncle Sam with one greedy hand outstretched for alms, the other hand holds a knife at his throat and the beggar's eyes are filled with an abiding hate—an indoctrinated hate!

What are you going to do about it, Mr. Voter?

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Urban 'Problem' Is Psychological; Hopes Outrun Achievements

By ANDREW J. GLASS
(Roscoe Drummond is on vacation.)

WASHINGTON—In trying to devise a major program for the next Congress to cope with the problems of the nation's cities, President Johnson is clearly mounting a far-reaching change in Administration policy.

Until now the White House often directed the government's role in meeting urban needs toward the Negro slums. The "city problem," in Mr. Johnson's eyes, was largely viewed as yet another aspect of the "civil rights problem."

It is only recently that the President has become politically aware that a nation reared in the country has moved into the cities. Since nearly four of every five Americans now live in or close to urban centers and since the nation's Negro population amounts to about 12 per cent of the total, it is clear that the "city problem" is far larger than merely "civil rights."

But just what is the problem that Mr. Johnson sees?

ASIDE FROM the fight to bar racial bias in housing, the main presidential push in 1966 has focused on a "demonstration cities program." This concept, however, never really caught hold in Congress, largely because the President was never really precise on just what was to be "demonstrated."

The chief difficulty confronting White House staffers currently trying to devise an even broader-based Federal program for the cities for 1967 is the painful need to form a clear set of goals and priorities. In short, Mr. Johnson and his advisers must determine exactly what it is that they are seeking to accomplish.

Is it to raise standards of living and thus broaden the choices in obtaining housing? Is it to revitalize the ugly commercial centers of the cities while combating even uglier suburban sprawl? Is it to end discrimination and check rising crime and delinquency? Is it to reduce traffic snarls and to improve the quality of urban design? Is it to make local planning and citizen participation really work?

All these goals sound attractive and desirable. But, unhappily, in many cases they are incompatible.

The real "problem" in the cities is psychological: expectations are rising faster than achievements. As more and more affluent suburbs grow around the central cities, each laced with neat lawns and fine schools, the apparent gap between life in the core and at the periphery increases.

MEANTIME, THE central city still remains the place where key members of the nation's elite choose to live. It is this group, more than any other, that sets the tone for public discussion of the "urban problem." Simply put this group is distressed to find that the keeping up of a highly urban style of life is being threatened by an expanding need to give the new urban poor—mostly Negro—a place to be housed, employed, and educated before they can be assimilated into the mainstream of American middle-class life.

These psychological urban problems can never be solved; they can only be coped with. That, as Mr. Johnson may yet discover, is one of the inevitable tensions in a society committed to self-improvements.

Green Berets Cannot Afford Race Prejudice

By WHITNEY M. YOUNG Jr.
Third of Four Articles

What sort of Negro GI is the Viet Nam military conflict spawning? What are this GI's aims? His hopes? His ambitions? His skills? Does he know why he's in Viet Nam?

These were some of the questions which churned through my mind as I rode the planes, the highways and the back-alleys criss-crossing Viet Nam villages and towns in search of Negro military personnel with whom I could talk.

I was looking for Negro GIs with whom I could shake hands and let them know that we back home had them on our minds, are deeply interested in them and want to know what's happening to them.

There were dozens and dozens of conversations with individual Negro GIs in all branches of the services, up in the hills, in planes, at airports, in their living compounds, at their duty stations and in the hospitals.

Fairly typical of a wide selection of these men is one whom I shall never forget — Master Sgt. Frederick Robinson, 36, of Memphis, Tenn. Sgt. Robinson heads an outfit of the famed, precise and effective Special Forces — The Green Berets.

TOUGH, brilliant, knowledgeable Master Sgt. Robinson makes one want to stand up and shout "hooray for our side!" He made no bones about telling us, as his white Southern commanding officer stood by silently and beamed on him with pride, that, "We don't keep a man who's prejudiced in the Green Berets. We're a close-knit fighting team and we don't stand for any nonsense! When every other member of the team's life is dependent upon the other, we can't afford that type of person. We get rid of him quickly."

At a later briefing session in his headquarters, at an undisclosed forward fighting location near the Cambodian border, Sgt. Robinson proceeded to untangle a TV-weatherman's-type map of confusion of lines and curves and numbers into a meaningful dialogue, which fairly took one's breath away.

FROM ALL appearances, even his officers stood back and let him operate things — at least to a point. I talked to many, many other Negro GIs who displayed similar dedication and knowledge of their tasks.

Master Sgt. Robinson, a 17-year veteran of military services, was on his second tour of duty in Viet Nam.

As a member of the Green Berets he, of course, also had to qualify as a paratrooper and go through the most rigorous, highly-specialized training possible for a member of the military.

IT IS MEN such as he who are most firm when they say that after the service they have given to their country they will expect no less than equal treatment when they return to their homeland and to civilian life. He is soon to do just that, and also to marry and to settle down.

"I'll take care of myself when I get back home," he says with assuredness. "There's no reason why the Negro can't have what everyone else has in the United States," he declared, "if he's qualified."

And this man, like the others with whom I talked, has a world of experience and disciplined training which can be a boon for this nation in business, in industry, in any area of endeavor he chooses. If he gets the opportunity.

Otherwise, all of his experiences and discipline, if not given this opportunity to be used for good, in the face of expanding conflict between the races here at home, can be used as sources of creating further conflict and chaos in this land for which he has given so much.

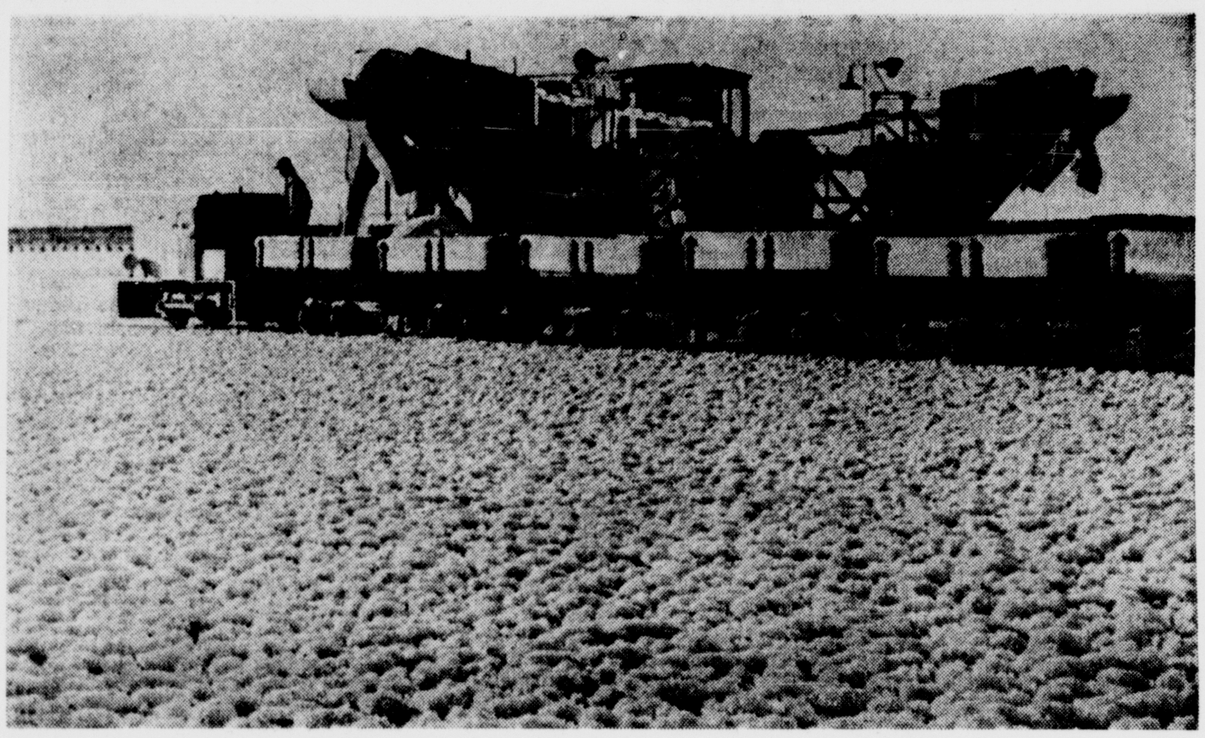
SAN FRANCISCO BAY'S SNOWY HARVEST

This bulldozer operator is neither battling arctic snowdrifts nor desert dunes. He's working in the Leslie Salt Co. tidelands, piling salt produced by solar evaporation, into gleaming mountains 100 feet high, to await further processing or shipping. Annual harvest is more than a million tons.



BRINE POND RAILROAD—Mechanized harvester scrapes a six-inch layer of salt from the bottom of the evaporation ponds, during the annual season stretching from now through December. The salt as shown is 99.6 per cent pure, but will be washed four times in saturated brine, and further processed if needed. (UPI Telephotos)

HALF A BILLION SOULS

India Nears A Milestone

By JOE McGOWAN JR.

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—One day this month, perhaps in a primitive village lacking either doctor or nurse, an Indian woman will give birth to the country's 500-millionth citizen.

Census officials decline to compute the exact time. They acknowledge that India will pass the half-billion mark in September, but there will be no official recognition of the milestone.

After all, when you have 499,999,999 people, what's one more?

India has more people than the combined total of the United States, Canada, Mexico, Brazil, England, France, West Germany, the Soviet Union, Autralia and Japan.

It is surpassed only by Communist China, which has an estimated 750 million people.

The impact of population pressure has a grim, personal meaning here.

If conditions continue as they are, citizen No. 500 million will face dismal prospects for his life on the subcontinent, among them:

One chance in four of learning to read or write.

A life expectancy of 45 years—less if the baby is a girl—compared with 70 in the United States.

An average income of $42 per year, or 13 cents per day. He will spend eight out of every 10 rupees on food alone.

One chance in 140 of ever owning a radio; one chance in 1,000 of owning a telephone; and one chance in 3,000 of buying a newspaper.

One thing the baby can almost bet on is that he will get married. Only one out of every 12,500 Indians stay single. What's more, they marry young — often in their early teens—and have lots of children.

He can also count on a lifetime filled with illness and disease, because of an insufficient and poorly balanced diet and because of contaminated water and insanitary surroundings.

With massive assistance from abroad, India is making progress toward eradicating disease and increasing the food available. Ironically, this progress lies behind India's skyrocketing population.

Epidemics used to kill millions of people. In 1918 an estimated 13 million Indians died of influenza and the country lost population between 1911 and 1921 censuses. But today, malaria has been conquered, smallpox is being wiped out and other diseases are in retreat.

Droughts used to ruin crops periodically and result in millmions of starvation deaths. This type of tragedy was repeated as recently as 1943, but when famine threatened this year the United States shipped millions of tons of grain to India.

These advances have helped double India's population since 1901. Unless the birth rate is drastically reduced, it will double again—to one billion people—by 2000.

India's 500 millions live in roughly the same area as Argentina, which has 22 million. The population grows each year by more than 12 million people, an increase equal to Australia's total population.

Sleeping Sickness Defies Scientists

By ALTON BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK (AP) — By the dozens and hundreds, people are falling ill in Texas and the Far East from sudden explosions of so-called "sleeping sickeness," and for many the sleep is forever.

This "sleeping sickness" is, more precisely, known as encephalitis. The cause is a virus which can produce inflammation and destructive changes in the brain and spinal cord — or no real symptoms at all.

Epidemics, such as occurring now, are unusual in the United States.

The virus striking in Texas is a form known as St. Louis encephalitis, where it was first observed some years ago. The virus responsible in Korea and Japan is, presumably, a close relative known as Japanese B encephalitis. Two other related forms that sometimes also strike individuals or in epidemic proportions are Eastern equine and Western equine encephalitis.

There are mysteries still about these viruses.

Birds are apparently the the reservoir of St. Louis encephalitis virus. Mosquitoes of the Culex family are the carriers, transferring the virus from infected birds to humans, and to other animals. Some species of birds die from the virus, while others are not sickened at all, medical texts explain.

Most humans infected by mosquito bites never show any signs of illness, or have generalized symptoms, including fever.

But once in a while, encephalitis bursts forth in epidemic form. Health officials in Texas blame the current outbreak partly upon heavy recent rains that favored the breeding of mosquitoes, and in a counterattack have been spraying an insecticide from airplanes and trucks.

Past epidemics of encephalitis in this country have taken up to a score of lives at a time.

Despite the name "equine" for two forms of the virus, humans do not contact the disease from infected horses, says Today's Health Guide, published by the American Medical Assn. Vaccines are available to protect horses and mules, but similar vaccines are not generally recommended for humans, it adds.

Behind The News

A Weekly Page Of Background Information

This Week In The World

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

United States policy in Viet Nam took a pounding from two world leaders this week.

On opposite sides of the globe, French President Charles de Gaulle and United Nations Secretary General Thant took Washington to task over the conflict in the war-torn Southeast Asia country.

De Gaulle was in Phnom Penh, Cambodia, a nation bordering Viet Nam. He was on an around-the-world trip, hoping to become a peacemaker.

Thant swiped at the United States in announcing he was quitting his job as the United Nations chief executive. He obviously was speaking of the U.S. when he said: "A tragic error is being repeated of relying on force and military means in a deceptive pursuit of peace."

Around The World, Around The Nation:

Undated: Racial strife hit the Midwest, in Dayton, Ohio, Benton Harbor and Jackson, Mich., and Milwaukee, Wis. Officials in Cicero, Ill., a suburb of Chicago, asked Gov. Otto Kerner to call out the National Guard for a scheduled open-housing march.

New York: A New York City foundation announced it would award a $2,000 grant for an independent search for flaws in the Warren Commission report on the assassination of President Kennedy.

Tokyo: Red Guard teen-agers in China continued their "cultural revolution," spreading destruction, injury and death to those suspected of deviation from the official party line. Nuns and priests were manhandled. The U.S.S.R. protested demonstrations in front of its Peking Embassy.

Ljubljana, Yugoslavia: Ninety-five vacationing Britons died in the crash of a Britania Airways jetliner. Twenty-two survived.

Ottawa: Parliament passed legislation to end Canada's $15-million a day railroad strike and indications were the 110,000 employees of seven lines would obey the law.

SACRAMENTO SCENE

Campaign Time Opens On Holiday

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The long Labor Day weekend, which in recent years is noted more for reports on traffic fatalities than activities for the working man, also is the signal in even-numbered years for the renewing of political campaigns.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown, who announced his plans to seek a third term and began his primary campaign a bit sooner than he had indicated, also has jumped up his fall campaign schedule. Brown originally had planned to take up the campaign trail again in mid-September but, instead, was to start on Labor Day.

A whirlwind week was to see Brown in Alameda County on Monday, touring the harvest fields in Fresno and Kern on Tuesday, attending a $125-a-plate and star-studded gala in San Francisco Wednesday, back to the fields in San Joaquin on Thursday, and in Sacramento for the state fair host breakfast on Friday.

Ronald Reagan, the GOP nominee for governor, will open his fall campaign in much the same way as he opened his original campaign last January, with a television show. Neither candidate really quit campaigning during the summer months but the activity will increase now, with the election just over two months in the future.

Reagan is expected to do some extensive traveling as he reaffirms and adds to his plans to put California back on course through his "Creative Society" plan. Brown, incidentally, has come up with a society too—the "Working Society."

The biggest state in the nation keeps getting bigger, although at a slightly slower rate than a few years back. The state department of finance has released its mid-year estimates and calculates California's population at 19,195,000, as of July 1. This was a gain of 469,000 from a year ago, somewhat of a drop from the days when the state used to grow by nearly 700,000 persons a year.

The rapid growth in certain counties will make them eligible for issuance of new liquor licenses. These are highly valued plums as the state sells them for $6,000 but, on the open market, prices in the fast-growing counties run in excess of $50,000.

Two new directors of state departments were sworn into office this week, Dr. Ian Campbell, who takes over the department of conservation, and Newton R. Holcomb as director of social welfare. Campbell replaces DeWitt (Swede) Nelson, who retired after 41 years of public service. Holcomb fills in for J. M. Wedemeyer who resigned in a huff over welfare policy.

Holcomb was greeted in his new assignment with charges by the Sacramento chapter of the Social Workers Union (AFL-CIO) that welfare had become a "political kickball, with everyone from the governor to the governor's leading opponent taking a swipe at the ball." The big point of difference is a plan proposed by the County Supervisors Assn. of California which would give the counties more authority in administering welfare programs.

How Many U.S. Classrooms Due To Have Empty Teacher's Desk?

By HAL COOPER

NEW YORK (AP) — With school opening only days away in most parts of the United States, administrators were still desperately seeking to hire thousands of teachers today.

A nationwide shortage of qualified instructors was disclosed by an Associated Press survey. The shortage was the worst in history in some states, including Wisconsin, Missouri, North Carolina, Illinois and New York.

Among other states with disturbing numbers of vacancies were Michigan, California, Pennsylvania, George, Montana, Kentucky, Maine, Rhode Island, Maryland, Minnesota, Nebraska and Oklahoma.

"I just don't know how some districts are going to open school," said Miss May Regan, teacher placement officer for the Vermont Education Department.

Teachers of science, mathematics and languages seemed to be in short supply everywhere. In many areas, the critical pinch was in the elementary schools, particularly the lower grades.

Mainly blamed for the shortages were:

Rising enrollments.

The drafting of teachers or recently graduated teacher-trainees into the Armed Forces.

Widespread recruitment for federal "Head Start" and other training programs.

Competition from industries for college graduates.

States with low teaching salary levels reported personnel losses to nearby states which pay more. In some states, better-paying big city school systems were said to be raiding smaller communities.

A spokesman for the public school system of Omaha, Neb., summed it up this way:

"For teachers, it's a sellers' market."

Illinois, which has about 120,000 teachers, was trying to fill 21,000 vacancies. The office of state School Supt. Ray Page said the need was most critical in languages, vocational guidance, science, mathematics and the elementary grades.

The New York State Education Department reported that systems under is jurisdiction were short 15,000 certified teachers, about 10 per cent of the total needed. The department said most openings would have to be filled by instructors whose training does not meet minimum requirements.

California, where high salaries once attracted a stream of top-notch teachers, reported widespread shortages — 900 in Los Angeles alone. A spokesman for the State Education Department said 240 school districts had received permission to hire teachers with provisional certificates — those not fully qualified.

"Our sources are drying up," said a department spokesman.

"Other states have recently been increasing salaries more rapidly than we have. The shortage at the elementary-school level has been worsened by a new state requirement for elementary teachers to complete five years of college training."

Jarrow Lindsey, public information officer for the Georgia Department of Education, said school segregation was a further factor in the state's teacher shortage.

Dr. Charles F. Carroll, state superintendent of public instruction, described North Carolina's situation as critical, with unfilled openings for 1,862 teachers. The shortage of Negro teachers was particularly acute. Of unfilled openings, 950 were in elementary schools.

Seven States, Many Persons Argue Dams

By RICHARD F. NEWCOMB
AP Newsfeature Writer

Proposal: To build two more federal dams on the Colorado River.

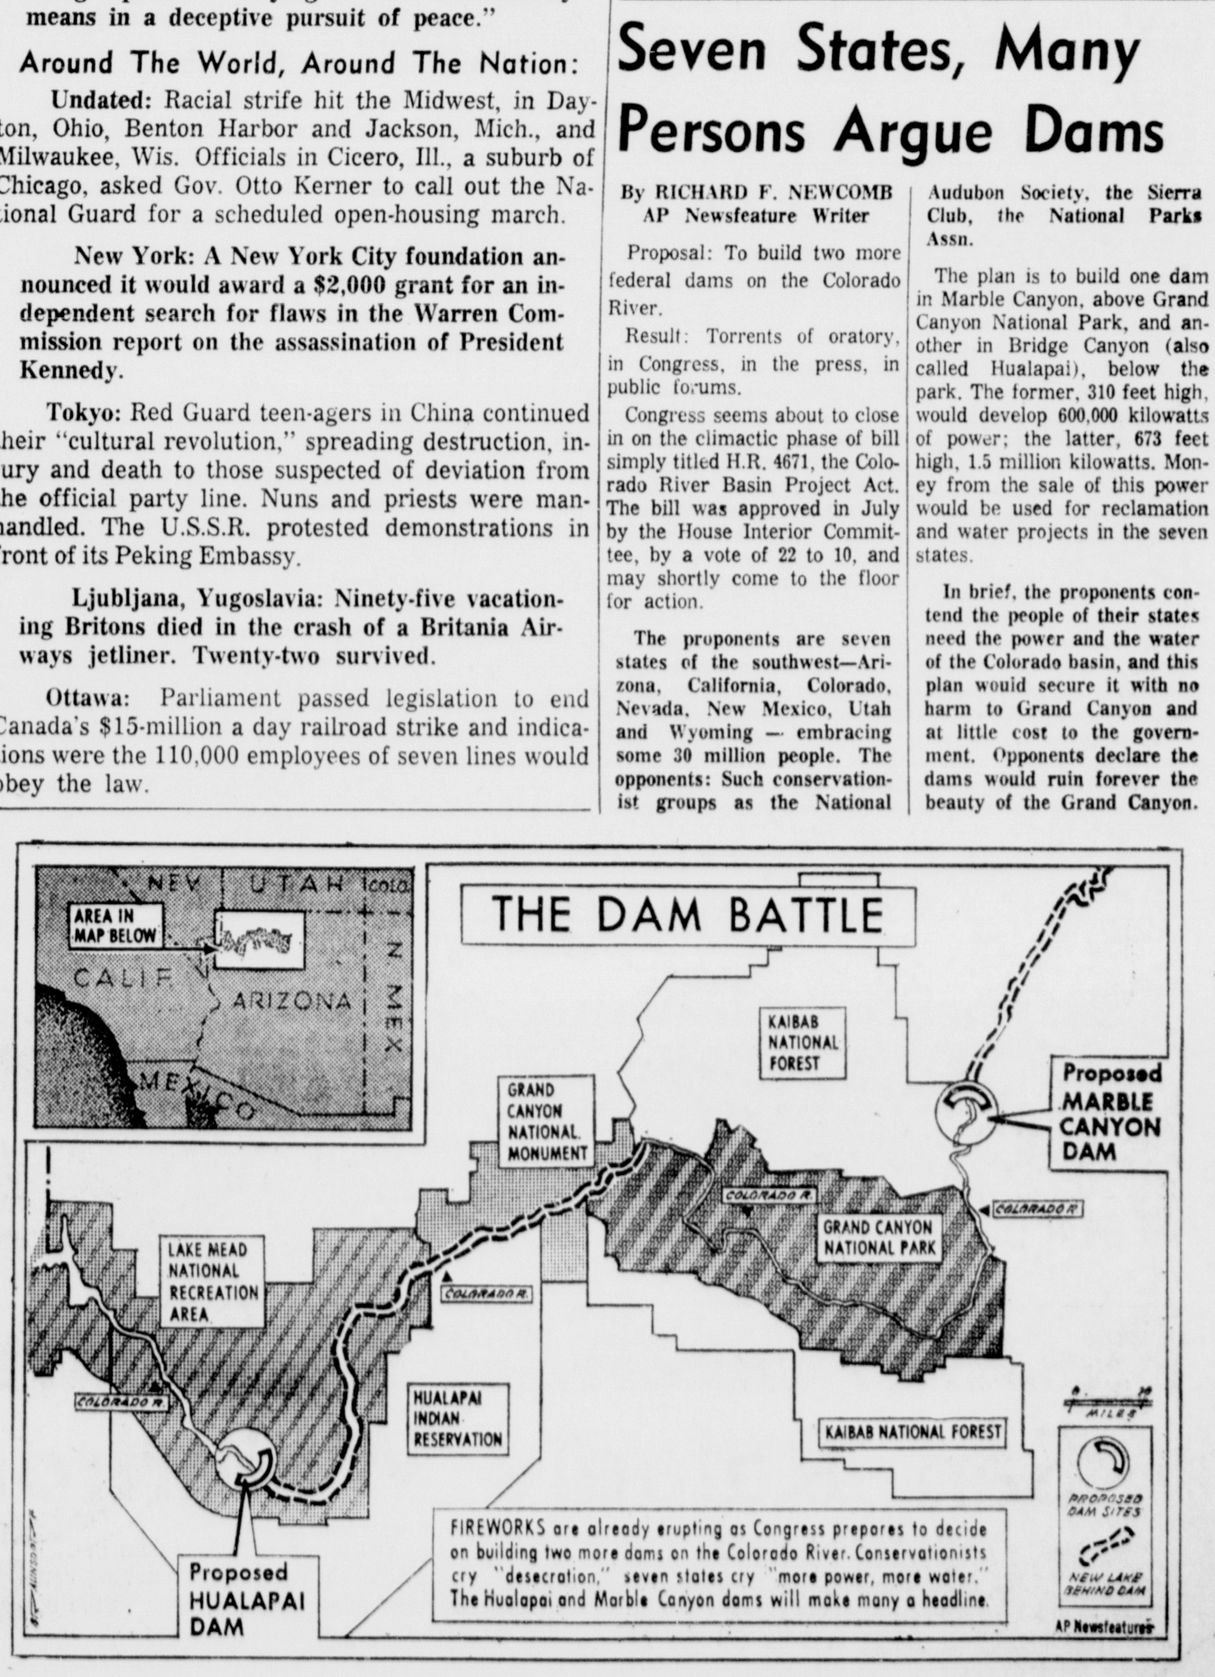
Result: Torrents of oratory, in Congress, in the press, in public forums.

Congress seems about to close in on the climactic phase of bill simply titled H.R. 4671, the Colorado River Basin Project Act. The bill was approved in July by the House Interior Committee, by a vote of 22 to 10, and may shortly come to the floor for action.

The proponents are seven states of the southwest—Arizona, California, Colorado, Nevada, New Mexico, Utah and Wyoming — embracing some 30 million people. The opponents: Such conservationist groups as the National Audubon Society, the Sierra Club, the National Parks Assn.

The plan is to build one dam in Marble Canyon, above Grand Canyon National Park, and another in Bridge Canyon (also called Hualapai), below the park. The former, 310 feet high, would develop 600,000 kilowatts of power; the latter, 673 feet high, 1.5 million kilowatts. Money from the sale of this power would be used for reclamation and water projects in the seven states.

In brief, the proponents contend the people of their states need the power and the water of the Colorado basin, and this plan would secure it with no harm to Grand Canyon and at little cost to the government. Opponents declare the dams would ruin forever the beauty of the Grand Canyon.



San Rafael's Waterfront Changes In Decade

Two aerial photographs of East San Rafael—separated by 11 years—indicate the changes already taking place in an area slated to see vast improvements under the proposed San Rafael general plan. In the top picture, taken in 1954, the area immediately east of the curving canal looks empty and neglected. By 1965, as the bottom picture shows, commercial buildings, apartments and residential homes have already sprouted on the rapidly growing tidelands. A dike today extends southeast in line with Highway 17 marking part of a larger area eventually to be reclaimed from the bay if the general plan is approved by the city council. The spit of land, to the right of each picture, has, in 11 years, encroached further into the area.

Cerrudo Rallies In Nat'l Amateur

San Rafael's Ron Cerrudo, firing par 70 yesterday, shot back into contention for the U.S. National Amateur Golf Championship going into today's final round at Ardmore, Pa.

The 21-year-old San Jose State College senior, whose family moved to Marin County this year, was only one stroke behind co-leaders Deane Beman, two-time national amateur king from Bethesda, Md. and Downing Gray, Pensacola, Fla. after 54 holes of play. The leaders had 214 going into today's nationally-televised final round while Cerrudo was tied at 215 with Mike Morley of Minot, N.D.

Marin's other entrant, Novato's Kai Thomsen, the Marin Country Club champion who pilots commercial airliners for a living, clubbed a 76 yesterday that left him 13 strokes off the pace at 227.

Cerrudo, the Northern California champion, had rounds of 70, 75 and 70 going into the finals. After going out in 38 yesterday morning, he stormed back with three birdies and a bogey on the back nine for a 32 to salvage a par on the round.

Beman and Downing are both 28 year-old insurance executives. Beman, striving to become the first man since Bobby Jones to win three U.S. amateur titles, held a four-stroke lead going into yesterday's third round but slipped to a 76 which enabled Gray, a Walker Cup team mem-

DEVLIN WINS CARLING OPEN; CASPER SECOND

SOUTHPORT, England (AP)—Bruce Devlin of Australia, lurking among the leaders but never out in front during the first three rounds, won the $35,000 first prize in the Carling Golf Classic today by shooting a final round of 69.

That put his 72-hole total at 286 for four trips over the 7,037 yards of the Royal Birkdale course where par is 35-38-73.

Bill Casper, the U.S. Open champion and the 4-1 favorite in the $200,000 tournament, slumped to second when he posted a 71 and a total of 287.

Casper tried to chip into the hole on the final green for a tie and barely missed.

The final round was viewed by a comparatively small crowd of 6,000 in a normally golf crazy area which produces galleries of upwards of 15,000.

Brodie Starts For The 49ers Tonight

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers will attempt to snap out of a four - game losing slump and the Los Angeles Rams gun for a 3 - 2 summer season as both teams wind up the National Football League pre-season campaign tonight.

Upward of 35,000 fans are expected to be on deck in Memorial Coliseum for the renewal of one of the league's warmest rivalries. It will be televised to Northern California on KTVU, channel 2, starting at 8 o'clock.

John Brodie, whose near-million dollar contract has reportedly been a matter of controversy in the San Francisco camp, is scheduled to start at quarterback.

A late arrival in training camp—while his attorneys negotiated for the ex - Stanford star's contract—Brodie was still in shape to complete seven of 14 passes against the Atlanta Falcons last week for his best effort in a losing game.

Coach George Allen of the Rams will start the same offensive team that walloped St. Louis a week ago, 32-14, with Roman Gabriel continuing in the quarterback role.

Coach Jack Christiansen's 49ers have been troubled by in-

'Vulture' Will Get You If You Don't Watch Out

CINCINNATI — In the merry menagerie of sports nicknames, the birds of the forest and the animals of the field are brought in for heavy play. Even foodstuffs are not overlooked. There was a player called "Pie" once, a highly uncertain illusion, probably, but not necessarily, dietary.

There was "Harry the Cat," a "Rabbit" Maranville. There was a hard-earned "Dizzy," several "Mooses" and even a "Goose" Goslin and a "Hoss" or two.

BUT NOBODY had a more unappetizing handle tacked on him than Philip Raymond Regan, age 29, a right-handed pitcher. A "Vulture" is a loathsome, pencil-necked grave-robber, one of the foremost necrophiles of the animal kingdom, a feathered horror, a coward of the skies. A vulture is a bird who has YOU for dinner.

PHILIP R. REGAN, who sat across from me at breakfast this morning, in no way resembles this buzzard of balefulness. The eyes are clear and green, the skin as smooth as a choir boy's. The stomach is flat, the cheeks clean-shaven, and altogether he looks like a "Come To Church" poster. But he has brought a new nickname and a new verb to an ancient honorable sport. "To vulture" and its short form "to vulch" may hit the crossword puzzles any day now. It means to pick up pitching victories in carrion form, to hover, so to speak, over the covered wagons of starting pitchers, and to move in only when there is nothing left but the rotting flesh and bones of what had been a long, tough game.

"THE VULTURE," to date, has won 12 games, lost one, and has 11 "saves." A "save" is a fine-print accolade awarded a pitcher who gets the side out with the winning run on third, or who pitches highly effectively with a two-run or less lead. "The Vulture" is the best in the business at this ulcerous activity.

SOFT-SPOKEN, highly popular with teammates, The Vulture was just another faceless American League spot starter until Buzzie Bavasi began to look for a way to clean out his dugout. He had some guys who only got up from the bench to let them varnish it, and he traded off a no-play second baseman for The-Man-Who-Came-To-Vulch.

REGAN, WHO throws a slider, sinker, and another pitch which is not only as illegal as spitting on the sidewalk, but also somewhat resembles it, had picked up a half-dozen victories at bargain basement prices—he didn't really win them, he inherited them—before somebody in the locker room began placing a rubber vulture atop the starting pitcher's locker. "The Vulture will get you if you don't watch out," was the watchword. The pitchers began to flinch from a tap on the shoulder by the sixth inning. The Vulture wound up in the bullpen like a giant condor circling a man on foot in the desert by the seventh inning.

PHIL REGAN, who was named for the singing cop which, of course, is not his fault, who was so unknown when he first came to the Dodgers, the team didn't know whether his specialty was a sinker or Mother Machree. It's now 50 appearances later, and he's one of the famous names in baseball. He's now named for the creature that ate the Sahara.

EVEN THOUGH his nickname makes him sound like one of the cast of characters in Batman, Phil, and his family of wife, two sons and two daughters, has gone from a 1-won, 5-lost anonymity at Detroit to the comfortable security of bullpen ace on a pennant contender, and has enriched, or impoverished, depending upon your point of view, the language, and, as of this writing, he only hopes to get a chance to "vulch" a World Series game or two. "My wife says this is the happiest, most relaxed year she's ever had." It's the other pitchers' wives who may be scanning the heavens fearfully for the flutter of black wings but, since in 92 innings he has put the team 23 games in the black, he may yet make even real vultures popular and encourage Walt Disney to style one as a sidekick to Bambi.

Raiders Scared, But Win

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — It may not be such a long season after all for the Miami Dolphins, the brand-new entry in the American Football League.

Clobbered in four pre-season exhibitions, Coach George Wilson's young team found itself last night and threw a scare into the heavily favored Oakland Raiders before dropping a 23-14 decision.

Except for the alertness of two Raider defenders — Howie Williams and Dave Grayson — Miami might have pulled off a startling upset in its first venture into league combat.

Williams and Grayson intercepted two passes each from their old teammate, Dick Wood, in the second period. Two of the thefts led to a touchdown and field goal — exactly the margin of victory in this surprisingly close contest.

The two other steals stopped the Dolphins after they had penetrated deep into Oakland territory on Wood's passes to Joe Auer.

And it was anybody's ball game until the closing minutes when the Raiders, leading by only three points, scored the clincher on a 16-yard aerial from Tom Flores to Tom Mitchell.

Auer, a former Miami schoolboy star who left the Los Angeles Rams of the National Football League to come home, got the game off to an electrifying start with a 95-yard touchdown run on the opening kickoff.

"That run gave our team a great lift," Wilson said. "It looks as if we are beginning to get our running game going. I've got to pat our guys on the back. They played a great game."

Except for the alertness of Williams and Grayson, said Oakland Coach John Rauch, "we would have been in real trouble. It was encouraging that we took the shock of Auer's opening run, maintained our poise and came back."

The Dolphins gained 104 yards on the ground and held the Raiders to 16. In the air, Oakland had a big edge, 241 yards to 91.

Dipsea Champion In Scottish Run

Carl Jensen, 21, winner of last Sunday's Dipsea Race over Mt. Tamalpais, is an entrant in a 30-kilometer race set for tomorrow at the 101st annual Scottish Gathering and Games at the Santa Rosa Fairgrounds, starting at 9 a.m.

Also entered is John Satti, the 51-year-old winner of the 1965 Dipsea, along with several of Jensen's Marin Athletic Club teammates.

Clemente's 2,000th Hit Powers Bucs To Big Win

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Roberto Clemente says he's a better home-run hitter than people think, but the Chicago Cubs would rather not think about it.

The Pittsburgh outfielder's three-run homer against the Cubs yesterday was thought provoking in more ways than one.

In the first place, it was Clemente's 2,000th major-league hit. It was also his 23rd homer, tying his best season-long effort in that department. And it gave Roberto 101 runs batted in, marking the first time in his 12-year career he's topped 100.

But most important, says Roberto, the fifth-inning shot boosted the Pirates to a 7-3 victory and sole tenancy of first place in the National League. San Francisco, tied with the Bucs when the day's action began, lost to St. Louis 6-5 in 12 innings.

Minimizing the personal aspect of the homer, Clemente said, "It's a big hit because it won a ball game. It wouldn't have been the same if we had lost."

Roberto has always claimed to be a better home-run hitter than he is given credit for. For a time he blamed his relatively modest homer production on the distant Forbes Field fences. But now he says the big change came when they put clay in the batter's box instead of the sand that had previously been used.

"For years, I have been pleading with somebody in charge at Forbes Field to put clay instead of sand in the batter's box," he said. "Suddenly, this year, they put clay in. Now I have firm footing. I can get a toe-hold."

The other National League clubs, if given a voice in the matter, would probably vote for quick-drying cement.

Elsewhere in the league, Los Angeles beat Cincinnati 6-1, Philadelphia shut out New York 6-0 and Atlanta won a doubleheader from Houston 6-5 and 2-1.

In the American League, Detroit won a pair from Cleveland 4-2 and 7-5, the second game in 10 innings, Chicago beat Baltimore 9-8 in 11 innings, Minneapolis took New York 8-5, Kansas City knocked off Boston 5-1 and California edged Washington 6-5.

Clemente was all the more pleased at his home run because it came off Cub pitcher Fergus-on Jenkins, a personal nemesis. Roberto said he was fooled by the pitch he hit out. He was looking for an inside pitch to pull, he said, but it came outside and he hit it to the opposite field.

Claude Osteen and Bob Miller combined for a three-hitter and Ron Fairly drove in three runs, two with a homer, as the Dodgers stayed two games back of the Pirates.

Jim Bunning pinned the Mets back on six hits and Rich Allen clubbed a pair of homers for the Phillies fourth victory in their last five games. Allen now has 35 home runs.

Ed Mathews hit two homers in Atlanta's opening victory and Pat Jarvis stopped Houston on four hits in the finale. It was Atlanta's first doubleheader victory of the season.

Cepeda Returns To Haunt Giants

ST. LOUIS (AP)—As any Giant fan knew he would some day, Orlando Cepeda came back to beat his former teammates—and with devastating results.

Cepeda, now with the Cardinals, rapped a double and scored the winning run last night as St. Louis grabbed a 6-5 victory in 12 innings.

The Baby Bull's game-ending play also knocked the Giants out of first place in the National League and hit Giant reliever Lindy McDaniel for his first run since August 6.

McDaniel, San Francisco's fourth pitcher, up to then had pitched 20 2-3 innings of scoreless ball.

Today Bob Bolin (8-9) of the Giants was scheduled to take the mound against Al Jackson (12-12) of the Cardinals. San Francisco found itself one game behind the league-leading Pittsburgh Pirates and one ahead of the Los Angeles Dodgers in the tightening league standings.

The Giants have indicated that Juan Marichal (20-5) would start tomorrow's series finale in St. Louis, meaning the Dominican Dandy would miss the crucial series against the Dodgers in Los Angeles next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. However, Manager Herman Franks has not yet announced his starting rotation for the next four games.

Marichal beat the Dodgers 4-2 in their last meeting.

Television fans will have a full menu of Giants for the next four days. Tomorrow's game at St. Louis will be televised starting at 11:10 a.m. by KTVU, Channel 2. The same station will televise the Dodger series at 3:55 p.m. Monday, 7:55 p.m. Tuesday and 7:55 p.m. Wesdnesday.

McDaniel, now 8-5, had retired seven Cardinals in succession and had a 2-2 count on Cepeda when the Bull drilled a line drive to left-center.

McDaniel then went to a 2-2 count on Mike Shannon, who fired one over shortstop to send Cepeda home.

The Giants piled four runs in the seventh, the last two on a Willie Mays' double, to take a 5-4 lead. But the Cardinals tied it in the eighth on a walk, Dal Maxvill's single and an error by shortstop Tito Fuentes.

Tom Haller led off the seventh for the Giants with a triple. Jesus Alou singled him home. Bob Burda hit another single and St. Louis changed pitchers, Nelson Briles replacing starter Ray Washburn.

The runners advanced on a sacrifice bunt and Alou scored on a ground out. Then came a single by Jim Davenport, followed by Mays's double to right-center.

The Cardinals outhit the Giants 14-13.

San Francisco didn't even have a hit until the fourth when Mays singled to center with two out.

Infielder Hal Lanier scored the Giants' first run in the fifth when Fuentes singled to right.

Semi-Pros Idle

Marin County's two semi-professional baseball teams, Litchfield's Bermuda Palms of San Rafael and the Mill Valley Merchants, will be idle over the Labor Day weekend but will resume their schedule with games on Sept. 11, the managers announced this week.

THE DOWN AND THE OUT

St. Louis catcher Tim McCarver went down but held onto the ball after tagging out San Francisco catcher Tom Haller in the 10th inning of last night's game at St. Louis. Haller was trying to score from third on Cap Peterson's popup to short centerfield. The Cardinals won the game, 6-5, in 12 innings. (AP Wirephoto). Story on page 23.

NFL EXHIBITION ROUNDUP

Morton Pitches Dallas Win; Bears Shade Cards

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer

Even though Craig Morton prefers football to baseball, he looked like quite a relief pitcher last night.

Morton, who was the No. 1 draft choice of Dallas last year and spurned a baseball bonus, came off the bench to throw a strike and lead the Cowboys to a 28-24 exhibition victory over the Minnesota Vikings.

The victory before 58,316 delighted fans in the Cotton Bowl and a national television audience gave the Cowboys a perfect 5-0 record for the exhibition season. Minnesota finished at 3-1-1.

In the only other National Football League preseason game Friday night, the Chicago Bears rallied in the second half for a 22-20 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Four NFL games will be played tonight to wind up the NFL's exhibition season. It starts to count next Saturday night, Sept. 10, when Baltimore meets Green Bay before a sellout crowd in Milwaukee and a national TV audience.

Morton, a 6-foot-4 220-pounder who starred at the University of California before signing with Dallas, was spending a leisurely evening on the bench when he was suddenly rushed into action.

It was a see-saw contest with Dallas holding a 21-17 lead when injury-prone quarterback Don Meredith slightly injured his wrist with a little over five minutes to go in the contest.

Sent into the game by coach Tom Landry, Morton showed he didn't need any time to warm up. He immediately tossed a 44-yard touchdown pass to Bob Hayes to put the Cowboys ahead 28-17 and provide the winning margin since Fran Tarkenton tossed a 16-yard TD pass to Paul Flatley in the final minute.

In tonight's exhibition games, Cleveland meets Pittsburgh at Birmingham, Ala., New York faces Green Bay at Milwaukee, Philadelphia travels to Washington and San Francisco is at Los Angeles.

WOMEN'S GOLF

Gosh, $16,000 Win For Mickey Wright

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—"Gosh I just can't imagine having $16,000 in my pocket.

But 11-year professional Mickey Wright, possibly the greatest woman golfer of all time, earned every penny of it with an impressive four-stroke victory in the first Ladies' World Series of Golf.

"This is by far the biggest single prize I've ever won," said the beaming blonde from Dallas, Tex., yesterday after she posted a scorching five-under par 67 and a 36-hole total of 136.

The 31-year-old, 5-foot-9 power hitter was eight-under-par for the route over the 6,300-yard, par 72 Springfield Country Club layout after methodically racing away from her five rivals in the field.

Miss Wright, who has won more than $200,000 and copped more tournaments than any other feminine golfer since turning pro, said the 67 was "one of the best rounds I've ever played."

Sandra Haynie, the diminutive 23-year-old pro from Fort Worth, Tex., nailed down second place and $7,500 by sinking a clutch putt on the final hole. She shot a 71 Friday and closed with a 140, one stroke better than Carol Mann of Towson, Md., who won $5,000.

The year's leading money winner, Kathy Whitworth of San Antonio, Tex., took fourth place and $4,000 with a 70, good for 142.

Fifth place money of $3,000 went to Sandra Spuzich of Indianapolis, Ind., who posted a 147 total, and Clifford Ann Creed of Alexandria, La., earned $2,500 with a 154.

NATIONAL AMATEUR TENNIS TOURNEY

Aussie Great At End Of The Line?

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — This, very likely, could be the last appearance at the U.S. tennis championships for Australia's Roy Emerson, winner in 1961 and 1964.

But of deeper impact to the international tennis scene, the year could very easily mark the end of his contribution, since 1959, to Australia's Davis Cup fortunes.

The 29-year-old Emerson spoke easily about his prospects and about his current game which was as rusty as an old hinge yesterday as he swung inconsistently and had trouble beating unheralded Ismael el Shafei, an 18-year-old Egyptian, 6-3, 9-7, 9-7.

The verdict put Emerson, winner here in 1961 and 1964, in the second round where he will rest until a foe is decided between Chuck Darley of Rochester, Minn., and Bitsy Harrison of Richmond, Va.

He was joined by Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif.; Clark Graebner of Beachwood, Ohio; and Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., U.S. Davis Cuppers and all seeded below Emerson who is No. 2 on the list to defender Manuel Santana of Spain.

Today's schedule had Ralston, seeded third, playing another Australian, Martin Mulligan; Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., seeded fifth, against Ron Holmberg of Highland Falls, N.Y.; Richey, seeded eighth, vs. Australian Owen Davidson, and Tony Roche of Australia, seeded fourth, facing Sherwood Stewart of Baytown, Tex.

But while Ralston was beating India's Jasjit Singh, 6-1, 6-3, 7-5; Graebner defeating Francisco Guzman of Ecuador, 6-2, 7-5, 6-2, and Richey was walloping Keith Jennings of New Canaan, Conn., 6-3, 6-2, 6-3 to complete the four seeded players' advance for the day, Emerson was thinking about his poor show against El Shafei.

"I'll have to play a great deal better to advance much further in this tournament," he said. "I haven't played much since Wimbledon (where he hurt his shoulder). I guess I haven't played a dozen singles matches since then, and I didn't pick up a racquet for a month while I was home in Australia when his mother died)."

He added, "my biggest problem is to stay in condition. If I don't, I get tired and lose concentration. I didn't start preparing for this tournament until a week ago at the doubles championships in Boston. I played singles in the morning and did some running.

"But I guess I wouldn't even be considered for Davis Cup unless I show better form."

"I know that this could be my last U.S. championship. I may not be here next year. But now I'll play it year by year."

Rams Place Heisman Ace Terry Baker On Waivers

LOS ANGELES (AP)— Terry Baker, 1962 Heisman Trophy winner, seriously considered quitting pro football after the 1965 season. Yesterday, he was placed on waivers by the Los Angeles Rams.

"I wasn't sure I wanted to go back," Baker said, "but they made me think they were interested in me and encouraged me. Coach (George) Allen told me he wanted to get a good look at me."

Baker, who also won the Pop Warner Award and the Maxwell Trophy in his senior year at Oregon State, was used sparingly in his three seasons as a Ram.

In his rookie season, Baker was used as a quarterback, but then was shifted to halfback his second year. He was used seldom during scrimmages this season and made only brief appearances in four exhibition games this year.

"The funny thing is that this is the first year I've been injury free," Baker said.

"I'm open to anything," the 210-pound halfback said. If he is picked up by another team, he'd like to play quarterback—the "best position in the world," he says.

"I don't know if anyone would give me a chance to play there," Baker said. "It's been a while since I've played quarterback."

The Heisman Trophy winner said he was disappointed when told of his release, although not resentful.

"I can't figure it out," he said, "but they have to make their own decisions."

A Split Show At Petaluma Speedway

Bay Cities Racing Assn. Midgets are scheduled to run a split show at the Petaluma Fairgrounds tonight starting with qualifying at 7 o'clock.

The midgets will be making their second appearance of the year with the NASCAR - sanctioned hardtops; for the hardtop drivers, the main event will also offer double points and a chance to climb in the standings during the last night race of the season.

Hardtops and midgets will be alternated, and there will be no heat races. Just a Class C race, semi - main, and main event.

ber, to catch him.

Tied with Cerrudo in the runner-up slot was Morley, a 20-year-old Arizona State student who birdied the third, fourth and eighth holes to offset three bogeys in his fine showing.

Roger McManus of Hartville, Ohio, the 42-year-old rug salesman who led the first round and entered the second tied for second with 19-year-old Jack Lewis of Florence, S.C., scrambled to a 74. This put him in a three-way tie at 216 with Dick Siderowf, 29-year-old stock broker of Westport, Conn., and Don Allen, 28, a life insurance salesman from Rochester, N.Y.

Siderowf shot a 72 and Allen a 73.

juries in the summer season. Victims included defensive backs Jim Johnson and Kermit Alexander, middle linebacker Matt Hazeltine and outside backer Jack Chapple.

Hazeltine, however, is scheduled to make his first start of the year and Alexander, a UCLA product, is also due back after an absence of three weeks.

The Rams put on an impressive offensive show against the Cardinals, with Dick Bass outstanding as the game's leading rusher and Tommy McDonald the top pass receiver.

San Francisco, the league's leading yard gainer and point maker in 1965, presents problems for the Ram defense.

Dave Parks led the league receivers with 80 receptions—the Rams' McDonald was second with 67—and Ken Willard in his rookie year was second in rushing in the western division.

ALMANAC

Today is Saturday, Sept. 3, the 246th day of 1966 with 119 to follow.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter. The morning stars are Saturn, Jupiter, Mars and Venus. The evening star is Saturn.

Italian violin maker Nicolo Amati was born on this day in 1596.

On this day in history:

In 1783, the American Revolution ended officially with the signing of the Paris Peace Treaty.

In 1916, the Allies broke a German offensive at Verdun in World War I.

In 1939, Great Britain declared war on Germany.

In 1943, the Allies invaded the Italian mainland in World War II.

A thought for the day — Amelia Earhart said: "Courage is the price that life exacts for granting peace. The soul that knows it not, knows no release from little things."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Light-face type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

A Weak Man Gets Punishhment In Heartless Game Of Bridge

Sometimes a weak man is punished just because he is weak and not because he has done anything wrong.

This may be unfair, but that is the way life is at the bridge table.

Opening lead — ♣ 2

West led the deuce of clubs, and East won with the ace. East returned the three of hearts, and South agonized over the guess.

He finally went wrong by playing the jack.

West won with the queen of hearts and returned a heart to the ace. Now East returned the deuce of diamonds, and South was on the verge of losing his contract.

"Why is East in such a hurry to lead diamonds?" South wondered. "Is this a natural play, or is he trying some monkey business?"

STRONG DEFENSE

If East were a strong defender he might well have a very good picture of the South hand.

If a strong East had the king of diamonds, he might be returning a diamond in the hope of talking declarer out of a normal finesse.

South knew that East was not that strong a player.

If this particular East had the king of diamonds he would lead some other suit and wait for South to tackle the diamonds by himself.

If East didn't have the king of diamonds, there was only one hope. South played the ace of diamonds and closed his eyes. When he opened his eyes the king of diamonds had dropped on the trick, and the rest was easy.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠ Q J 9 8
♥ K J
♦ A J 9 6 4
♣ K 8.

What do you say?

Answer: Bid one diamond.

The hand is not particularly good for an opening bid of one notrump (although this was the bid chosen when the hand was actually played) because of the two doubletons and the fact that there are only 15 points in high cards. Most experts require 16 points for an opening bid of one notrump.

Hints Offered To Sunbathers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The National Automobile Club suggests these points for sunbathers during the summer months:

Initial exposure to the sun should be 30 minutes at the most.

Never rely on tanning lotions for complete protection.

White reflects light to a greater degree than colors.

When using a beach umbrella, place it over a dark towel to prevent reflection.

They're pretty amazing, these I-J Want-Ads. They can sell a tractor, get a job, find a puppy. And do it fast, at low cost.

Do they have a secret power? Nuclear energy? Special ingredient? No. Something better than that—human interest. The interest of more than 40,000 families in Marin who read I-J Classified night after night. To sell what they want, and find what they need.

Behind every I-J Want-Ad, then, is this amazing human drive to find a bargain, or sell one . . . to look to the largest single marketplace in Marin County for action. Imagine, thousands of people looking, weighing, deciding to buy . . . all because this is the great LOCAL MEDIUM that meets every local need.

When you advertise a sofa, a horse, a hi-fi, an appliance, the huge I-J reader audience SELECTS YOUR OFFER in the classification under which you run your Want-Ad. Can't miss it! Wouldn't miss it. (Because they know other buyers are in the market, too!).

Buyers are actually LOOKING FOR YOUR AD! That's the secret. Human interest that moves into action fast.

Better get your ad in . . . and see for yourself. But stay handy to the phone. There's nothing like I-J Want-Ads to ring the bell!

Best Bets On TV This Weekend

It's "Dad's Night" at the television set this evening, as the cameras of Channel 2 cover the National Football League exhibition clash between the San Francisco 49ers and their arch-rivals the Los Angeles Rams from Los Angeles starting at 8 o'clock.

Other shows of special interest this weekend:

TONIGHT: Channel 9 repeats the hour-long British-made documentary on the life of Albert Einstein at 6:30 p.m.

The repeat bill on "The Hollywood Palace" at 9:30 p.m. on Channels 7 and 11 has Judy Garland as hostess, singing her all-time hits, and with Vic Damone, Chita Rivera and comedians Avery Schreiber and Jack Burns among her guests.

Jim Backus' guests on "Continental Showcase" on Channels 5 and 10 at 7:30 p.m. include Germany's Kessler Twins, Sweden's Heidi Bruhl, Italy's Silvio Francesco and other European stars.

"Wide World of Sports," Channels 7 and 11 at 5 p.m., features a preview of the Cassius Clay - Karl Mildenberger heavyweight championship fight.

"Play of the Week" on Channel 9 at 8:30 p.m. is "The World of Sholom Aleichem," three short plays by the Yiddish storyteller. Sam Levine, Gertrude Berg, Zero Mostel and Morris Carnovsky are among the stars.

Socialism's elder statesman, Norman Thomas, is interviewed on current national and international problems on Channel 9 at 10:20 p.m.

JEFF CHANDLER stars as an advertising man who befriends a young boy in the movie "Toy Tiger" tonight at 11:15 o'clock on Channel 7.

The NBC "Saturday Night at the Movies" feature is a western, "The Tin Star," with Henry Fonda, Anthony Perkins and Betsy Palmer. Curtain-time is 9 o'clock on Channels 3 and 4.

SUNDAY: More sports for father, this time baseball, as the San Francisco Giants take on the St. Louis Cardinals in St. Louis beginning at 11:10 a.m. on Channel 2.

There's also a football game—an American Football League contest, with the Buffalo Bills and the San Diego Chargers clashing at 1:30 p.m. on Channels 3 and 4.

NBC News offers coverage of the U.S. Senate hearings on urban problems on Channels 3 and 4 at 6:30 p.m.

Another NBC news special will be seen at 4:30 p.m. on Channel 4 — a full hour report on the war in Viet Nam.

The two early morning CBS religious programs offer interesting shows. "Lamp Unto My Feet" (on Channel 5 at 8 a.m.) will be a study of the fast growing Baha'i faith. "Look Up and Live" (Channels 5 and 10 at 8:30 a.m.) will present a discussion of Roman Catholic schools with editor James O'Gara as moderator.

NBC will use comedians Jack Burns and Avery Schreiber to introduce that network's new fall program lineup on "Two in a Taxi" at 5:30 p.m. on Channel 4.

A. Philip Randolph will be the guest on "Face the Nation" at 9:30 a.m. on Channel 5.

Ed Sullivan hosts Alan King, Nancy Sinatra, Petula Clark, Gary Lewis, Richard Pryor and Blossom Seeley on Channels 5 and 10 at 8 p.m. It's a repeat.

The "Preview Tonight" hour-long feature on Channels 7 and 11 at 8 p.m. is "Roaring Camp," an adventure yarn set in a mining town in early Colorado.

There's more adventure on Walt Disney's show on Channels 3 and 4 at 7:30 p.m. as the two-part "Andrews' Raiders," a Civil War story starring Fess Parker and Jeffrey Hunter, is concluded.

Part II of the video tape of the 1965 Sibelius Centenary Festival program in Helsinki will be repeated on Channel 9 at 8:30 p.m.

Also to be repeated on 9 is the discussion of life in San Francisco's Tenderloin by a panel of youths and youth-workers. It will begin at 9:30 p.m.

A special CBS news report at 4:30 p.m. on Channel 5 takes up the ideological purges and other developments in Red China.

Topping the movie list is the William Faulkner story, "The Sound and the Fury," at 9 p.m. on Channels 7 and 11, with Yul Brynner, Joanne Woodward and Margaret Leighton.

There's a favorite of Humphrey Bogart fans, "Dead Reckoning," on Channel 2 at 7:30 p.m.

On The Stereo Scene

By JOHN SUNIER

GERRY MULLIGAN / PARIS CONCERT—Pacific Jazz Stereo ST-20102:

The excellent Los Angeles-based label Pacific Jazz/World Pacific is now part of the large Liberty Records organization. Increased releases and fancier packaging already show the effect of the change.

This "live" concert recorded in Paris in 1954 is a release in re-channeled stereo that is quite effective. It is one of the two or three real classics in the large Gerry Mulligan discography, and if you don't have the original, get this. Trombonist Bob Brookmeyer is perfect and has strong empathy with Mulligan's baritone sax.

Nobody but Mulligan can give tunes like "Makin' Whoopee," "Laura," "Bernie's Tune," or 'Moonlight in Vermont" the tasteful and often humorous treatment heard here. Plus, the re-release contains two additional tracks not on the original disc.

GIL FULLER & THE MONTEREY JAZZ FESTIVAL ORCHESTRA featuring DIZZY GILLESPIE—Pacific Jazz Stereo 93:

It's about a year late to cover this LP, but with the 1966 Monterey Jazz Festival coming up soon, the time is right.

Most of the LP consists of Fuller's "Angel City Suite" which was for me anyway one of the major events of last year's festival. Ol' Diz was host of the festival, with its theme "Tribute to the Trumpet." One of the afternoon performances celebrated the 20th anniversary of Dizzy's first sessions with Fuller, who was his arranger.

Fuller's tribute to Los Angeles is full of excitement, melody, and witty sounds. It is much more conservative than some of the past experiments in the same vein, such as "The New Continent" of Lalo Schifrin which also featured Gillespie. Therefore it is more approachable and probably will find great popularity.

SOUND OF THE SAROD — ALI AKBAR KHAN Recorded in Concert at the Masonic Temple, Los Angeles—World Pacific WP-1435:

The recent discovery of the music of India by the pop music world (see Beatles, Spoonful, etc.) has spread interest in this unique music to many quarters. LPs are coming out at a great rate, and live concerts pack the halls, as this one did down in Lotus Land.

The Hindustani music of North India, for which the great Ravi Shankar is the best-known artist, should be distinguished from the Carnatic music of South India. The sarod player, Ali Akbar Khan, performs in the Hindustani style although the "Raga Kirwani" heard on this LP is an import from the south.

The "Raga Chandranandan" on side one of the disc is the main interest — a continually building emotional experience with fantastic rhythmic improvisations.

While this is a good album, I must report that an even more exciting (both in performance and sound) version of the same raga by the same performer is available on the Connoisseur (45 R.P.M.) label.

KIMIO ETO / KOTO MASTER WORLD-PACIFIC Stereo 1428:

Along with the new interest in India's sarods and sitars goes an increasing audience for the beauties of Japan's koto.

Eto is a blind musician who is said to be Japan's foremost master of the ancient stringed instrument sometimes called the Japanese harp. This is his third LP for World-Pacific and consists mainly of his own compositions and those of his teacher, Machio Mayagi. A new slant on the concept of a tone poem is shown by such pieces as "The Sound of Construction and Progress," or "The Sound of Water."

THE NEW SEASON

TV Has The Jitters As Debut Time Is Only A Few Days Off

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The start of television's 1966-67 season is only days away and, if industry attitudes are a clue, it contains all the excitement of a library reading room on a summer Saturday.

Press agents are dutilfully puffing the new product and describing the marvelous quality of new scripts for new shows. But after visiting numerous sets and talking to a lot of people, one comes away with the impression that the stimulating entertainment of the season will come, if at all, in the 125 or so "specials" the three networks will broadcast.

MEANWHILE, among the 90 regular programs on the evening schedule, there are 34 new shows. Everybody has his candidates for glory and sudden oblivion.

NBC's "The Monkees," a comedy about a bunch of rock 'n' roll singers, was receiving considerable attention when interviews with the stars-to-be were halted. It seems the youngsters were acting bored about confrontations with visiting television writers.

Talk persists, however, that in its concept, the series has tried to capture some of the qualities of the Beatle movie, "A Hard Day's Night," which would be nice if true.

"THE ROUNDERS," an ABC entry, is a contemporary cowpoke comedy which its publicists term "lusty." But it is doubtful whether any early-evening television program, including "The Rounders," could really be described as lusty. Anything broadcast before 9 p.m. must be fit for tender young eyes and ears.

Important theatrical names are at a minimum among the new shows.

The one really big star entry is Jean Arthur in a CBS comedy called, reasonably enough, "The Jean Arthur Show." Miss Arthur, after more than a decade of retirement from films, is emerging in a series about a lady lawyer with a blood relationship to that durable literary property "Auntie Mame"—lovable, pleasantly insane and, always, so right.

"RUN, BUDDY, Run," another CBS entry, seems to be a parlay on the spoof there that won high rating last season for NBC's "Get Smart." This time the hero is a spoof on "the running man" theme—a fellow fleeing murder-minded gangsters. Another along the same lines is NBC's "The Hero."

Westerns are having one of their periodic revivals—although they really never left us. ABC leads with three new ones: "The Iron Horse," "The Monroes" and "Shane." The latter is based on the old movie but the principal character has been slightly tamed for television purposes.

NBC has "The Road West." Ann Sheridan's new situation comedy. "Pistlos 'n' Petticoats" has a Western setting, but is not in the classic mold.

FAITHFUL MAN SERVANT Kato, Bruce Lee, assists his boss, Britt Reid by day and Green Hornet by night, Van Williams, in his never ceasing fight against organized crime in "The Green Hornet" premiering Friday at 7:30 p.m. on Channels 7 and 11.

ABC's "GREEN Hornet" may not be a full relative of "Batman," but our hero parks his super-car behind a billboard that splits when he roars off for some derringdo. In the same category is NBC's sibling of "The Man from UNCLE," called "The Girl from UNCLE." NBC is so fond of initials it has added another show called "T.H.E. Cat."

There is a clutch of situation comedies on the fire. There is pleasant talk about "Love on a Rooftop," an ABC entry, as well as "That Girl," starring Danny Thomas' daughter, Marlo.

AND ADD A couple of science fiction entries — NBC's "Star Trek" and ABC's "Time Tunnel." They will go down nicely with the crowd that already loves "Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea" and "Lost in Space." "Jericho" on CBS will start fighting the intelligence battles of World War II.

No one seems to know much about "The Tammy Grimes Show" on ABC except that the star will play a slightly "Auntie Mame" character, too. NBC's "Tarzan" promises to be amusing even if there is no Jane and the "great apes" have shrunk to more docile chimps.

Milton Berle, at this writing, had just taped his first variety show for ABC. Two series, "Rat Patrol" and "The Man Who Never Was," are being shot abroad and unbiased word about their progress is slow in arriving in Hollywood.

THERE SEEMS to be promise in Phyllis Diller's "Pruitts of Southampton," which was written originally for Beatrice Lillie. Gypsy Rose Lee has been cast as a funny heavy to balance some of the action.

Certainly the spice of the season is bound to depend heavily on ABC's Wednesday night anthology series, "Stage '67," which includes everything from original musical comedies to documentaries. Among the dramatic specials in the works from ABC and CBS are new productions of "The Diary of Anne Frank" and "The Glass Menagerie."

If all else fails, there are five nights a week when there will be two-hour reruns of old movies.

Man From UNCLE Is Not Embittered

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — David McCallum did not seem like a man who had just been sued for divorce.

He remained calm and not at all bitter, but then, that's the type of chap he is: highly unflappable.

Concerning the suit by actress Jill Ireland, who charged extreme mental cruelty, he commented:

"IF THERE IS anything I have learned about human relationships, it is that there is folly in trying to apply the word blame. Life is so complex, so governed by a variety of motivations that it is useless to blame either party when things go bad."

The change of marital status is not the only alteration in McCallum's life. He has also been having talks with MGM concerning his contractual status.

Don't worry, Ilya fans, he has no plans to abandon "The Man from UNCLE."

"Oh, I wouldn't give that up," he mused. "After all, it's a pleasant little game between the studio on one side and Bob Vaughn and me on the other.

"THE PURPOSE of the game is to see how long the two of us can survive. Last month I destroyed my rib cage (it was injured in a fall into a cement barrel) and last week Bob lost a hand (burned when he grasped an exhaust pipe)."

But while McCallum concedes that he enjoys this "game," he has his own ideas about how it should be played. This has been the subject of his negotiations with MGM.

"I wanted to clarify certain matters," he explained. "One of them concerns my relations with 'The Girl from UNCLE.' The studio wanted me to be in the new series every now and then, but I had some reluctance about overdoing the UNCLE identification.

"We came to an agreement that I would be allowed script approval on 'The Girl From UNCLE.' So far I haven't been asked to do one, and I frankly would be happy to wait and see what the public acceptance is."

Organized Labor's Day

In Marin That Means 14,000 Men And Women

By DON KEOWN

Marin County on Monday will join with the rest of the nation in marking the working man's holiday.

Especially is Labor Day dedicated to the members of organized labor's unions.

In Marin, that means approximately 14,000 men and women who belong to unions and work and draw their paychecks in Marin.

Another 3,000 to 4,000 union members reside in this county, but commute out of the county to their jobs.

HUGH CASSIDY, secretary-treasurer of the Marin County Labor Council, coordinating body for the American Federation of Labor-Congress of Industrial Organizations affiliated unions, estimates that the group represents between 12,000 and 13,000 union men and women employed in Marin.

Independent unions, not affiliated with the AFL-CIO, of which the Teamsters' Union is the largest, bring the Marin total up to the 14,000 figure.

"While we do not represent the Teamsters," Cassidy says, "we cooperate with them on the local level."

CASSIDY ESTIMATES that there are between 45 and 50 different unions with members working in the county.

Of the AFL-CIO unions, the Carpenters' Union is the largest, followed by the Retail Clerks, and then the Bartenders and Culinary Workers.

"That pretty well reflects the kind of economy our county has," observes Cassidy. "Construction and the services are our mainstays. Manufacturing is only a relatively minor factor."

MOST OF Marin's active unions have doubled or more than doubled their membership during the 15 years Cassidy has been a labor council officer.

"That growth is continuing," Cassidy says.

Generally, Cassidy adds, the organized labor picture in Marin County is a healthy one.

"Construction is especially well organized," he says. "There are still some fields that are not as well organized as we would like for them to be. But generally speaking, I would say that Marin is a healthy union county."

LABOR RELATIONS, too, have been excellent, he reports.

"The picture in Marin is one of unusual harmony," Cassidy says.

"I can only recall two serious disputes on the local level that resulted in strikes. Marin members were involved, of course, in area-wide strikes. But on the Marin level, I can remember only the two—and we won them both."

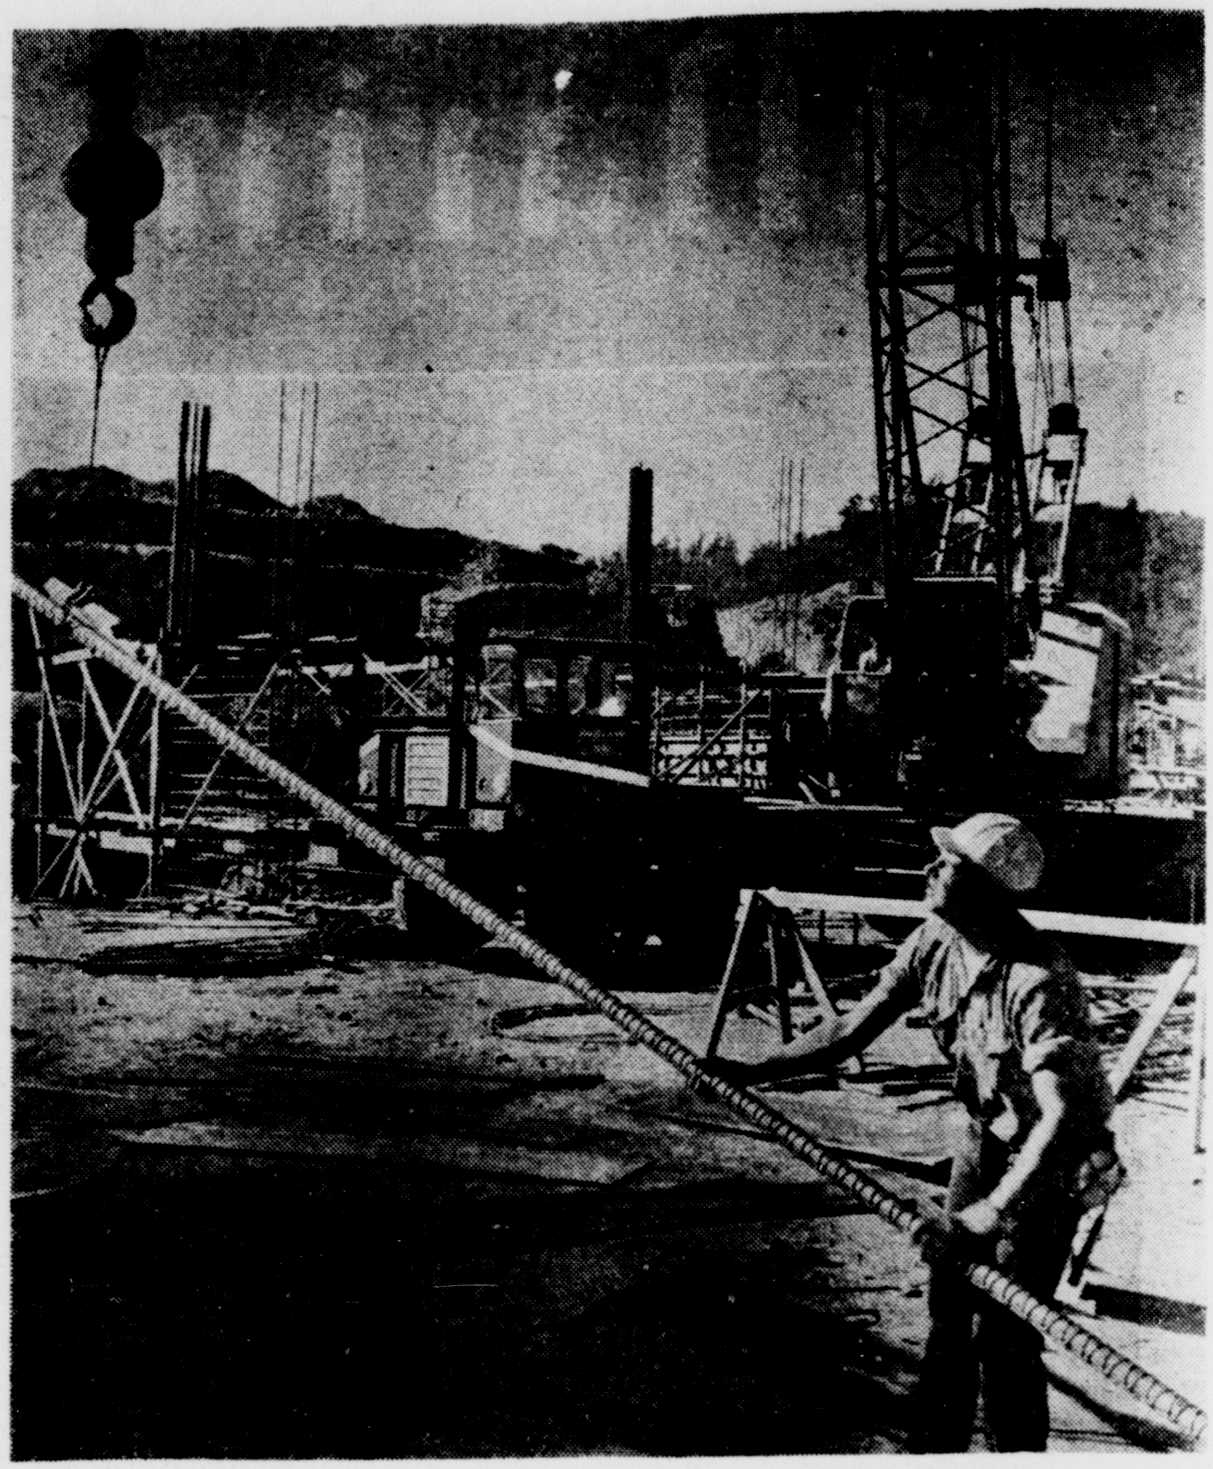
He attributes that "remarkable record" to a willingness to "keep on talking as long as there is any reasonable chance of settling controversial points."

ORGANIZED LABOR, Cassidy says, would like to see increased industry in the county.

"There is industry of a kind that would in no way injure the beauty and character of our county," he declares.

But he sees little hope for any real upsurge in manufacturing activity in Marin.

High land costs, high transportation costs, high taxes are among the factors that stand in the way of any such trend, he believes.



CONSTRUCTION, along with the services, is the bulwark of Marin County's employment structure. One of the major building projects under way in the county is the new Hall of Justice at the Civic Center site. The workman is Doug Wallach, member of Local 377 of the Iron Workers' Union. Building activity will pause on Monday as the Labor Day holiday honoring the country's union working men and women is observed.

"DURING THE 15 years I have been a labor council officer, the economy pattern for our county has not really changed," he says. "We have remained dependent largely upon construction and the services for our employment."

The Marin County Labor Council meets twice a month in the Painters' Union Hall at 701 Mission Street, San Rafael.

Matters before the council may range beyond strictly union matters into civic and other fields.

"There is no restriction as to what can be brought before us," Cassidy says.

JAMES SMITH of Fairfax and the Butchers' Union is the council president.

No special observance of Labor Day is planned for Monday in Marin County.

"I'm afraid that Labor Day, like Memorial Day, has become just another three-day holiday weekend for many people." Cassidy says. "Too few think of why they are having a day off-work."

This is true, he admits, even of many union members, to whom the day is dedicated.

"I THINK IT IS a product of our times and conditions," he says. "There is less personal involvment among union members. There is a tendency to trust and rely upon the leadership. The worker is less inclined to identify himself closely with the union, even though he belongs, pays his dues and believes in it and its programs.

"I'm not saying it is something to my liking. I'm just saying it is something I have observed, and apparently something that is in keeping with today's society.

"There can, however, still be a high degree of militancy in the ranks of organized labor when there is a cause for it. We witnessed that when union members rallied so strongly to fight the so-called right-to-work proposal."

CASSIDY SAYS he can still recall fondly the years before World War II when Labor Day was a holiday in the Bay Area that called for a major observance—"especially in San Francisco, where there used to be a parade and other activities."

Labor Day, however, predates considerably those years.

It was back in the 1880s that the Knights of Labor began agitating for an official Labor Day observance. In 1887, Oregon became the first state to officially proclaim the holiday. Other states followed suit. Then in 1894 Congress passed a bill proclaiming the first Monday of September as an annual Labor Day holiday throughout the United States.

NOW LABOR DAY is marked in all 50 states and in the District of Columbia.

The years may have beclouded the history of and reason for Labor Day, but the thoughtful Marinite has little difficulty discerning the part played by organized labor members in his daily life.

He works in an office building constructed by union workers. He may commute to his job in a bus operated by a union driver. He has his hair cut by a union barber. He uses a telephone serviced by union maintenance personnel. He lunches in a restaurant where the food is prepared by a union chef and served by a union waitress, and may enjoy a cocktail prepared by a union bartender.

HIS MAIL IS delivered by a union postman to a home built by union construction workers. He dines at home on meat cut by union butchers, canned and frozen foods processed by union members, transported by union teamsters and sold by union clerks. He enjoys a newspaper made possible by union printers, engravers, pressmen and stereotypers. In an emergency, he calls a union plumber or other serviceman.

He may attend a movie where the projectionist is a union man, or he may stay home to watch television with union entertainers and union technicians behind the screens.

His daily contacts with union services and union products are endless.

And it is because of the men and women behind these services and products that he will be on holiday this Monday.

JANE SANTUCCI, left, and Donna Salmela have sketched the basic design for their batik. Now they are painting with melted wax. The two women carry on their Saturday hobby in their Terra Linda homes.

Terra Linda Women Find New Hobby

Batik Proves Enjoyable And Profitable Pastime

Two Terra Linda mothers have discovered how a Saturday divided between kitchen and clothesline can lead to an exciting, creative hobby. And a financially profitable one, at that!

Jane Santucci and Donna Salmela are self-taught batik artists.

BATIK IS AN ancient, Oriental art which consists of applying wax and dyes to cloth in a way which produces a special, marbelized effect. The base design can come from an original drawing, a copy of a favorite painting . . . or it can be just an abstract splash of color.

Using the batik technique, the dyes bleed—madris-like— fusing into a unique color blend certain to start conversations wherever the paintings are hung.

Yet the method is so simple that nearly anyone can produce a creditable batik in the family kitchen.

THE ONLY equipment needed is a cotton cloth (sheeting will do nicely), paraffin or wax . . . and a few boxes of ordinary fabric dye (Rit or Tintex work fine).

On a typical Saturday, Jane and Donna turn out four to seven batiks, using from three to six colors in each. Over the past year, these Saturday artists have been framing their best efforts and earlier this summer they timidly showed a few dozen of their batiks to Corky Jones, hostess at Sam's Anchor Cafe in Tiburon. Within a week the girls' batik collection went on display in Sam's main dining room, and suddenly they had their first show.

"Frankly, we were scared stiff," confides Donna. "We did not know whether we would be laughed at, or whether some would actually be sold."

FORTY-EIGHT hours after the show began, they found out.

The batiks—modestly priced in the $25 to $100 range—sold fast.

Other shows followed and now the Terra Linda neighbors have returned to Sam's with a new collection of their batiks for exhibit and sale. These, too, are already producing financial dividends which may some day help put the kids through college.

Producing marketable batiks, of course, takes more than a simple design and a few hours time. Jane and Donna both have college degrees in art and are expert at creating original designs for their renderings. They have also developed their own advanced techniques after months of experimentation.

But the basic batik method is easily done. It's inexpensive and it affords a chance for anyone—with or without artistic training—to create some fascinating conversation pieces for the home.

HERE IS HOW it works:

Take a piece of cotton cloth and draw the basic design on it with a pencil. If the design is to be a copy of another painting or drawing, trace it through the cloth.

Spread the cloth smoothly over a layer of wax paper. Put weights on each corner.

Melt the wax or paraffin in a double boiler and paint it with a brush on that part of the

THE TWO WOMEN examine the results of their application of wax to the cotton cloth. Apparently it is all right, and they are ready to proceed with the dyeing.

MRS. SANTUCCI lifts the batik-to-be from the pot of dye, but finds it is not yet ready for removal.

THIS TIME, 4-year-old Brian Salmela helps his mother and her neighbor check on the progress of the dyeing. And apparently it meets with the approval of all. (Independent-Journal photos by Harry Mathias)

IT MAKES a colorful and unusual "wash" when Donna Salmela, left, and Jane Santucci hang their batiks out on their backyard clotheslines in Terra Linda to dry.

TERRA LINDA'S two batik artists pose with some of their work, some of it finished and framed, the rest finished, ironed and ready for framing. The second showing of their batiks is now under way at Sam's Anchor Cafe in Tiburon.

TERRA LINDA WOMEN

design which is not to be stained with the first color. Let the wax cool.

Dissolve a package of dye in two quarts of warm (not hot) water. Use a large, enamel pan or the kichen sink for dyeing.

Dip the waxed cloth in the dye and let it set for five to 20 minutes, depending on how deep a color is desired.

Remove the stained and waxed cloth and rinse it in warm water. Then, weather permitting, hang it on the clothesline to dry. On a typically warm, windy, Terra Linda day, this takes only 15 or 20 minutes.

When the cloth is dry, remove the old wax by placing the cloth between layers of paper toweling and ironing with a medium heat setting. The paper will absorb the wax.

Now it is ready for the second color. Once again, apply wax in the areas which are not to be stained with color. Soak the batik in the second color dye, dry and repeat the process until all colors are applied.

SPECIAL TIP: Begin with light colors and primary colors, such as yellow, blue and red, then progress to the darker colors. Use only a few colors for the first efforts; the color spectrum can be increased by dyeing blue over yellow to produce green . . . red over yellow to produce orange, and so on.

Areas which are covered with wax through all of the dye baths will, of course, remain white.

Each time the wax dries, normal movement will cause it to crack a little. Dye will seep into these cracks—staining the batik in an irregular and unpredictable fan-like pattern. This causes the marbelized effect which characterizes batik and sets it apart from any other type of painting.

WITH A LITTLE practice, the waxed cloth can be gently twisted to increase the distinctive batik effect without destroying the basic design.

So being tied to the kitchen and clothesline need not be a dull routine. With a little ingenuity and practice, any kitchen can be converted into a creative art studio.

And who knows? The results might turn a tidy profit to boot! It did for Jane and Donna!

The Busy Volunteers Of Marin

Opportunities Are Plentiful For The Willing

By LEE CADWALLADER

THERE ARE only three women at this informal meeting, but they can exchange information on a large number of organizations and activities for which they have volunteered their services. Mrs. Howard M. Morse, left, is the new Marin Symphony Guild president, Council of Music and Arts opera chairman, ACTION for the San Francisco Opera member, past president of the Terra Linda Cooperative Nursery, San Rafael Forum for Education member, past recording secretary for Hoffman School Parent Club, a teacher aide at Hoffman, Sunday school teacher at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, co-chairman of a Sunny Hills Grape Festival booth and a Republican Party precinct worker. Mrs. Richard Riznik, center, is president of the Council of Music and Arts, ACTION member, past president of the Terra Linda Cooperative Nursery, San Rafael Forum for Education member, vice president of the Lucas Valley School Club, Miller Creek Parent Club board member, election board member, a 1960 census-taker, a school bond issue canvasser and Girl Scout leader. Mrs. L. J. Borcherding, right, is a Girl Scout leader, past Cub Scout den mother, young audience chairman of the Council of Music and Arts, Marin Civic Ballet Assn. member, member of the choir and Sunday School teacher at Faith Lutheran Church, a school volunteer in health education and music and member of the Lutheran social services visiting committee to the Fifth Avenue Convalescent Hospital of San Rafael. (Photos by Robert Cadwallader)

The protocol for making friends in suburban areas has been rewritten.

In days when moves were less frequent, the road for an uprooted family was usually paved by letters of introduction. Admittance to inner circles was gained only after much waiting.

But in Marin County, where the moving van arrives and departs with what sometimes seems greater regularity than the commute bus, the best way to avoid alienation is to find an organization doing work that interests you and volunteer to work with it.

STILL BETTER, to save time, call the Volunteer Bureau of Marin County at 454-1630 between 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Monday through Friday (after hours interviews can be arranged).

The bureau has a complete file of health, recreation, civic, cultural, welfare and educational organizations in Marin County. And don't forget them if you are ever appointed program chairman. They have a speakers file, too.

All you really need is either talent or the willingness to work.

Volunteer work used to mean just stuffing envelopes or soliciting money; busy work done by mink-dripping ladies in flowered hats and white gloves.

THAT'S NOT the picture today. The volunteer worker of today has a real job to do—and nobody realizes that more than the businessman.

Businessmen have discovered that the volunteer field is an ideal recruiting ground for prospective employees.

And administrators in education have been pleasantly surprised at the number of teacher aides and library aides who have been inspired through their volunteer work to return to college and earn teacher and librarian credentials.

Students who do volunteer work in their prospective fields have an opportunity to realistically judge whether they're on the right track by appraising

COMPACT OR COMPONENT? This past year has been noted for the introduction of many COMPACTS. What is a COMPACT? What is a COMPONENT? Custom home music systems are made up from various electronic units referred to as components. The indivinal items are a TUNER for "tuning-in" the FM and AM stations. A PREAMPLIFIER for controlling the volume and tonal qualities of the system and for selecting the program source. A POWER AMPLIFIER for building-up (amplifying) the signal coming from the preamplifier. The LOUDSPEAKER SYSTEMS for converting the electrical energy into sound waves. The RECORD PLAYER for reproducing the records. And in some systems, a TAPE RECORDER/PLAYER for making and playing tapes. The trend has been to combine the Tuner, Preamplifier, and Power Amplifier into one component instead of three separate components.

For home music systems, components may be used in several ways. The tuner/amplifier and record changer can be mounted on bookshelf with the speakers in other parts of the room. Or, all items can be installed in a carefully designed music wall built into the home.

A COMPACT generally refers to a unit that includes components mounted into a small table top radio-phono unit and two small separate speaker systems. Some compacts use only a phono unit as a center table top piece, and two separate speaker systems. The theory behind the Compacts is that you can approach the component system quality and yet use up very little space in the home.

Most Compacts are designed in three pieces, usually in walnut wood. The main unit is generally slightly larger than a record changer with a brand name diamond stereo cartridge, and a solid state (transistorized) amplifier preamplifier combination. The two additional pieces contain the stereo speaker systems and can be placed on each side of the main unit with 6 to 8 feet of separation for good stereo. Some Compacts include the stereo FM Tuner along with the phono electronics. Visit our showrooms and hear our line of KLH Compacts.

MRS. BORCHERDING, a registered nurse, has also taken advantage of the opportunities offered by the schools for satisfying volunteer services. She is seen here leaving with daughters Bonnie, left, and Jan for school where she lectures to students on good health practices. Since she also enjoys singing, she has given her amateur assistance to the elementary music program.

No Strangers Among The Volunteers

their chosen profession from the bottom up.

ANOTHER PART of the new look in volunteer organizations is the integration of men, women, young and old.

At a recent meeting of ACTION, a newly formed committee to stimulate Marin County interest in the San Francisco Opera, the chairman asked that every effort be made to recruit 50 per cent male workers, that teen-age workers be given the same recognition as the adults, and that retired people be encouraged to lend their support.

Mrs. Howard Morse, the new president of the Symphony Guild of Marin, heads a board of directors that happens to be just 50 per cent male.

IN THE MARIN Civic Ballet Assn. the two top offices are held by men, while the treasurer and secretary are women.

These integrated groups work well within their organizations and often reach out to work with others.

Members from both the Symphony Guild and Civic Ballet recently joined with members of other organizations to lobby for additional funds from the state for the construction of the Marin Veterans Memorial Auditorium.

Overlapping memberships facilitate cooperation between such organizations as the Marin Symphony Guild and the Marin Music Chest, or the Marin Society of Artists and the Terra Linda Art Assn.

AND THE Council of Music and Arts overlaps them all in interest and membership. This is a group of parents organized under the Dixie School District Coordinating Council to arrange and sponsor opera, symphony and art museum field trips for the children of the Dixie School District.

In every school district in Marin County you'll find a wealth of volunteer opportunities. Here's the place where you can create your own volunteer service if you have some esoteric talent.

Contrary to ill-founded propaganda, administrators eagerly welcome guest lecturers on foreign lands, unusual occupations, skills, and so on. And you don't need a certificate for these guest appearances.

ONCE YOU get started you'll be led into more and more activities. And here's a paradox—the more you become involved, the easier it will be for you to say yes and do a good job.

YOUTH LEADERSHIP is another field that is especially satisfying to the volunteer. Mrs. Lyle Borcherding dons a Norwegian costume made by Mrs. E. A. Hummel to help her Girl Scouts in their study of Sandinavia. Left to right, the Scouts are Teri Ford, Bonnie Borcherding, Kari Olund, Kathy Kerns and Jan Borcherding.

ELSA BORCHERDING visited her daughter's dancing class to watch Leona Norman instruct them, and wound up joining Mrs. Norman's adult class. From this came an interest and participation in the Marin Civic Ballet Assn.

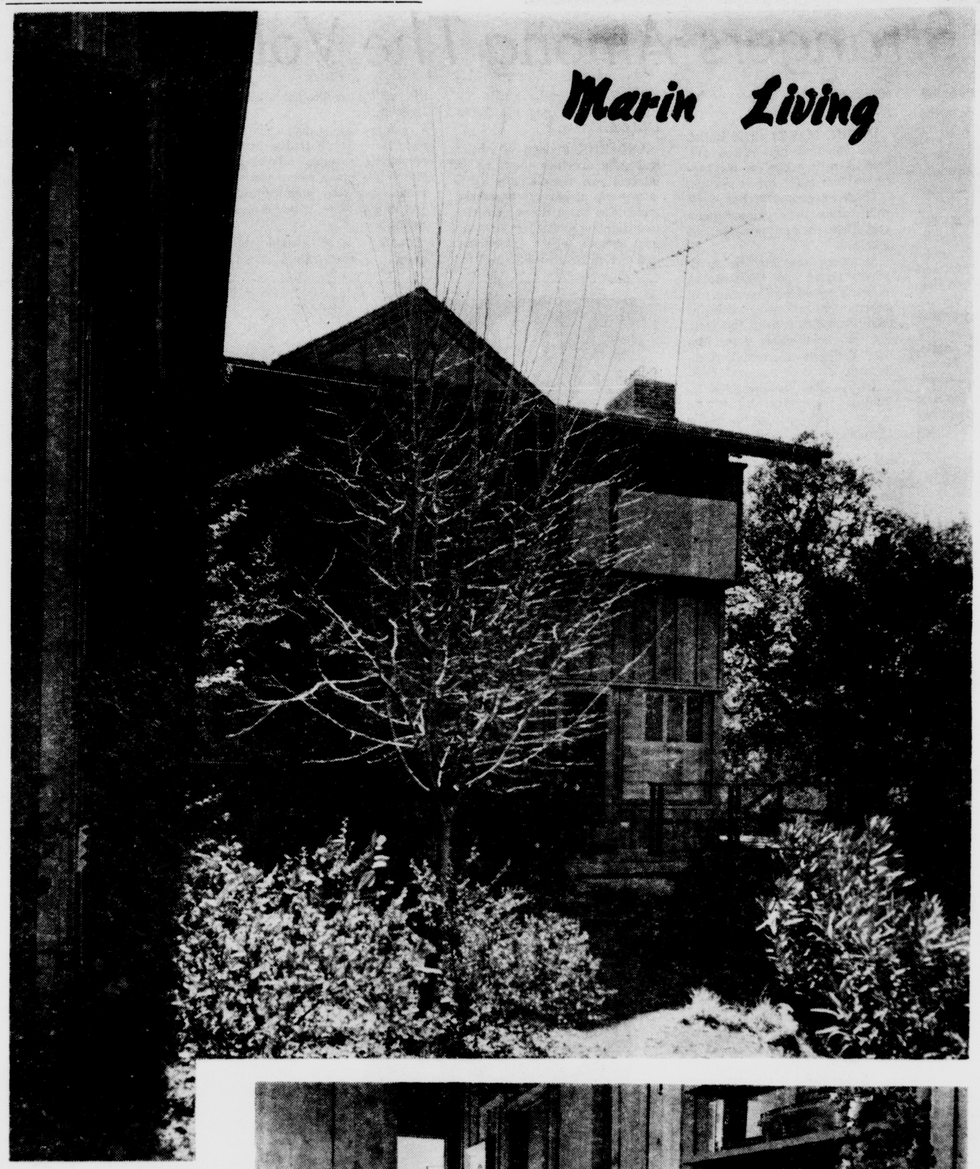
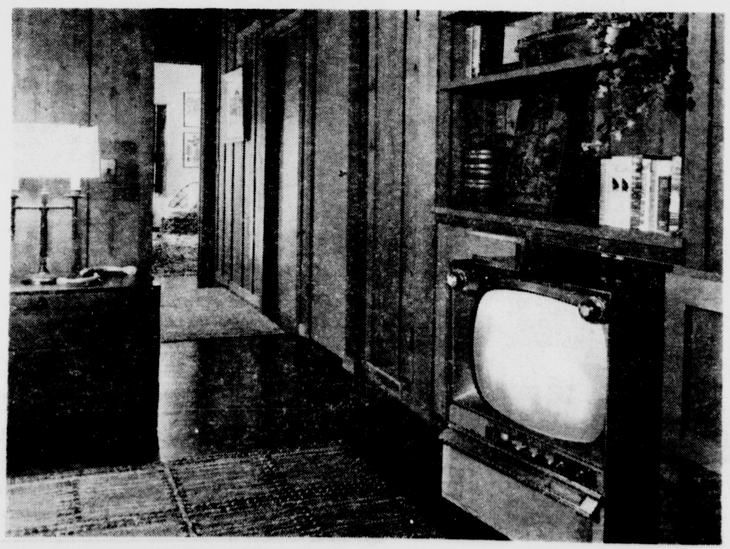
Marin Living



ABOVE, the Henry Schubart-designed home on a wooded and rocky San Anselmo hillside was built entirely of redwood in a "rustic contemporary" style ideally suited to the surroundings. Interior designers Merede Leedy and Delcena Bair were asked to match that same mood of informality with their inside decor.



AT RIGHT, the designers made special provision for the television set, placing it on a low rolling table under the shelves and behind cabinet doors. Thus, when not in use, it is out of sight and does not clash with the handsome, natural-appearing redwood walls and oaken floor.

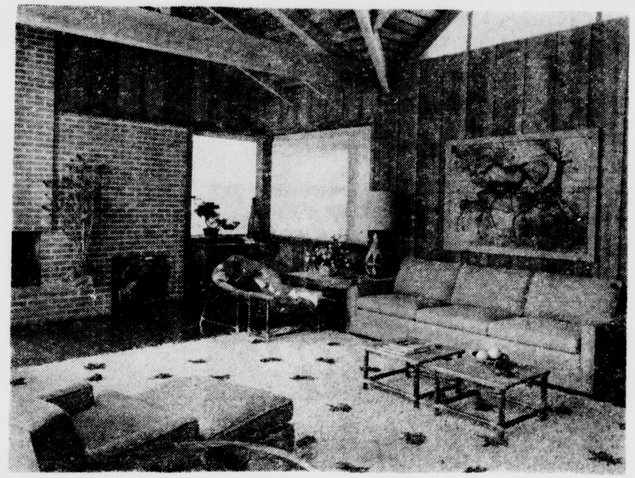
THE CEILING OF the San Anselmo house presents a strong overhead pattern of beams and exposed shingles. Below, area rugs serve an important function. There is an old Japanese tansu chest filled with drawers and trays, an antique Chinese bronze urn, an X-chair by McGuire in leather, and a variety of accessories, old and new.



THE PILLOWBACK SOFA in sage and beige tweed is set off by the custom-made batik behind it. Also shown in this living room photo are a large custom-made travertine-top table, a Suva chair with calf hide ottoman, and coffee tables with cane tops and rattan bases than can also serve as stools.

A Carefree Home That Matches Its San Anselmo Setting

Designers Meet A Challenge In The Decor Of New House

The new home in the San Anselmo area presented two prime challenges — or opportunities — for interior designers Merede Leedy and Delcena Bair.

First, there was the request of the owners that they provide low maintenance decor and furnishings for the house.

Secondly, they were asked to match the mood of informality created by the house and its wooded hillside surroundings.

THE HOUSE designed by architect Henry Schubart in a "rustic contemporary" style was built entirely of redwood, admirably suited to the rugged rock formations and handsome trees of the sloping site.

The construction featured board and batten redwood in the interior, with open beam and exposed shingle ceiling to form a strong overhead pattern. Brick quarry tile and oak floorings added further texture interest below.

Could the interior designers fit their decor into this mood, and also provide the carefree kind of living for the occupants that had been specified?

THEY BEGAN by ruling out draperies and carpets for maintenance-sake.

Windows in the living room were treated with woven hemp and reed shades, the bedroom and dining area windows with shutter frames filled with reed and slat materials.

Area rugs were used for color and texture on the soft brown oak floors. Included were a luxurious tufted wool piece of brown on beige for the living room, a handwoven brown and beige runner woven by San Francisco weaver Mahsoud, a Spanish hemp rug in the dining area, American Indian rugs in the hall, and a brilliant orange and maroon Morrocan covering in the bedroom.

THE UPHOLSTERED furniture includes a large pillowback sofa in sage and beige, a swivel club chair in tobacco brown, a Suva rattan chair and an ottoman in calf hide.

Accessories mix the old with the new and include a batik by a San Francisco artist over the sofa, a toy Indian canoe, handmade ceramics, American Indian baskets, brass fish, a small table from India and other pieces collected by the owners.

When Miss Bair (herself a San Anselmo resident) and Miss Leedy were through, they were satisfied they had met both challenges.

THE HOME will require only a minimum of care.

And the decor and the house seem perfectly mated to each other — and to be, in turn, congenial with the surrounding outdoors.

Both decorators are members of the Northern California District Chapter which will be hosting the 35th annual meeting of the American Institute of Interior Designers starting next Saturday in San Francisco and continuing through Sept. 15.

LOOKING TOWARD the fireplace wall, you see a contemporary Danish round table with lamp made from an old English rum jug, a corner chair that swivels for view or fireplace, a brass cigarette table from India, a decorative old Chinese-English chest, and, hanging from the fireplace, an art object that is a portion of old door from India.

Two Very Different Winter Vacations

For Sunnier And Warmer Clime, Choose Caribbean

The Travel Pages

What better way to make that long, cold winter seem shorter than to spend part of it enjoying the warmth and gaiety of the Caribbean?

Whether you're looking for sun, sports, unique sights, nightlife or bargain shopping, this popular vacation area has something for everyone. From the Spanish atmosphere on Puerto Rico, to the Dutch traditions of Curacao, and the British influence on Jamaica, the Caribbean has a truly international flavor.

A CORNER OF France, too, is easily discovered in the Caribbean, on the islands of Guadeloupe and Martinique in the French West Indies.

Guadeloupe is really two islands, called Basse-Terre and Grande-Terre. Air France, whose jets fly there from New York, recommends the south coast of Grand-Terre which has some of the best swimming spots in the world. One outstanding sight on neighboring Martinique is the birthplace of the girl who was to marry Napoleon and become the Empress Josephine.

An airline and a steamship company have teamed up to eliminate the long, open ocean voyage that consumes so much valuable time on conventional cruises. Air France jets to the Antilles where travelers meet French Line sister ships Antilles or Flandre for island hopping in the Antilles.

ANOTHER ADVANTAGE to Americans is that no passport is needed for travel in the Caribbean.

A variety of winter tours are available, beginning in November and running to the middle of January.

Beginning with a swift jet flight to Pointe-a-Pitre, Guadeloupe, a typical Air France/French Line cruise continues by ship, sailing for St. Thomas, in the U.S. Virgin Islands. The Danish influence on its capital city, Charlotte Amalie, is readily noticeable.

And among other interesting sights to visit are famed Blackbeard's Castle, believed to have been the home of the notorious pirate, Edward Teach.

IN ADDITION TO its many historical spots, the next stop, San Juan, Puerto Rico, offers plenty of bustling excitement and a lively nightlife. Then to Jamaica, favored by such connoisseurs as the late English writer, Ian Fleming, for a look at the capital city of Kingston.

Curacao is only 38 miles off the coast of Venezuela, and its capital and only city, Willemstad, is a bit of Holland transplanted to the Caribbean, right down to its gaily-colored, gabled 17th and 18th Century Dutch houses.

Tour participants will be able to say that they've been to South America, too, for from Curacao, the ship heads for La Guaira, Venzuela's most important port.

THEN IT'S ON to Port of Spain, Trinidad, where British, French, Spaniards, Portuguese, Syrians, Chinese, East Indians and Africans form a cosmopolitan population.

Bridgetown, Barbados, with its narrow, winding streets and pastel-colored homes, many made of cordal blocks cut from the ground and surrounded by charming gardens, is considered by many to be one of the most picturesque cities in the Caribbean.

Bridgetown is the last port on the way back to the French West Indies. There's a stop at Fort-de-France on Martinique and then a return to Guadeloupe.

Visitors will find that this winter is going to be a little shorter and a lot sunnier, weathering it in the Caribbean.

MUSIC MATCHES the holiday mood in the sunshine-saturated Caribbean islands, which are being discovered by more and more winter vacationers from the West Coast. Native drummers add a touch of warmth and gaiety as they greet arriving visitors.

French Alps Beckon To Sportsmen

It isn't only the Jet Set who make the scene at Europe's most exciting ski resorts. "Living it up" costs less than they thought, tourists are discovering, high among the towering peaks of the French Alps.

Not far from Grenoble, one of France's oldest cities, and the chosen site for the 1968 Winter Olympics, there are many good spots for skiing. Seasoned skiers will find slopes to challenge the abilities of an Olympic hopeful, with many others for beginners and novices.

ALL OF THE RESORTS in this area have ski instructors, many of whom speak English. For only a few dollars extra, they offer skiing lessons that will have any enthusiast schussing down more advanced slopes before long.

There's something for the kids, too, from toddlers to teens. Many of the resorts have skating rinks, ski lessons for youngsters and even kindergartens.

The continental "go-go set" haunts these slopes each year. They can be found rubbing shoulders in the local casinos, discotheques and cabarets.

EXPERIENCED skiers may choose Chamonix, at the foot of Mont Blanc, for a short stay. Its cable car to the top of the peak is the highest in the world.

Chamonix has many fast, long runs, such as the famous Mer de Glace (Sea of Ice), which extends down the north face of Mont Blanc for more than 12 miles to the town below. But there are also more gentle slopes for beginners.

Linked to Chamonix by means of cable cars is the resort of Megeve, popular for its easy runs. Convivial nightlife is found in Megeve's many clubs and one can buy clothes for skiing and apres-ski in its fashionable shops.

Chamrousse, located only 20 miles by bus from Grenoble, is one of the newer resorts. In addition to a variety of slopes, it offers the high adventure of excursions via the Croix de Chamrousse cable car, which reaches heights of over 7,000 feet.

AT A HIGH altitude is Val d'Isere, one of the best equipped of all European resorts, and neighboring Tignes, the highest ski center in Europe.

The newest and one of the most modern ski resorts in France, with new hotels being built each year, is Courchevel, where 60 miles of trails offer all types of skiing. The chic resort of Meribel, noted for its night-life and smart villas, is connected to Courchevel by means of cable cars and lifts.

For skiing families, a good choice is La Clusaz, a typical Savoie village, which has excellent slopes facing north to permit skiing into May. This small, intimate resort is popular with families and those who prefer to do their skiing in a peaceful atmosphere.

LES GETS, in the Province of Haute Savoie, is located in a deep but sunny valley. On its many slopes, there's good powdered snow from December to mid-April, and the surrounding snow fields provide a choice of enjoyable excursions.

For those who don't ski, it's worth the trip just to sit back and enjoy the breath-taking scenery, try their luck in a casino, dip into a tasty cheese fondue, and enjoy apres-ski fun over cocktails in a cozy ski lodge high in the French Alps.

ON THE MOVE down the slopes of the French Alps are some fast-traveling members of the international ski set. Such resorts as Grenoble and Chamonix are becoming increasingly accessible to the general public, thanks partially to new winter ski tour bargain rates.

Another Critical Appraisal Of The Warren Commission Report

By DON KEOWN

THE OSWALD AFFAIR by Leo Sauvage, World, 418 pages, $6.95.

NATURE'S MEDICINES by Richard Lucas, Parker, 224 pages, $5.95.

The spate of critiques of the Warren Commission investigation and report on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy continues with the publication of an English translation of French journalist Leo Sauvage's "The Oswald Affair," first published in France last year.

Sauvage covers much the same ground as does Mark Lane in his "Rush to Judgment," but reaches more sweeping conclusions.

Lane was content to point out deficiencies in the Commission's probe and findings, contending that the theory of Lee Oswald as a lone assassin had not been proven while refraining from theorizing of his own.

Sauvage goes further, concluding "that it is logically untenable, legally indefensible and morally inadmissable to declare Lee Harvey Oswald the assassin of President Kennedy," and suggesting the slaying was actually a racist plot.

Like Lane, Sauvage argues that the Commission approached its weighty assignment pre-committed to the theory of federal and Dallas authorities that Oswald acted alone without fellow conspirators and perpetrated the murder. It then, the two authors maintain, proceeded to fit the evidence into that pattern, discarding that which did not fit.

Chief Justice Earl Warren and his fellow commissioners were motivated, they suggest, by a false patriotism—a feeling that a final, non-conspiratorial verdict would best serve the national interest.

It is apparent that there is rivalry in the ranks of the Commission critics with Sauvage frequently caustic in his comments concerning his colleagues including Lane. Yet it is Lane who seems to have written the more comprehensive, the sounder, more thoughtful, far better documented and more persuasive book.

Sometimes the two writers reach identical or similar conclusions, sometimes they differ widely, and sometimes they explore fields overlooked or ignored by the other. But generally, Lane's analyses of the Commission's procedures and conclusions are the more convincing. His tone is more moderate and his opinions more convincing. Sauvage harms his own case by resorting excessively to ridicule. And he sometimes indulges in the very practices he criticizes. For instance, his racist plot theory is totally without substantiation. On the other hand, he has made a stronger personal attempt than Lane to obtain from witnesses the answers to key questions that went unasked by the Commission and its staff.

The points made by these critics are being dismissed in some quarters as the minor flaws to be expected in an investigation of this scope.

To reach your own decision about this, let us suggest you read first the Warren Commission Report. Few of us have time to read the mammoth record in full, but keep in mind the report represents a summarization and conclusions only. Then, perhaps, take up Rep. Gerald Ford's (a Commission member) book "Portrait of the Assassin," a defense of the report against earlier criticism. Finally, the Lane and Sauvage books, and perhaps Edward Jay Epstein's "Inquest" and Fred J. Cook's The Nation magazine series as well, should be read. If time limits you to one critique, select Lane's.

By then, we think you'll share the feeling that the still existing uncertainties are intolerable, and that the ghost of Lee Harvey Oswald stands "convicted" of one of the most dastardly crimes in American history upon evidence that was, at best, inadequately assessed.

"NATURE'S Medicines" by Richard Lucas is a disappointment in that it fails to fulfill the promise of its jacket that it will provide its readers with "a fascinating account of the herbal medicines used by mankind through the ages."

Nor does it live up to the subtitle: "The Folklore, Romance and Value of Herbal Remedies."

Lucas has put together a loose and spotty hodgepodge of data about botanical remedies, past and present, proven and otherwise. Nor does he stick to the subject matter of herbology. Instead, he strays frequently into the field of health foods and other related subjects.

His evaluations of the true worth of the various remedies discussed are not always clear, and he often leaves his readers wondering just what is fact and what is folklore.

It is, however, not a dull book. Despite Lucas' mishandling, the subject matter in itself is interesting — and sometimes downright fascinating. And his basic premise is a sound one—that medicine is learning that there is a very sound role for botanicals in its particular science, and that man-created biologicals cannot be relied upon to do the complete job. Thus, the worldwide search for and laboratory work with promising plants that we have witnessed in recent years. And the increasing attention paid to the old-time cures of the medicine men of many cultures and eras.

In his foreword to the book, Dr. Harry Benjamin says the book has great value for physicians as a supplementary pharmacological reference, and predicts that "Nature's Medicines" will also become something of a favorite among medical students. These developments we would regard as dubious, for the book would hardly seem to be of sufficient weight to serve those purposes.

Lightweight, disorganized and superficial as it seems to be, the book nevertheless makes satisfactory reading for the non-professional. He can then go on to heavier tomes if his interest is whetted sufficiently.

Dixie Dishes—From Grits To Southern Fried Chicken

TREASURED SOUTHERN FAMILY RECIPES by Gedding de M. Cushman and Ora Lou O'Hara Cushman, Hastings House, 320 pages, $6.75. Reviewed by Maxine Keown.

Southern United States has long enjoyed a special reputation for a distinctive cuisine that is regarded by many as the best regional cooking in America.

Geddings Cushman, a Carolina food technologist, and his wife, members of old Southern families, have dug into the past for the favorite dishes of their own food-conscious ancestors, and have supplemented those treasures through extensive traveling and research in other sections of Dixie.

The result is this very tempting collection of 475 recipes, along with 80 suggested menus.

Recipe titles such as Southern Fried Chicken, Pan-Fried Hominy Grits, Aunt Ethel's Golden Corn Sticks, Southern Style Ham With Pan Gravy, Catfish Stew, Grandma's Molasses Cookies, Carolina Fried Squash, Big Daddy's Round Steak and Onion Gravy, Heavenly Pecan Pie, Southern Seasoned Field Peas with Snaps and Top of Stove Glazed Yams represent the kind of dishes one would expect.

There are also more surprising inclusions such as West Indies Crab Meat, Bob's Italian Spaghetti With Meat Balls, Louis' Chicken Souffle and Round Steak in Sour Cream.

The dishes, generally, are uncomplicated. They are hearty, and, for westerners, will provide a welcome change in fare. It is certain to be one of the more frequently used cookbooks on the kitchen shelf.

THE EVIL THAT MEN DO by Hugh Pentecost, Dodd, Mead, 218 pages, $3.50. Reviewed by Gary Tischler.

Apparently the well-established mystery writer who turns out well-polished, well-plotted books with regularity has not yet swallowed the present rage of the super-hero.

Hugh Pentecost's hero in this well-paced who-dun-it revolving around some of the less savory members of the jet set is the manager of a plush hotel. And in some ways he is infinitely more formidable than any secret agent and twice as smart.

Pentecost believes in that old-fashioned but still enjoyable question,—just who did it? It becomes a good question indeed as a sort of sinister "rat pack," a once super Hollywood star, a wealthy but unwise girl with too much money and a host of policemen converge on the hotel. Bodies immediately fall all over the place but somehow Pentecost does more than just solve a mystery.

He manages to poke a realistic finger at the evil that men (and women) with too much money and too much leisure can do—for the fun of it.

"Why Did My Husband's Trousers Change Color in Spots?"

There have been many complaints about this problem recently. Actually, it isn't a color change. It is caused by wear. This wear occurs in garments containing cellulose and synthetic fibers, usually in those containing dacron and cotton or rayon.

The wear occurs mostly in areas below pockets, at the knees and seat. Articles carried in pockets increase the wear at that point.

Frequently this wear appears to be a color change. What happens is that the manufacturer obtains a shade by combining two primary colors. He achieves a shade of gray by using black dacron and white rayon. When the weaker white rayon is worn by abrasion, the black dacron remains, appearing to be a color change. Green is made by yellow dacron and blue rayon. Wear causes the blue to disappear revealing a yellow area which appears to be a stain. It isn't. It is caused by abrasion. That is why your husband's trousers appeared to have changed color.

The Magnificent New Novel Of Malamud

Czarist Russia Is Setting Of Writer's New Triumph

THE FIXER by Bernard Malamud, Farrar, Straus and Giroux, 335 pages, $5.75. Reviewed by Laurel Shapiro.

Bernard Malamud has turned his great talent from Jewish life in contemporary America to the black times of Czarist Russia.

With consummate skill he tells the story of a handyman thrust into the role of hero, a martyr who had no cause, but whose stubborn refusal to yield up his life celebrates the greatest cause of all.

The "fixer" of the title, one Yakov Bok, from a poor Jewish village beyond the Pale, has dared to dream his luck, consistently wretched, may change if he tries city life. His luck changes indeed, and from his accustomed state of misery and hunger he is plunged into a bloody nightmare of disaster.

For Yakov, who takes the view that God must be written off as a dead loss, is arrested for what is purported to be a Jewish religious crime, the "ritual" murder of a Christian child. (Malamud is said to have based the story on a real arrest during Nicholas' reign.)

The horror deepens as Yakov perceives his confession is needed by the state to justify pogroms. Hope flickers for a moment when the investigating magistrate refuses to go along with the trumped-up "evidence," but only to be traumatically quenched when the fixer finds the body of this one humane official swinging from a rope in the next cell. All the tyranny of the state grinds down against Yakov who admits freely his lack of bravery and allows himself no illusions.

One expects a Malamud work to be of the highest order, but in this engrossing story he has surpassed himself. It is far more than a man's fight for justive against great odds. It encompasses the psychology of persecution, the philosophy of Jewish belief, life in Old Russia rises like steam from the pages, and on yet another level we are faced with the relation of life and death.

But first and last we are involved with Yakov, whose sour humor never leaves him, nor his contempt for God, but who grows to accept the right of every man, including a despised little fixer, for freedom.

No reader of modern novels can escape the "black comedy" so prevalent these days and the vast distance between such trifles and "The Fixer" is worth noting, for here also humor and unbelievable brutality are mingled. But here also is the living grace of warmth, the immediacy of contact between real people, the salty rightness of their speech.

Malamud has enriched our literature by creating Yakov, and, one suspects, he will live on forever.

The Span: Galileo To Ranger IX

PLANETS by Carl Sagan, Jonathan Norton Leonard and the editors of Time-Life Books, Time Inc., 200 pages, $3.95. Reviewed by Robert Cadwallader.

How did life begin on Earth? Is there life on other worlds? How do scientists determine the composition of distant bodies?

The evidence the authors have compiled here in answer to these questions ranges from the generally accepted to the highly controversial.

Each chapter in this Life Science Library volume is accompanied by a picture essay, photographs, drawings and paintings, designed to be read independently or with the text.

Topics span Galileo's first telescope to Ranger IX, making an attractive medium for bringing the layman abreast of the times.

Classic By James Agee Offered In Paperback

LET US NOW PRAISE FAMOUS MEN by James Agee and Walker Evans, Ballantine Books, 405 pages, paperback, $1.25. Reviewed by Laurel Shapiro.

Now re-issued in paperback, with 62 pages of Walker Evans' stunning photographs, Agee's study of tenant farmers in the Deep South during the depression is an overwhelming work of art.

Widely called a masterpiece and an American classic, this unique "documentary" has a fascinating history. In 1936 Agee and Evans were assigned by Fortune Magazine to make a study of sharecroppers, and spent about six weeks living with three tenant families in Alabama.

The work they produced, in effect an anguished poem of protest and brotherly love, was a far cry from the journalism their editors evidently expected. At any rate, Fortune rejected the material and it was first published as a book in 1941, but almost completely ignored until a new edition came out in 1960.

Agee presents, with infinite love and respect, these damaged people in full, poignant dimension. The reader is immersed in the utter hopelessness and corroding drudgery of their meager lives. Each doomed member of the three families stands out with unforgettable clarity.

His artistry in selecting the details of their daily lives for us to see is breathtaking, and it seems altogether natural that he breaks into poetry at intervals. In fact, a rush of poetic imagery runs through the whole book, climaxed by Evans' eloquent photographs.

There are faults, certainly. It is loosely structured, unrestrained, and often veering off into extraneous areas, and suffers from repetitious introductions to the material and convoluted monologues. But there is no doubt that this is one of the important works of our age.

A Volatile Period For Mankind

THE REFORMATION by Edith Simon and the editors of Time-Life Books, Time Inc., 180 pages, $3.95. Reviewed by Richard Lyttle.

One of the most volatile periods in the history of the western world began with the start of the 16th Century. It brought a change in art, philosophy and religion that has guided the course of history ever since.

This book, one of the Time-Life Historical Series, shows clearly that the Reformation was not just a revolt in the Christian church.

Artists left the classical ideal and began painting man as he was with all his wrinkles and warts. In religion and philosophy, the relationship of the individual to God and the individual to life was introduced as a revolutionary point of view.

The state of the Catholic Church did much to prompt the revolt of Luther, Calvin, Knox and others, but there were other broad causes for the Reformation.

The Time-Life format makes this easy reading and the selection of art is outstanding.

One series of diagrams on the method of making type and printing is an excellent adjunct to the text.

The material was carried partially as a series in Life several months back. Readers will get an occasional reminder of this when they come across some repetition of earlier material.

"THE MONEY LENDER and His Wife" is a 1514 oil painting by Quentin Massys that symbolizes the secularization that was taking place at the time of the Reformation. The photo is from the Time-Life book, "The Reformation," by Edith Simon.

Two thumbnail sketches of Albrecht Durer are supplied, for instance, but this is only a small fault.

sweetly called love
is lost in the sounds of fury!

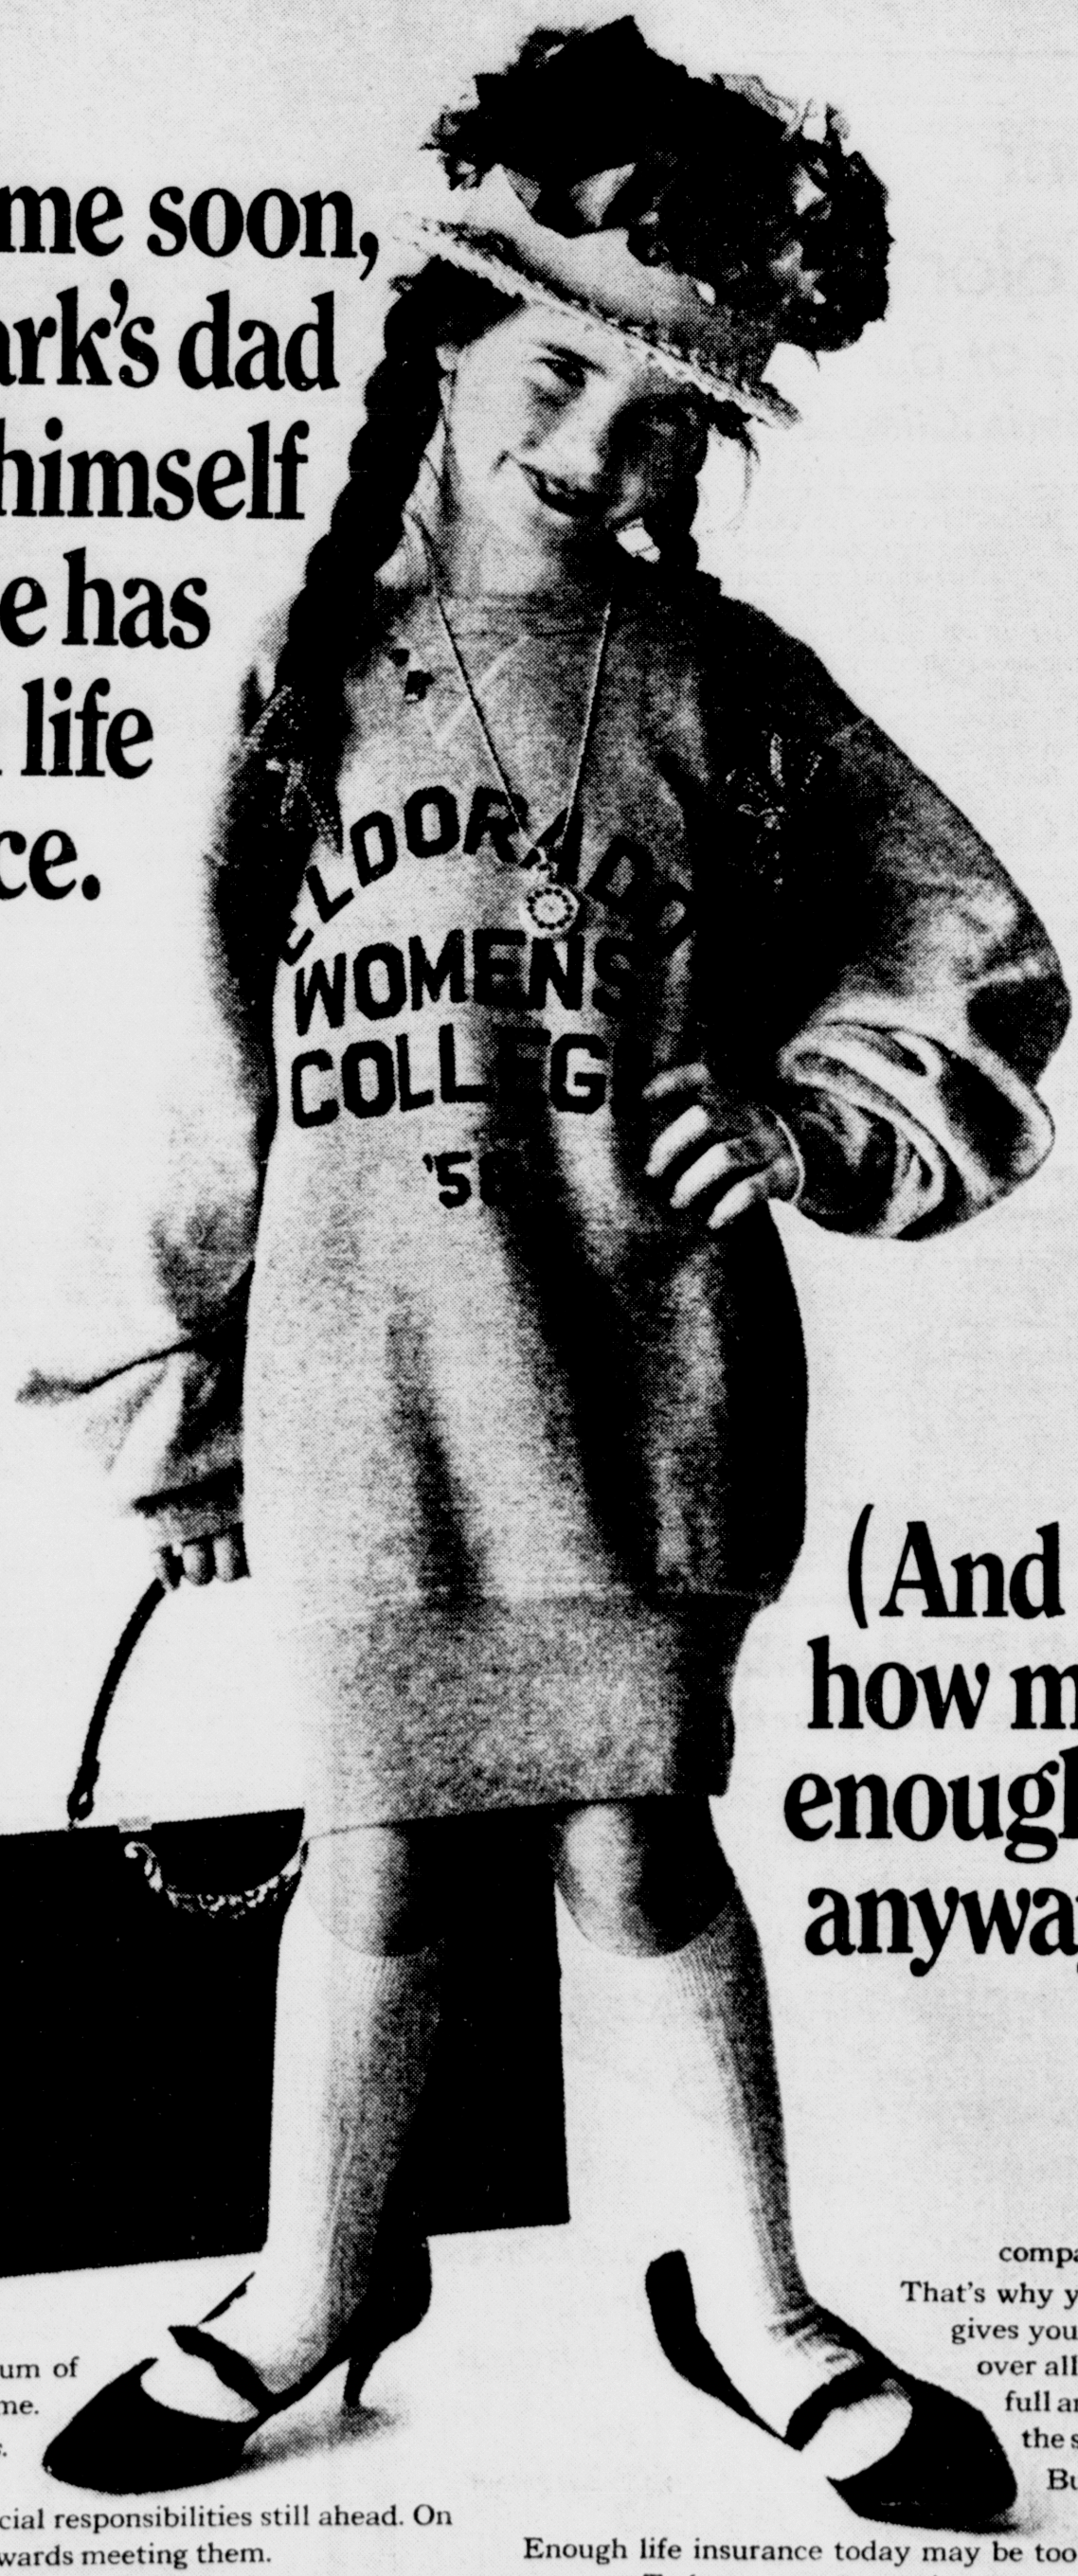
Sometime soon, Liz Park's dad will ask himself if he has enough life insurance.



(And how much is enough, anyway?)

Familiar question? It is if you have someone like Liz counting on you.

A quick answer is a minimum of four to five times annual income.

A better one is it all depends. On the size of the family, as well as income. On the financial responsibilities still ahead. On how far other assets will go towards meeting them.

Chances are you've already decided that your other resources can't do the job alone. Especially if you have a family to support. Kids to put through college. A mortgage to pay off. Retirement ideas that call for more income than social security or your company pension will provide.

That's why you own life insurance. It gives you an important advantage over all other types of thrift: the full amount is guaranteed from the start. It's unique that way.

But remember that family circumstances change. Enough life insurance today may be too much—or too little—tomorrow. To keep your protection up-to-date, review your policies regularly with your life insurance agent. He's trained to help you.

Plan And Plant For Winter Color

Take Full Advantage Of Our Marvelously Mild Marin Climate

An early English gardener, after visiting California, described it as "that wonderful land of flowers."

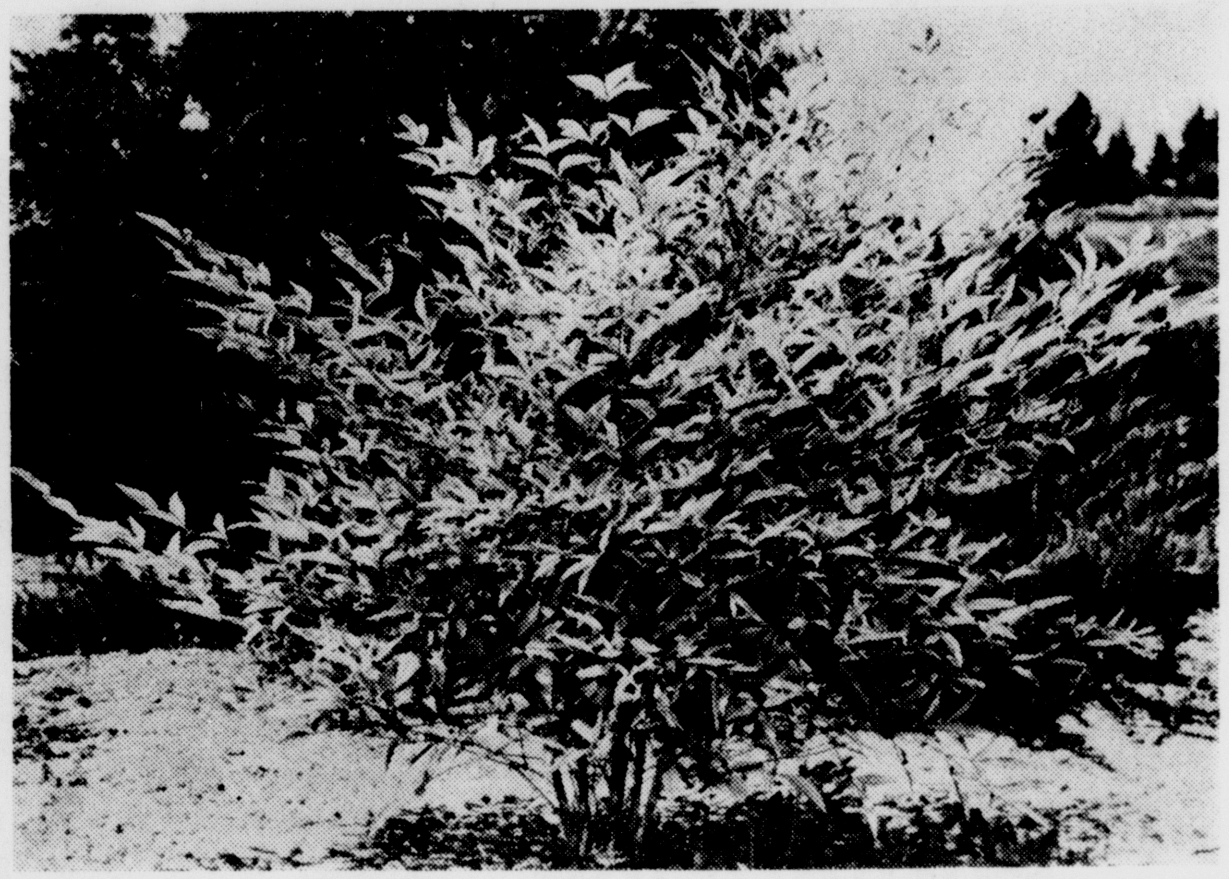
And nothing seems to have impressed him more than our winter-bearing annuals. The sight of so much garden color on a year round basis was phenomenal.

Our gardens are still a thrilling sight to winter tourists. They come, see and are conquered by the beauty which so many of us take for granted. Yet, what they see is a drop in the bucket compared to what it could be, for all too many gardeners fail to plan and plant ahead for a more colorful winter.

THE THING to remember about winter color from annuals is simply this: If you don't plant it early, you won't have it to enjoy. By early, we mean now, or before the end of September at the latest. Annual plants need an early start to reach bud stage before the night temperatures drop so low as to stop plant growth until the following spring.

If you check in at a nursery this week you'll find an assortment of bedding plants that will give you winter bloom — stock, snapdragons, pansies, violas, calendulas, Iceland poppies and alyssum. You need only transplant them to your garden to enjoy their mid-winter color show.

There are certain things to remember about growing winter annuals, however.



HEAVENLY BAMBOO, or Nandina as it is more properly called, is one of the best all-around performers at your nursery. The feathery foliage resembles bamboo, but the similarity ends there. In fall, the foliage turns to shades of red and bronze, and a crop of bright red berries lends its own touch of autumn color. (Photo courtesy of California Assn. of Nurserymen)

MOST OF them like to catch what sun there is in winter and none of them is a bog plant. Many gardeners, growing winter annuals for the first time, will plant in a bed that seems sunny enough in August, only to find it full of shade in winter. And while some annuals bloom well in shade during summer, winter shade is something else again.

The second mistake which many gardeners make is not to provide sufficient drainage for winter bedding plants.

If winter rains are permitted to puddle around your annual plants they will sulk and even succumb. So be sure to avoid this possibility by improving drainage where it is known to be bad — or by planting elsewhere.

THERE IS one easy way to improve drainage. Rather than worry about the subsoil, simply build a framework of redwood header boards around your planting bed and add more soil. This has the twin advantage of raising the bed slightly to solve a drainage problem and of showing plants off to greater advantage.

There are other tips which will add to your success with winter annuals.

For one, plant them a bit farther part than you would summer annuals. This permits ample circulation of air and penetration by the winter sunlight to all parts of the plants. For another, get yourself a hand cultivator and work around the plants occasionally, especially after rains to break up any tendency toward surface compaction.

FINALLY, bait for slugs and snails more frequently than you do in summer. Not only are they more active during cool, moist weather, but the rains will wash out the baits and reduce their effectiveness.

The above should indicate that winter annuals require much the same care as summer annuals — only a little more of it. This is a small fee to pay for the joys of winter color, however, and a good excuse, also, to venture into the garden on one of those bright, sunny days which make California famous.

A CHECKLIST FOR GARDENERS OF MARIN

Here is the Marin gardener's checklist for the coming week:

- Remove faded blooms from roses and other blooming plants. This will encourage more blossoms.
- Remove side buds from dahlias if you would have show-quality blooms.
- Daffodils often bloom better if they are lifted from the soil and given a month or two of rest in a cool garage. Divide them only if they are literally falling apart in your hands.
- Remove the canes of blackberries and raspberries that bore fruit this year, then tie the newly-grown canes to the trellis for next year's harvest.
- The prize chrysanthemums come from plants that have been regularly fed and watered. Feeding should continue until the buds show color.

How Well Will Framing Lumber Of Your New Home Grip Nails?

A simple nail may hold the key to whether your investment in a home was worthwhile or not.

Why? Because nearly all U.S. homes are supported and held together by wood frameworks, regardless of the composition of surfacing materials.

So, says the Southern pine Assn., the strength and cohesiveness of the home must rely on the nail holding power of the framing lumber.

The same principle, of course, applies to garages, sheds, fences or other structural projects.

THE ASSOCIATION, which has studied the effects of every major hurricane to strike the U.S. mainland in the last 40 years, says it came up with one fundamental finding:

The adequacy of nailing and the nail holding power of structural materials were the major factors in resistance to hurricane force winds.

But if hurricanes test the safety of a home, there still is the question of steadfastness under normal conditions. Thus, overall snugness, essential to the durability of surfacing materials and low cost cooling and heating, are assured if framing lumber maintains a firm grip of nails and other fastenings.

THE TIME TO think about these things, says the association, is in the planning stages of the home.

"First," says the association, "make sure that your home will be framed by lumber with good natural nail holding ability. Some species of wood are better endowed by nature in this respect than others. Such differentials should be carefully considered when preparing lumber specifications."

Specify lumber that's properly seasoned and pre-shrunk before being surfaced to final size, the association advises.

"ALL FRESHLY cut lumber is literally saturated with water inherited from the parent tree," it says. "As this moisture evaporates, wood cells contract and the lumber shrinks. Such loss of size is inevitable — regardless of species.

"It's important that it occurs at the mill—not after lumber has been placed in the framework of your home."

Bookcase That You Can Build

Every modern home owner knows extra space for books, records, papers, etc. is necessary.

Some very attractive bookcases can be built along one wall, around a corner, counter height or floor to ceiling. They are ideal for a living room, den, playroom, children's room—almost anywhere extra storage space comes in handy. Bookcases can be built any length desired at a fraction of cost compared to ready-made prices.

The pattern now available provides a cutting chart which shows how to lay out parts to obtain maximum use of material. Professional results are assured since step-by-step directions explain where each piece is fastened into position. By cutting each to size specified, then joining parts where and when indicated.

While the illustration shows sectional cases used for books, the same directions can be followed to build shelves wide enough for hi-fi, record storage, radio, television, etc. Apartment dwellers and home owners alike find the pattern method of construction an economical way to solve many home furnishing problems.

With a little imagination, bookcases can be decorated to complement, enhance or brighten the decorating scheme of any room in the house.

Send 75 cents in coin, check or money order for pattern No. 42, to Independent-Journal, P. O. Box 215, Briarcliff Manor, N.Y. 10510.

Spotlight Your Pictures With A Frame Of Paint

By JOE JONES

Pictures are an important accessory to any room.

You own them, and you are proud of them.

So, after you have painted a room, decide where the pictures will go. Then paint a rectangle of color, contrasting with the wall (or make it white if you like), where the picture will hang.

Use masking tape for a neat job. Let the rectangle extend six or eight inches beyond the edges of the frame (depending on the size of the frame), and you will find that you've almost reframed your pictures.

Each one becomes a focal center of interest and color.
